PREDICT PEACE SOON IN SPAIN AS BRITAIN ACTS

Envoy Takes London Offer to Franco.

PERPIGNAN, France [near the Spanish frontier], Feb. 10.—(AP)—Neutral observers tonight predicted peace in Spain within a few days.

Despite firm government declarations of continued resistance and denials of any peace negotiations, the date of Feb. 18 was suggested for the surrender of central Spain. The civil war then will be just thirty-one months old.

Gen. Francisco Franco's rebel forces today planted their banners at Puigcerda, the last frontier post abandoned by fleeing government troops in northeast Spain. Except for a few pockets, mostly in mountainous country where the government's defeated Catalonian army still was in Spanish territory, Franco's armies had achieved the goal of the great Catalonian offensive.

Before the entry to Puigcerda the insurgents had advanced their conquest to the Mediterranean at Portbou, easternmost point of the French-Spanish border. Many of its buildings had been blown up or burned by retreating loyalist forces.

Britain Sends Proposals.

LONDON, Feb. 10. — (AP) — Great Britain dispatched proposals to rebel Spain today in the hope of bringing a speedy end to the civil war with the best possible terms for the remaining government defenders—and for the London-Paris "axis."

Sir Robert Hodgson, British agent to Burgos, the insurgent capital, left London to return to his post. He is expected there Sunday. Unofficial reports said Sir Robert would assure Gen. Francisco Franco of British-French help in ending the war, and of loans to rehabilitate Spain in return for assurances that Italian and German troops would be sent home and that government defenders would receive humane treatment.

Britain already felt she had stolen the march on the Fascist powers by carrying a rebel negotiator to Minorca, Spanish Balearic island, on the cruiser Devonshire and paving the way for the island's surrender yesterday to Franco. The Devonshire, which took off 450 government leaders and others fearful of their lives, reached Marseilles, France, today. Minorca now is wholly occupied by the rebels.

VALENCIA, Spain, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Premier Juan Negrin returned today to what is left of government Spain and announced tonight that the new Spanish government headquarters would be in Madrid.

The premier came back to the shrunken government territory after having fled into France from Catalonia, former loyalist holding in northeast Spain, which now has been conquered completely by the rebels. He announced the new headquarters after a war council with his commander in chief, Gen. José Miaja, the "savior of Madrid."

Both Negrin and Miaja said they intended to "fight to the end" from central Spain, which includes the cities of Madrid, Valencia, and Alicante.

Gen. Miaja, appointed only last night to command of all five government armies in central Spain, termed "absurd" reports that his general staf was negotiating for peace.

Fly from France.

Negrin and Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo reached Alicante this afternoon by plane from Toulouse, France, whence they had fled with thousands of their bedraggled troops and civilians before the rebel advance in northern Catalonia.

Rebel bombers raided Alicante as Negrin and Alvarez del Vayo conferred there with Civil Governor Ricardo Mella before proceeding by automobile to Valencia. There were no casualties, but heavy property damage. It was the third raid in 24 hours, 17 persons having been killed and 35 wounded in the preceding attacks.

Plans Defense Survey.

Several persons were injured also in a rebel air raid on Cartagena, and two British ships were struck by bombs at Valencia.

Premier Negrin said he planned a hasty survey of the central zone's defenses, troops, and war supplies. The government now has half a million soldiers defending largely agricultural territory since its big munitions and industrial works in Catalonia were lost.

HOUSE MEMBERS LABEL PENSION RESERVE A FAKE

Warn of Revolt on Security Levies.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Two Republican members of the house ways and means committee leveled charges of "embezzlement" and "steal" at the government today because of the way social security funds are handled.

Representatives Knutson [upper] and Gearhart.

Representatives Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] and Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.] interrupted testimony on social security act amendments to protest against the use of social security funds to buy government securities.

"Taking this social security money is a downright steal," Gearhart remarked.

Raises Parallel Question.

"What would happen to an insurance company that would take the money of its policyholders and then spend it to pay its own debts?" Knutson asked.

"Somebody would go to jail," replied Representative Alfred J. Elliott [D., Cal.].

"Both the government and the insurance company would be guilty of embezzlement," Knutson declared.

The attack was directed against the government policy of spending surplus pay roll taxes for general expenses and putting the amount thus borrowed into government bonds as a reserve for paying future old age retirement pensions.

This reserve would ultimately amount to 47 billion dollars. Knutson compared this to an insurance company using its policy premiums for operating expenses, putting its own I. O. U.'s in its portfolio and calling them a reserve.

Calls Act Legalized Theft.

"We have enacted a statute which in effect has legalized an embezzlement, a misappropriation, a theft, a swindle, a downright misapplication of the people's money," Gearhart interjected.

Elliott, a Townsend plan advocate, started the furore when he told the committee the people of the country demanded that congress approve an old age pension, but not with a pay roll tax "that is now being defied."

"I refer to the social security tax strike now existing in California," Elliott said. "The attention of employers and workers the nation over is focused on Fresno, Cal., where hundreds of San Joaquin valley business men have pledged themselves to go to jail rather than contribute any more social security pay roll taxes."

California Move Grows.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A new step in the revolt of a Fresno business group against federal pay roll taxes and the outburst of a farm leader against relief costs today marked apparently growing dissatisfaction in California over its social security situation.

The Fresno group, under the leadership of John A. Martin, Fresno contractor, met tonight to demand the immediate deportation of Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. leader.

Martin, a building contractor employing ten persons, and nine other "little business men" organized the Citizens league two weeks ago to resist payment of 100 per cent penalties which they said had been levied by the government against California employers delinquent on pay roll taxes.

Advocate Program's Repeal.

Martin's organization committed itself to repeal of the entire social security program and notified Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. it would resist payment of the penalties on constitutional grounds.

The farm leader who attacked relief costs today is Ralph H. Taylor, executive secretary of the California Agricultural council. He demanded in a public statement that the state's relief rolls, which he said numbered 280,000 persons, be purged at once of "the lazy and indolent, who have the fallacious idea that the government owes them a living."

Parking Space Killer Guilty; Gets 20 Years

Rubin Jersky, who shot and killed Donald Warden of 1143 South Central Park avenue during a quarrel over auto parking, was found guilty of murder last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge William J. Lindsay. His punishment was fixed at twenty years in prison.

Jersky, who is 25 years old, took the verdict calmly, but his wife and mother wept loudly. The widow of the victim, who had been present through the trial, hurried out without making any comment.

Jurors Silent on Verdict.

The jurors declined to discuss their deliberations, which lasted for three and a half hours. It was reported, however, that they had agreed on the defendant's guilt at once, and had differed only on the penalty. The state had demanded that Jersky be sentenced to death.

The slaying took place on Nov. 3. Warden protested when Wallace Perper, 4933½ Quincy street, parked his car with one wheel on the Warden lawn. Jersky and his brother, Irving, friends of Perper and neighbors of Warden, became involved when Warden asked that the car be moved.

Taking the stand yesterday, Jersky testified that the shooting was an accident.

Tells Story of Shooting.

He said that he had gone to the assistance of Irving and Perper when Warden started to beat them.

"Warden hit me twice and knocked me against the side of a building," he said. "I ran across the street to my car and got my pistol, which I had there because I was carrying a lot of money to buy a truck.

"I ran up the steps to Warden's house and he grabbed the gun and it went off."

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Donigan questioned Jersky.

Denies He Fired Shot.

Q.—Did you fire the shot? A.—I did not fire it.

Q.—Your finger was on the trigger? A.—Yes, but if Warden wanted to pull the gun, that was his business. It wasn't my fault.

Prosecutor Donigan declared the defense was "trumped up." "This is a case of cold blooded murder," he asserted, "and there was no reason, no excuse for it."

Witnesses for the state had testified that Jersky, after getting his pistol, dared Warden to come down the stairs and fight.

DOCTOR IRKED BY WPA NOISE; CUTS IT OUT WITH AX; ARRESTED

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Dr. Logan Clendening, nationally known physician and author of a one time best seller, "The Human Body," was arrested today on charges of destroying federal property and disturbing the peace.

He wielded an ax on air compressing machinery being used on a WPA sewer project a half block from his home. The doctor said the noise of the machine and accompanying drills had interfered with his efforts to work.

"I knew of no way to cope with this problem subjectively," Dr. Clendening said. "It appeared the only remedy was to take direct action. This rat-a-tat-tat day after day, week after week must stop. And I am going to stop it."

The doctor wielded the ax as he spoke. He was locked up for four hours and freed on $1,000 bond.

PAPA CAN RELAX! 2D TWIN ARRIVES JUST 5 DAYS LATE

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The McDonnell baby twins have arrived—the first one last Sunday morning—the other today.

A five pound son was born this morning at a hospital to Mrs. Milo C. McDonnell, joining his four pound brother whose premature arrival 120 hours previously will mean a five day span in their birthdays.

The excited papa, a bookkeeper, mopped his brow—despite the zero temperature outside—sighed "whew," and sank into a chair with all records shattered for a father pacing the local maternity ward. The babies, named James Charles and John Anthony, are the first born of the mother, 32 years old.

CITIZENSHIP DAY RALLY PLANNED FOR NEW VOTERS

Waukesha, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Plans for a country-wide citizenship day in June for approximately 1,000 new voters were announced here today. N. J. Panella is chairman of a committee sponsoring the event. Panella said the celebration would be held on a Sunday so that it will not interfere with work in factories or on farms. The committee includes Mayor Henry Snyder and J. E. Lewis, county board chairman.

Boy Gun Toter Gives Seventh Grade a Scare

When John Gospodarek, 12 years old, left his home at 535 West 123d street yesterday, he carried a loaded .38 caliber pistol. The weapon had been borrowed from his uncle, Joseph Samion, while Joseph wasn't looking.

John Gospodarek.

John went to the Assumption parochial school at 123d street and Parnell avenue, where he is a seventh grade pupil. He laid the pistol among the books in his desk. Then, through a dull period, he amused himself by playing with it.

All might have turned out well if John hadn't been asked unexpectedly to recite. He wasn't well prepared. His mind was more on firearms than on geography and history.

His Secret Is Out.

As he rose from his seat he had a book in his right hand and the pistol in his left. Suddenly he realized that it would alarm his teacher if she saw the weapon. He strove manfully to get rid of it. But as he reached over toward his desk drawer the gun struck the iron side of the desk.

Simultaneously it was discharged and dropped to the floor. A bullet struck the boy in the left leg, fracturing a bone in his ankle.

He'll Give Up Gun Toting.

Teachers summoned help and John was hurried to the Roseland Community hospital. There it was said his condition was not serious.

"I'll never carry a gun again," John promised. "I have learned a lesson. But I bet those other kids were scared when the shooting started."

The forty other seventh graders were united in saying they had never heard anything so terrifying before in Assumption school.

Squirrel Doesn't Catch On, So Firemen Chop Into Wall

Kankakee, Ill., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Firemen chopped a hole in the kitchen wall of the Dr. W. J. Mathieu home to rescue a pet squirrel. The squirrel had slipped down an unused vent pipe while playing on the roof. Firemen first dropped a rope down the pipe, but the squirrel didn't catch on.

A Doctor Finds Trafic Heavy on Way Home

Dr. Roy W. Chilcote started to drive home last evening from his office at 1118 Lake street, Oak Park. But he didn't reach his destination. Things kept getting in his way.

The first obstacle was the automobile of Mrs. C. W. Payne, 6544 North Chicora avenue, which was parked on Lake street. Dr. Chilcote drove into it with a loud bang.

Backs Away, and Goes On.

But as Dr. Chilcote is a methodical man, he backed his own car away and continued determinedly on. The next obstacle—and crash—wrought havoc to G. W. Frank's car, parked near his home at 326 Lake street, in the suburb.

Again the traveler backed up and pursued his homeward course. Crash! His car hit the automobile of H. F. Russell, 921 Wisconsin avenue. It too was parked on Lake street.

The Chilcote machine was beginning to creak protestingly now, and to wobble a little. But that didn't prevent its driver from neatly ramming the sedan of John E. Schank, 1030 Ashland avenue, River Forest.

Own Car Drowns Out Pursuit.

The protesting squeaks of his own car were louder now. That's probably why Dr. Chilcote didn't hear the chorus of wailing sirens that was rising behind him. The rear view mirror had been jarred cockeyed, so Dr. Chilcote could not see the groups of angry citizens who gathered in his wake on Lake street. He went methodically on.

The next three crashes brought pangs to the hearts of Mrs. John Lenz, 1135 North Harvey avenue, Oak Park; L. W. Funtoon, 530 Addison street, and W. J. Reese, 324 Linden street, Oak Park.

Finally, Dr. Chilcote became aware that the entire neighborhood was filling with squad cars. The sirens were ear splitting now. Blueclad figures were gesticulating at him. He stepped on the gas and before the police could force him to the curb, Dr. Chilcote neatly sideswiped five more cars.

Admits "Things Get in Way."

When the police looked into the car at him he smiled. Then he said: "Things get in my way."

Dr. Chilcote, they say, went to sleep. He didn't even know it when they carried him into the Oak Park police station. When he awakens this morning there may be seven complaints of driving while intoxicated on file against him. One had been filed last night and six other car owners said they intended to prosecute.

"He must have been blind," remarked the sergeant as he wrote up the charges. "And yet, that's strange; his cards say he is an optometrist!"

Stork, Marooned in Snow, Delivers a Baby by Phone

Watertown, S. D., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Dr. R. M. Kilgard of Watertown became caught in a snowdrift while attempting to reach the home of Leif Nelson at Florence, where a baby was expected. The doctor returned to town and reached the Nelson home by telephone. Then, with Mrs. Lyle Thorson, graduate nurse, carrying out his instructions, the baby was born shortly afterward.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE AT BIER OF POPE TODAY

Body to Lie in State in St. Peter's.

Turn to the back page for radiophotos from Rome on the death of Pope Pius; also pictures of Vatican scenes.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The body of Pope Pius XI., dressed in papal vestments of white and red, lay in state tonight under the famous frescoes of Michelangelo in the Sistine chapel.

His body was taken this afternoon from the brass bed where he died just before daybreak and was borne to the chapel on the shoulders of stalwart guards in a stately and colorful procession of lay and ecclesiastical dignitaries.

Tomorrow morning it will be taken in an even more elaborate procession to St. Peter's cathedral, where the public may pay homage to "the pope of peace" before burial next Wednesday. Thousands of persons are expected to file past the bier.

Date of Election Undecided.

The pontiff's death at the age of 81 thrust upon the shoulders of Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli the temporary administration of the church of Rome. Cardinal Pacelli ceased to be papal secretary of state and became camerlengo—chamberlain of the Holy Roman church—in which position he will guide the government until the 262d occupant of the throne of St. Peter shall have been selected.

The successor to Pius XI. will be chosen by the college of cardinals, now numbering sixty-two members, in a secret conclave whose opening date still was indefinite tonight. It will be no sooner than Feb. 25 and no later than Feb. 28, depending on when American and other foreign cardinals reach Rome.

[A Rome dispatch from another source said Cardinal Pacelli, using his discretionary powers as temporary head of the church, had decided the conclave for election of a new pope will begin sitting on March 1.]

The maximum of eighteen days after the death of a pope for convening the cardinals was ordered by Pius in 1922 after the dean of the American cardinals, William O'Connell of Boston, protested following upon the death of Pope Benedict XV. against the ten day interval then in effect.

Expect Italian to Be Named.

There are 35 Italians among the 62 cardinals and it was expected an Italian would be elected to succeed Pius.

Meeting in the Sistine chapel and taking only two votes a day, the cardinals will ballot until some one—traditionally one of the cardinals—receives a two-thirds majority.

Speculation on which cardinal most likely would receive the required votes from his co-princes of the church centered upon Alfred Ildefonso Schuster, archbishop of Milan, and Adeodato Giovanni Piazza, patriarch of Venice. But the possibility of a surprise election was not excluded. Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago was considered by some to be a possible choice.

[Cardinal Mundelein and Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia will sail from New York for Italy today (Saturday) aboard the liner Rex. Cardinal O'Connell, the third cardinal in the United States, sailed for New York last night from Nassau, in the Bahamas. He plans to board the Saturnia in New York. The Saturnia will sail for Rome Wednesday.]

Fisherman's Ring Ceremony.

Soon after his election the new pope will be handed the fisherman's ring, symbol of papal authority. This ring is a gold band with an engraving of St. Peter fishing from a boat. Records show it was used as a seal as far back as the thirteenth century.

The ring which Pope Pius wore was taken from his hand this morning and given to Cardinal Pacelli. The ring will be broken and the seal set in a new ring, which will be handed to the new pontiff by the camerlengo to show that the temporary sovereignty of the sacred college has ended.

Cardinal Pacelli's first act on assuming his duties as temporary administrator of the church was to go to the papal apartments on the third floor of the Vatican palace.

Escorted by Swiss guards and followed by the pontifical camera, or treasury body, he entered the room where the pope's body lay and officially identified it for notarial registration of the death.

Death Mask Made.

The body was washed in perfumed water and prepared for embalming. Arello Mistruzzi, sculptor, was summoned to make a mask of the pope before the body was embalmed.

Outside Vatican City Rome went into mourning as deep as that within the pontiff's temporal realm. Flags drooped at half staf throughout the city. King Victor Emmanuel ordered court mourning for eight days.

All public places of entertainment were closed; schools suspended classes for the day and will do so again on the day of the pope's burial.

Families prayed before portraits of the pontiff in their apartments.

Crowds gathered in the chill, damp haze in St. Peter's square. Within the great cathedral the red coverings which had been placed on pillars for next Sunday's intended celebration of the 17th anniversary of Pius' coronation were taken down and mourning draperies put up.

Mourners moved in a steady stream into the cathedral to kneel in prayer while low masses were said in various chapels.

The crowd in the square swelled to greater proportions as princes, diplomats, and other dignitaries arrived for the procession in which the pontiff's body was borne to the Sistine chapel.

Pope's Nephew in Procession.

The procession formed at 4 p. m. and it took 45 minutes to reach the chapel from the papal apartments.

The only member of the pope's family in the cortège of papal guards and lay and ecclesiastical dignitaries was his nephew, Count Franco Ratti.

Crown Prince Umberto represented the king, his father, while Premier Mussolini was represented by his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

In the Sistine chapel four large candlesticks with lighted candles were placed around the bier. Guards took their stations at each side and Monsignor De Romanis, the Pope's sacrisan, imparted a benediction.

Then came the cardinals, each sprinkling holy water on the body and then kneeling and praying before retiring.

Diplomats Are Admitted.

The diplomatic corps then was admitted. Each of the dignitaries allowed to pass the bier genuflected and moved on.

At 6 p. m. Msgr. Arborio Di Sant' Elia, master of the papal chamber, gave the signal and the hall was closed to further mourners. The noble guards began their guard of honor, eight at a time, which will last throughout the night.

At 9:30 a. m. tomorrow the body will be borne into St. Peter's to lie in state for veneration of the public.

The first of nine daily funeral services in St. Peter's for the late pontiff will begin Sunday. These services will end five days after his burial in the chapel of the popes in the crypt of the cathedral.

The heart of Pope Pius will be entombed with his body and not, like the hearts of many earlier pontiffs, have a separate resting place. The custom of removing the heart and other internal organs of popes on their death and placing them in an urn was discarded with the death of Leo XIII. in 1903.

Cardinal Pacelli in temporarily conducting Vatican affairs will be assisted by the college of cardinals. The cardinals will meet tomorrow in their first general congregation to dispose of Vatican business.

Forty Cardinals Present.

The cardinals now in Rome number about 40 of the 62 in the college. Vatican affairs will be supervised through a series of "congregazoni," or committees of four cardinals, three of whom will take turns according to seniority. Cardinal Pacelli as Camerlengo is the guiding member of each successive committee.

L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, said Pope Pius gave his health in a struggle for peace. It expressed hope that the sacrifice might be effective even after his death on the eve of the tenth anniversary of the reconciliation of the church and state in the Lateran accord.

Recalling that the pontiff had offered his life for peace, the newspaper said:

"Did the Lord, then, accept the sacrifice at the dawn of a great day of peace? In the tremendous anguish of this hour, among the dolorous trials of the church, in the midst of so much tumult of ideas and passions, in the face of threatening rumblings of sinister things, at the eve of an uncertain tomorrow, humankind must believe so in order to be faithful in its devotion to the mysterious designs of providence."

May Publish Final Message.

But what the pope himself intended to say to the Italian bishops he had called to Vatican City for the peace anniversary tomorrow may never be known.

The cardinals in their meeting tomorrow will decide whether to make public the manuscript for the anniversary address, preparation of which cost the pontiff so much exertion.

Donna Camilla Ratti, sister of the pope, who saw him in death this morning, was the most grief stricken of all who knew him. Led into the death chamber by a secretary, she fell to her knees, sobbing, praying, and kissing her brother's hands and feet until she was led away.

The pope is survived by few blood relatives. His sister is his closest relative. Seven years the pope's junior, she never married. She lived in a Rome convent and usually visited him at least once a week.

Also Close to His Niece.

Next in the pontiff's affections was his niece, the Marchesa Maria Luisa Persichetti-Ugolini, daughter of his late brother Fermo. Her husband represented the Dominican Republic as minister to the holy see. The marchesa's two little daughters, Maria Pia and Franca Maria, were among the pontiff's main joys in his declining years.

Next in order of affection came his nephew, Count Ratti, who also has two little daughters, but since he lived in Milan, contacts between his family and the pope were not so frequent.

Whether the pope left a will concerning personal and private property could not be ascertained at the vatican. Some sources said they understood he had disposed of all of his private possessions while still alive.

Smoke to Signal Balloting

(Story in adjoining column.)

When the cardinals meet in Vatican City to elect a new pope the populace watches the chimney above the Sistine chapel. Each set of ballots is burned with wet straw if a majority of two-thirds is not received. Black smoke then rises from the chimney. When a new pope has been elected the ballots are burned without straw and white smoke rises. At right is the stove in which the ballots are burned.

PONTIFF WILL BE LAID TO REST IN THREE COFFINS

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Vatican workmen today were ordered to make ready three coffins in which the body of Pope Pius will be buried in the grottoes of St. Peter's.

The inner one, in which the body will lie, is to be of cypress wood lined with red satin, having a cross of walnut on the cover.

It will be placed inside a second of lead, a quarter of an inch thick and weighing nearly 900 pounds. On its cover toward the head will be a cross in relief and it will have a skull and cross bones in the middle. At the bottom will be the family coat of arms of the pope. It will be soldered shut and Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli will assist in applying seals to it.

Both coffins will be placed inside the third, made of polished elm. Its cover also will be surmounted by a cross, skull and crossbones, and an inscription and coat of arms.

ONE CONVICTED, ANOTHER FREED ON DRUG CHARGE

Jake Klein, 3944 5th avenue, was found guilty of violating the federal narcotics law last night. The verdict was returned by a jury in the federal court of Judge Charles E. Woodward. Harry Lerner, 1214 North Clark street, was acquitted of the same charge.

Government agents testified that they bought a quantity of morphine from Klein last June 1. They termed Klein, who is 34 years old, one of the largest drug dealers in the middle west. Klein may be sentenced to a maximum of five years on one of the two counts on which he was found guilty and a maximum of ten years on the other.

U. S. CARDINALS TO MAKE HISTORY WHEN THEY VOTE

Balloting for New Pope May Begin Feb. 25.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—For the first time in history American cardinals as a delegation will help to elect a pope.

Vatican prelates said today that the election conclave would begin balloting on Feb. 25 if American cardinals arrive as scheduled. It had generally been expected that the conclave would begin Feb. 28. Another dispatch said the voting would start March 1.

If Cardinal William O'Connell of Boston had not been late by scarcely more than minutes after a dramatic dash across the ocean when Pope Pius XI. was elected in 1922, it is doubtful if papal election rules would have been changed to provide time for American cardinals to arrive for balloting.

When Cardinal O'Connell made his way to the Sistine chapel and found the college of cardinals offering formal allegiance to a new pontiff, the Boston prelate expressed directly to Pope Pius his regret that time had not permitted him to arrive early enough to vote. His holiness then pointed to the meaning of the new world lands to the Catholic church and promised an extension of the old ten-day limit between the death of a pope and the beginning of voting for his successor.

The time limit was extended to a minimum of fifteen days. This will permit three cardinals from the United States and two from South America to arrive here for the election. The Canadian cardinal is here on a visit.

American Votes Important.

Should the delegation of American cardinals voice common interests through their ballots they may prove a very important factor in the papal election, which might even bring about the election of a non-Italian or even an American pontiff.

It was a consistent delegation of five cardinals, and then six, who remained faithful to Cardinal Achilles Ratti through eight of fourteen ballots, that made him Pope Pius XI. On the ninth ballot Cardinal Ratti's vote was more than doubled, while that of Merry Del Val, secretary of state, faded out. Merry Del Val, a Spaniard, was favored to win by most observers before the voting began.

Smoke from the burning ballots of the cardinals is the simple, dramatic symbol of the progress of papal elections. Thousands gather in the plaza of St. Peter's cathedral to watch the smoke. It is darkened by adding damp hay to the paper when a ballot fails to elect, but rises in a whitish wisp when a pope has been chosen and paper alone is burned.

After the votes have been counted they are burned in a small stove. The chimney protrudes through a Vatican window.

The election of a pope is an austere process. The cardinal electors are isolated until the election is over. Rations of food are decreased daily as balloting progresses. The church desires no repetition of an election in the thirteenth century, when two years elapsed before the voters succeeded in naming a pope.

250 Get Inside.

Each cardinal takes a secretary and a servant into the conclave. In addition to these, there are ceremonial officials bringing the total number to about 250. The number of cardinals is now sixty-two out of a maximum of seventy. Thirty-five are Italians. No business other than the election of a pope takes place.

When the conclave starts the cardinals are imprisoned with their secretaries, cooks, barbers, and pages in a specially constructed cell block. This is a portable wooden city built in Vatican corridors. Once inside, all the conclaves are pledged to secrecy. Two ballots are cast daily, morning, and afternoon, until a pope is elected.

Food is sent in through a revolving window to prevent contact with the outside world. Agreements between cardinals prior to the conclave are forbidden, and except when actual votes are being cast in the Sistine chapel the electors remain in their cells.

A two-thirds vote is necessary to elect.

Tradition Points to Cardinal.

Church law does not require that a cardinal be elected pope, but precedents of several hundred years now make the election of a cardinal a foregone conclusion.

When a cardinal has been elected pontiff he chooses his own name as pope.

Experienced observers predict the election of an Italian.

Italian cardinals might become deadlocked in their voting, opening the way for a non-Italian, but this is believed unlikely.

While some say here that a middle-of-the-road pontiff as to Fascism will be elected, yet canny ones in 1922 foresaw a middle-roader on the Roman question instead of Pope Pius XI., but he won.

Pacelli Highly Favored.

If the Italian majority succeeds in electing an Italian, Cardinal Pacelli, linguist, diplomat, and experienced administrator, observers believe, may be the man.

Observers point out, however, that it is hard to elect as pope a cardinal who is papal secretary of state. That was Merry Del Val's weak point in 1922. He was too prominent.

Cardinal Schuster of Milan, 58 years old, will be the choice if anti-Fascist groups prevail. He has strongly denounced anti-Semitism. Then there is the former papal delegate to the United States, Cardinal Fumasoni-Biondi, now prefect of the sacred congregation for the propagation of the faith. Observers say he will have strong support.

American Might Be Picked.

If a deadlock among the Italians should develop, a cardinal from the United States might become a contender.

The American claim to a pope might be based on the grounds that its 20,000,000 Catholics are the largest national group never to have had a pope, that it is the largest contributor to the Vatican, that it has brought a certain spiritual freshness to the church, and that an American pope would be a tremendous impetus to the spread of the faith in the new world.

MUNDELEIN SAILS TODAY TO HELP ELECT NEW POPE

Liner Rex's Departure Is Delayed Two Hours.

BY ARCH WARD.

Cardinal George Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, will sail for Rome today aboard the Italian liner Rex to join other members of the Sacred College of Cardinals in electing a successor to Pope Pius XI. He will be accompanied by Msgr. Patrick Hayes and Dr. Louis B. Moorhead of Chicago.

Cardinal Mundelein, who has been vacationing in Miami, will arrive in New York at 1:30 p. m. today. Officials of the steamship line arranged to delay the sailing of the Rex from noon until 2 o'clock to accommodate the Chicago prelate. He will reach Rome on Feb. 18.

Also on the Rex will be Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia.

The other cardinal from the United States, William O'Connell of Boston, was preparing to sail last night on the Britannic from Nassau, Bahamas, to New York. He plans to leave New York on Wednesday on the Saturnia. Cardinal O'Connell, who is 79 years old and has been in poor health, first made plans to fly to New York, but decided not to do so.

Mundelein Praises Pius.

Cardinal Mundelein yesterday issued the following statement:

"Pope Pius XI. is dead! The human race has lost one of its commanding and beneficent personalities. A courageous and uncompromising champion of the dignities, the work and inalienable rights of human nature is removed from the stage of human action. This profound scholar, this magnificent source of spiritual life and inspiration has covered every phase of human well-being and happiness in his great encyclicals to the world.

"He has vindicated with a power and eloquence which have rarely been equaled the rights of labor, of the family, and of individual man.

"He has marked out the duties of society and of government in clear and convincing language. He has demonstrated with clearness and courage the supreme importance of spiritual values in the life of nations and individuals.

First to Assail Persecutors.

"The first voice of international significance to be raised in behalf of a persecuted and downtrodden race was that of Pius XI. To him the supreme fact of human history was the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

"Whatever agency, political, social, or economic, which attacked this supreme principle was the enemy of mankind.

"In our age of hesitancy, parter, and compromise, he stood with adamantine courage for the inalienable, God given rights of human beings.

"He will be forever remembered as the greatest champion of human rights our age has ever known. By the poor, the oppressed, the downtrodden, and the underprivileged, his memory will be held in everlasting benediction."

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, senior auxiliary bishop of Chicago, who will be in charge of the archdiocese during the cardinal's absence, accompanied Msgr. Hayes and Dr. Moorhead to New York.

CONDOLENCES SENT VATICAN BY ROOSEVELT

Most Washington Flags at Half-Staf.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—All flags in the capital except the Stars and Stripes were flung at half staf today in respect for Pope Pius XI., who died in Vatican City at dawn today.

The legations and embassies of foreign nations flung out their ensigns in a drizzling rain because their countries maintain diplomatic representatives at the Vatican. The American flag was not lowered to half staf, because this country has no diplomatic relations with the head of the Roman Catholic church.

Msgr. Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate in Washington.

President Roosevelt sent his "profound condolences" through Secretary of State Cordell Hull to Cardinal Pacelli, the papal secretary of state. This was a matter of courtesy, however, and did not involve any recognition of the temporal power of the papacy.

Zeal for Peace Lauded.

The Hull message read:

"The President desires me to express to your eminence profound condolences on the death of his holiness Pope Pius XI. His great spiritual qualities and his zeal for peace and tolerance won him a place in the hearts of all races and creeds. Word of his passing has been received with deep sorrow throughout the United States."

The United States has not been represented at the Vatican since 1863, when the pope held extensive temporal domains. When these were absorbed by Italy the United States did not continue its representation.

Apostolic Delegate at Capital.

The Vatican City maintains a representative in Washington but his duties are spiritual. The present apostolic delegate is the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani.

Msgr. Cicognani announced today that a pontifical requiem high mass will be celebrated at Catholic university next Wednesday for Pius XI. Church leaders, prominent laymen and diplomats are expected to attend.

POPE MOURNED BY HOME TOWN NORTH OF MILAN

DESIO, Italy, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Desio today mourned the death of its most illustrious citizen, Pope Pius XI. Walls of houses were covered with mourning streamers.

Desio, north of Milan, was unknown to the world when Achille Ratti, the future pope, ceased to reside there at the age of 10. But his memory of the place was so great that he never failed to assist its development in every possible way.

It still was just another Italian town, with a population of 9,000, when he was elevated to the papal throne in 1922. Premier Mussolini, wishing to render homage to the new pontiff, then raised the town to the rank of a city. In the main square stands a monument to the pope.

The Desio municipality bought the house where the pope was born and converted it into an orphanage. The room where his birth occurred was made a chapel and dedicated to St. Achille.

Maryland's Legislature Adjourns to Show Grief

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The legislature of Maryland, known as "the cradle of Catholicism" in America, adopted resolutions of "great sorrow" today on the death of Pope Pius XI. and adjourned for the weekend as a gesture to "record its sense of the great loss which the world has suffered."

Memorials to Pius Urged by B'nai B'rith's Leader

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Henry Monsky, president, today called upon members of B'nai B'rith, a Jewish organization, to "join with men and women of other faiths in sponsoring memorials" to Pope Pius XI, "symbol of tolerance and good will."

NAZI FLAG, WHICH POPE DETESTED, FLIES HALF-STAF

All Europe Is Grieved by Pontiff's Death.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The death of Pope Pius XI., an apostle of peace in a world tormented with strife, caused grief today among both Catholics and those of other faiths throughout the world.

The pontiff was the spiritual father of 331,500,000 Roman Catholics all over the earth, but sorrow over his death was not confined to them. Flags throughout Europe flew at half staf and from many nations came expressions of sympathy, tribute, and grief.

In France special masses were ordered in all parishes.

Worshipers thronged the great cathedral of the Westminster archdiocese in London and preparations were made for a requiem mass there. The archbishop of Canterbury, at the annual Anglican church assembly, paid high tribute to the pope. England's only member of the college of cardinals, Arthur Hinsley, arranged to go to Rome to attend the funeral and participate in the election of a new pope.

Nazis Lower Swastika.

Nazi Germany respectfully lowered its swastika, which Pope Pius had called "the cross which is not the cross of Christ."

Germany recalled the pontiff's criticism of some aspects of Nazism, but most papers, obeying instructions to write of the pope with the respect due his office and person, tempered their comment.

An exception was Der Angriff, organ of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels. It headed its obituary, "Pope of Unfulfilled Hopes" and said he had died as "a political adventurer."

Reichsfuehrer Hitler expressed his personal condolences to the papal nuncio in Berlin and Foreign Minster Joachim von Ribbentrop extended sympathies on behalf of the German government.

Gen. Franco Sorrowful.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, whose rebel government restored the Catholic church as the official state religion in the three-quarters of Spain it rules, ordered flags at half staf and sent a message of sorrow to the Vatican. Franco's devoutly Catholic Navarrese troops, nevertheless, completed their conquest of Catalonia and leaders said there would be no halt in military operations.

In Madrid, principal city of government Spain, all four afternoon newspapers carried news of the death, but public reaction was scarcely observable. Informaciones was the only Madrid newspaper to comment editorially. It said "Mussolini will do his utmost to get the conclave to elect a pro-Fascist cardinal as the new pope. The democracies may be dislodged from their new position in their struggle against Fascism as a result of the pope's death. The late pope opposed Nazi arrogance as well as Berlin and Rome racisms."

In soviet Russia the first news of the pope's death was given to the public through the Moscow radio late tonight. It was merely a one line announcement saying Pius XI. had died. There was no comment.

Poland Bans Dances.

Church bells will ring in Poland for fifteen minutes three times a day until the pope's funeral next Wednesday. The government banned all dances until after the funeral.

In Dublin crowds thronged the churches and knelt in prayer. A period of mourning was ordered with theaters closed and other entertainments suspended.

Premier Eamon de Valera sent Cardinal Pacelli a message of "profound sorrow." De Valera also paid tribute to the pope in a eulogy before the dail [parliament], which adjourned without transacting business.

A BUTCHER PUTS BURGLARY CASE ON ICE FOR POLICE

It has been the nightly practice of Joseph Stuck to leave change in the cash drawer for next morning's business when he closes his butcher shop at 1638 Belmont avenue.

He left $1.40 Monday night. It was gone Tuesday. He left $4.10 Tuesday night. That was gone Wednesday. Butcher Stuck left $11.63 Wednesday night. It wasn't there Thursday. He left $1.53 Thursday night, but the cash drawer was barren yesterday morning.

At closing time last night he put $2 in the cash drawer, closed up, went out, and returned through a rear entrance. An hour later a sudden draft told him that a window was being opened. A few minutes later he made out a figure stealing to the cash drawer and opening it.

Stuck seized the intruder, pushed him into the ice box, and locked him in—with the outside temperature near zero.

North Damen avenue police soon afterward salvaged a slightly frozen thief from the ice box. He was Arthur Norbut, 11 years old, 1635 Melrose street. Butcher Stuck quickly identified him as a hanger-on in his butcher shop.

INFLUENZA GAINS IN CITY; HERE ARE WAYS TO AVOID IT

Health Tips Given to Avert Epidemic.

Influenza cases in Chicago are increasing sharply, but the situation here does not begin to approach the serious outbreaks elsewhere in Illinois, Dr. Robert A. Black, acting president of the board of health, reported yesterday.

At the same time he warned mothers, as a preventive measure, to watch their children daily for evidences of colds before sending them to school. Thousands of school children and workers have been kept at home by influenza and colds, he said.

Tips on Keeping Well.

Several precautionary suggestions were recommended yesterday by Dr. Irving S. Cutter, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, to sidestep respiratory ailments. They were:

1. Stay away from the sick, and out of crowded rooms filled with coughers.
2. Sleep an extra hour each night. It builds resistance.
3. Eat sparingly. Drink plenty of liquids. Ten glasses of water daily are necessary for an average adult.
4. Reduce or avoid alcoholic stimulants and excessive smoking.
5. Keep your feet dry. Dress warmly.
6. At the first sign of sore throat, use a mild gargle. Salt water will do.
7. If you have fever, go to bed!

"Neglected colds, bronchitis and influenza lead to pneumonia," Dr. Cutter added. "And pneumonia, even with the finest medical care and apparatus, has a frightening mortality. If you would avoid it, take care of the forerunner diseases, and above all things, avoid exhaustion."

Less Pneumonia; Bigger Toll.

Pneumonia cases reported to the board of health from Feb. 1 to 9 were less than for the same period last year, Dr. Black said, but a higher percentage of deaths from pneumonia has been reported this winter.

No action has been taken by the board of education to close the Chicago schools, since they will be closed for the next three days anyway, Monday will be observed as Lincoln's birthday.

A survey made by the school board at Dr. Black's request disclosed that 76,547 pupils and 982 teachers were absent on Friday from 648 public and parochial elementary schools.

Meanwhile there were 19,326 students and 212 teachers absent from the city's 38 high schools. Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of the schools, said the student absentees were triple the average number.

Outside Chicago, serious outbreaks of influenza were reported in many towns. Maywood's health officer said there was a "mild epidemic" there. Schools had closed at many points.

PIUS DIES LEAVING QUARREL WITH ITALY UNSOLVED

Next Pope Faces Job of Seeking New Peace.

ROME, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Fascist grand council tonight paid homage to Pope Pius XI., whose death today occured at a critical moment in relations between the holy see and the Fascist government.

The grand council held its scheduled meeting under Premier Mussolini and adjourned 15 minutes later after voting its condolences. Its declaration said:

"The grand council of fascism pays reverent homage to the memory of Pope Pius, who wished for conciliation between the church and the Italian state, and the magnificent events which after 60 years of vain attempts settled the Roman questions through the Lateran treaty and established through the concordat relations of collaboration between the church and the state to safeguard the Fascist and Catholic unity of the Italian people."

King Sends Condolences.

King Victor Emmanuel telegraphed Cardinal Eugenia Pacelli, temporary administrator of the Church of Rome:

"While the holy Roman church is so sadly stricken by the loss of his holiness, Pope Pius XI., the queen and I desire to express to your most reverend eminence our profound and mindful condolences."

The king signed his telegram "Your most affectionate cousin, Victor Emmanuel."

Cardinal Pacelli, who ceased to be papal secretary of state and became camerlengo—chamberlain of the holy Roman church—upon the pope's death, ranks as the monarch's "cousin" as a knight of Annunziata.

The formal condolences of the royal family and government were in contrast to the situation at the deaths of previous pontiffs during the "prisoner of Vatican" period, when relations between the church and state compelled restraint.

No Interference in Election.

Earlier in the day the official gazette reminded all Italian officials that Italy was bound under the Lateran accord in no wise to interfere with the election of a new pope.

The government's assurance of full liberty to the conclave of cardinals recalled the election in 1878 of Leo XIII.—the first pope chosen after the Vatican's loss of temporal power.

At that time Cardinal Manning of England proposed holding the conclave on the Mediterranean island of Malta to avoid contact with the Italian government. The plan was abandoned when the government indicated it might not permit a pope so elected to enter Rome.

Death silenced Pope Pius on the very day before he was expected to give new expression to the "bitter sorrow" he had professed for Fascism's conduct toward the church.

Anniversary of Pact.

Tomorrow will be the tenth anniversary of the Lateran accord of Feb. 11, 1929, which ended a fifty-nine year quarrel between the church and state and the voluntary imprisonment of the popes in the Vatican as a protest against forceful occupation by Italian troops in 1870 of what the church considered its rightful capital.

Pope Pius was to have received all the archbishops and bishops of Italy in an audience for which recent church history offers few precedents.

Prelates had expected him to voice again his deprecation of Fascist discrimination against Jews and baiting of Catholic Action, a lay organization close to his heart.

RESCUE CREW AND OFFICERS FROM TANKER

Block Island, R. I., Feb. 11 [Saturday].—(AP)—Abandoning their grounded ship, the captain of the tanker Lightburne and nineteen members of his crew were rescued today by coast guards who struggled through heavy seas to reach them before their ship started to break up on rocks. Sixteen sailors had been saved earlier.

Coast guards reached the tanker three hours after the ship ran aground in a fog. The cutter Active arrived two hours after the tanker sent out an SOS and within a few minutes removed the sixteen sailors.

Capt. Wolman of the Lightburne remained aboard a while longer with two mates, the chief engineer, his radio operator, and fifteen others, but were taken off when the tanker started to break up.

The Lightburne, carrying 72,000 barrels of gasoline and kerosene, sailed from Port Arthur, Tex., Feb. 2 for Providence, R. I.

BISHOP WADE OF EVANSTON FINDS EUROPE CALMER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Feb. 10.—Since last September Europe has been moving toward stability and security, according to Bishop Raymond J. Wade of Evanston, Ill., who arrived today in Riga to preside at the Baltic Methodist conference. The bishop, whose diocese extends from the Scandinavian arctic to North Africa, was delegated to Europe in 1928 and again is making a semi-annual inspection tour.

Following the approaching unification of the North and South branches of the Methodist church in the United States, a European unification conference will be held in Copenhagen on Aug. 2 to 6, Bishop Wade said. Three hundred delegates from twenty countries will convene with eight bishops.

Bishop Wade reported the Methodist faith is gaining converts throughout Europe.

TENNESSEE HILL FOLK EMERGING FROM DARK ERA

Woman Tells Progress in Their Education.

Progress is beginning to touch the hill folk in Tennessee. Young men and women are leaving their barren homes to go to college where they can work their way, returning to improve conditions back home.

All this was described yesterday to members of the Executives club meeting in the Hotel Sherman. The speaker was a small red haired woman, Mrs. Lena Davis Murray, who spoke in the musical cadence of mountain talk.

Mountain people will not be given anything, but insist on paying. It may be a possum skin paid to an intrepid doctor who ventures into the remote hills on mule after his car can go no farther, or it may be services or work, said Mrs. Murray, whose husband is a county agent at Harrogate, Tenn.

Boy Spurns Meal Ticket.

Thus at Lincoln Memorial university in Harrogate, the most living of memorials to the dead President, according to Mrs. Murray, one boy spurned a meal ticket. It was found he had lived for months on parched corn, while he was traveling forty-five miles each way to his home and back every day to do farm chores so his family could survive. He was the eldest of nine, his father bedridden with tuberculosis, asthma, and pellagra, a disease which still claims thousands in the south. The boy is now a sophomore.

Mrs. Murray, a lecturer who writes under the name of Ella Enslow, told of her own childhood in the mountains. Her father worked forty-four years for a railroad without a promotion because he never went to school. Her mother and she made out his reports and fooled the railroad until he retired, she said. Her father was determined his children should be educated.

The first pupil to enter school at Vasper, she began high school at the county seat, Jacksboro, going by train and walking four miles each way daily. At 14 she began teaching, returned to school, and then taught in a log cabin mountain school at Rainsgrove, called Tailcreek.

She Gets More Pupils.

Twelve pupils enrolled, a record for Tailcreek. She set out on a tour of the district to learn why more did not come to school. Homes without rugs or carpets, window shades or curtains; beds without much bedding, so that families slept in their clothes, and a population 90 per cent of whom had pellagra, she found.

She increased her pupils to ninety. They included a 3 year old baby who slept under a table, a 64 year old woman who couldn't read or write, and a 25 year old man in first grade.

"I helped fathers in lonely hillside cabins deliver their wives' babies in the absence of doctor or midwife," she said. "I held the hands of sick women lying on their mattresses of ticking stuffed with corn shucks. I got hold of a doctor and fifteen boys and a garage in nearby La Follette and we had fifteen pairs of tonsils out in no time. Lacking books, I taught school from two mail order catalogs."

Thieves Prepare for Spring; Steal Set of Golf Clubs

Thieves who optimistically figure that spring can't be far away, yesterday stole a set of golf clubs, valued at $105 and owned by Ernest Giles, 4651 North Wolcott avenue, from a garage where he had stored them with his car.

MARGARET SULLAVAN.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A daughter weighing six pounds 11 ounces was born today to Actress Margaret Sullavan and her husband, Agent Leland Hayward. They have another child, Brook, 3 years old.

MARION TALLEY.

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Marion Talley, former opera star, is the mother of a girl, 3 years old, it was disclosed today in Supreme court when Miss Talley opened proceedings to gain custody of her daughter from her husband, Adolph Eckstrom, New York singing teacher.

The "American Nightingale" of 1926, who made her Metropolitan opera debut at 17, charged in a petition that her husband was wholly unfitted to have custody of any child and financially unable to give the child a suitable home.

Lawyers said Miss Talley had kept the birth of the child, named Susan, a secret because she thought it might hinder her career. The petition said Eckstrom kept the child in a Manhattan penthouse and had neglected to give her a needed eye operation. Miss Talley and Eckstrom were married in March, 1935.

Her marriage to Michael Rauchelsen, German pianist, in June, 1932, was annulled six months later.

VOTE TO INDICT HOTEL OWNER IN ELECTION FRAUD

A true bill charging perjury was reported voted by the grand jury yesterday against Benjamin F. Mayer, owner of the Calvert hotel at 1803 South Wabash avenue. Mayer and James J. Flynn, night clerk in the hotel, were arrested by the state's attorney's police on Wednesday on a charge of fraudulently registering thirty-nine names with the election board as those of permanent residents in the hotel.

Flynn was reported to have told the grand jury he made out the list on orders from Mayer. Assistant State's Attorney Frank Christenson said Mayer told the police he had ordered the list prepared at the request of a politician in the neighborhood, but he refused to name the politician.

FORMER MODEL COP MUST SERVE BURGLARY TERM

Judge William J. Lindsay of Criminal court yesterday denied a motion for probation for Philip E. Rieman, once known as Evanston's model policeman. Reiman was sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary last week on a burglary charge. He was arrested on Jan. 22 and accused of looting an Evanston sports shop of $45. He confessed. Judge Lindsay, who sentenced him, mentioned that twenty-one burglaries committed on his beat in the last year had remained unsolved and assailed Reiman for his refusal to submit to a lie test.

Ham and Eggs Thief Puts Big Business in High

Beef, ham, and eggs worth $360 were stolen late yesterday afternoon by a man who drove away with a truck belonging to Frank Lezon, owner of a meat market at 2134 North Damen avenue. The truck had just been loaded at a wholesale house and was standing in front of 948 Fulton street, when the thief took it. The vehicle was recovered later at 11th street and Blue Island avenue, but its cargo was missing.

Youth, 19, Freed in Gunshot Death of Fellow Lodger

Judge Joseph B. Hermes in the Boy's court yesterday freed Joseph Castaldo, 19 years old, who was exonerated by a coroner's jury for the fatal shooting of Carmelo Lacognato, 54 years old, on Jan. 30 at 1016 West Polk street, where both lived. The jury found that Lacognato was shot and killed accidentally while the two were inspecting a revolver in Castaldo's room.

Federal agents seized a 225 gallon still in a garage behind 3114 Monroe street after a fire and explosion there yesterday, according to E. C. Yellowly, supervisor of the alcohol tax unit. They also confiscated three vats, holding 6,000 gallons of mash, and illicit still equipment. The garage is the property of Mrs. Anna Skahen, who lives at the same address.

GUN SHOT VICTIM DIES; CLEARED AS HOLDUP SUSPECT

Michael Adams, 22 years old, 9932 Commercial avenue, who staggered into the South Chicago hospital Thursday night suffering from a bullet wound in the chest, died yesterday without disclosing how he was shot.

John Gendek, owner of a grocery at 2439 East 87th street, who shot one of three youths when they attempted to strong arm him at 87th street and Kingston avenue Thursday night, was unable to identify Adams.

Gendek was carrying a revolver to protect $40 which he was taking to his home at 8737 Kingston avenue. He was seized by the three youths. They grabbed his revolver after the shooting and got into an automobile at 87th street and Essex avenue.

"Elevator Bandit" Gets $90 in Holdup of Hotel

Jay Abbott, night clerk at the Wellington Arms hotel, 2970 Sheridan road, was robbed of $90 by a well dressed bandit early today. The gunman held a handkerchief over his face. He followed the practice of another hotel robber in recent weeks by making his victim ride an elevator upstairs.

LOVE UNLOCKS A JAIL BUT A 'HOT' TRUMPET HALTS NUPTIAL MARCH

For a while yesterday it appeared there were no further obstacles to the romance of Dorothy Keen and William Lee Roland. Judge Joseph B. Hermes in Boys' court terminated a one year probation period imposed on the young woman and then vacated a $200 fine against Roland. He did this, he said, so the couple could get married.

Roland, 18 years old, had been in jail since Jan. 27, when Dorothy pleaded guilty to taking and pawning $900 in jewelry from her mother, Mrs. Florence Keen. The mother blamed Roland for her daughter's action and he was charged with disorderly conduct.

Yesterday Dorothy said Roland had not known of the theft of the jewelry, nearly all of which has been recovered. The couple kissed when the judge freed them. But as they left the court, Roland was taken into custody by parole officers. They said they wanted to question him about his probation for the theft of a trumpet in Wisconsin. He was locked up at the detective bureau. Dorothy lives with her sweetheart's parents at 5847 Wentworth avenue.

KELLY BACKERS RAP OPPONENTS' TAX PROMISES

Show City Operating Cost Only 20% of Levies.

Only $20.49 of each $100 in tax collections is absorbed by the city's operating fund, the All Chicago Committee for the Reëlection of Mayor Kelly asserted yesterday. The committee made public a chart designed to disprove promises of the mayor's primary opposition that large tax rate reductions will be made if the mayor is defeated.

The chart, based on distribution of the tax extension for 1937, divides spending of each $100 collected in taxes as follows:

Schools [educational purposes]	$ 25.67
City corporate [operating] fund	20.49
Parks	10.42
City bonds, judgments	9.47
Sanitary district	7.33
School buildings	6.52
County	6.41
Pension funds	4.97
Poor relief	3.37
Sanitariums	1.58
School bonds	1.51
Forest preserve	1.15

Total	$100.00

Heads Dental Committee.

Dr. Joseph Schaefer, professor of oral surgery at Northwestern university and past president of the Chicago Dental society, yesterday accepted the chairmanship of the dental division of the committee for Kelly's reëlection. Co-chairmen are Dr. Fred Holt, secretary of the dental society, and Dr. George W. Teuscher, head of the department of children's dentistry at Northwestern university.

Dr. Schaefer said that Chicago's public school dental program has been transformed from inadequacy to national leadership during Mayor Kelly's administration.

"Under Mayor Kelly," he asserted, "a long step forward has been taken in the matter of making both children and parents conscious of the importance of healthy teeth. If this work is continued, tremendous gains in the general health of Chicago are bound to result."

Praise Building Program.

The west side division of the reelection committee issued a statement yesterday asserting that that section of the city has never enjoyed such a huge program of public improvements as during Mayor Kelly's administration.

Thaddeus R. Diadul, a Horner leader in the 38th ward in the 1936 and 1938 primary campaigns, announced yesterday that he will support Mayor Kelly's candidacy.

LAWYERS' GUILD DELEGATES HEAR ICKES AND PECORA

More than three hundred lawyers from all parts of the country yesterday attended the opening session of the third annual convention of the National Lawyers' guild. The guild styles itself a progressive lawyers' forum.

Speakers at the evening meeting included Mayor Kelly, who delivered an address of welcome; Judge Ferdinand Pecora of New York, and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Judge Pecora, who stopped the first trial of Tammany Leader Jimmy Hines on a technicality, urged lawyers to live up to their full responsibilities in preserving freedom in this country.

Ickes repeated the charges he made against newspapers in a broadcast a month ago. He singled out THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in most of his accusations. At the afternoon session of the convention Prof. Walter Gellhorn of the Columbia university law school asserted that American courts possess too much power and are unresponsive to public sentiment.

Political Notes

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, novelist and former national committeewoman for the Democratic party, will speak in behalf of State's Attorney Courtney today at 10:15 a. m. over WMAQ.

Mrs. Harry J. Myerson, prominent in Jewish affairs, will make a radio talk over station WIND at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in support of Ludwig D. Schreiber, candidate for city clerk on the Kelly ticket.

Courtney headquarters said yesterday that the Milk Wagon Drivers, local 753, indorsed Courtney at an open session attended by 1,000 members at Street Carman's hall, Van Buren street and Ashland avenue.

Assyrian leaders, associated with Mayor Kelly's all-Chicago committee, announced the formation of a woman's division. Mrs. Jenne S. Joseph is chairman; Mrs. Surette Joseph is vice chairman and secretary; Mrs. Olga S. Danajon and Mrs. Shushan Eshoo are vice chairmen; Mrs. Katherine Esmail is treasurer, and Mrs. Kanimjon Benjamin heads the publicity division.

George Seif, sanitary district board member, charged yesterday that approximately twenty-five temporary employés of the district were discharged Thursday at Mayor Kelly's order because they are Courtney supporters.

Seif said the trustees voted, 5-3, splitting along Kelly-Courtney lines, that the men be replaced. James M. Whalen, one of the five, denied the men were fired because they favored Courtney. He also denied that the mayor had given the order. He placed the number of discharges at about twelve.

POST POLLING LISTS FOR ALL CITY PRECINCTS

Printed poll lists for all precincts in the city were available to the public at the offices of the board of election commissioners yesterday, the deadline set in the new amendment to the permanent registration law.

Complaints of illegal registrations were filed yesterday and can be filed today. Those named in the complaints will be served with suspect notices. They must appear before the board Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday to answer.

A supplemental list of those whose names have been stricken will then be published and distributed to the polling places before primary day, Feb. 28. Under the new amendment a voter whose name is on the printed list but not in the permanent registration file can vote if two other voters will certify his residence.

Seize Mother of Youth Arrested as a Burglar

Wilmette police came to Chicago yesterday and arrested Mrs. Margaret Maher, 45 years old, in connection with their investigation into the activities of her son, Joseph McKay, an alleged burglar. He was seized Saturday night. Sergt. Herman G. Vance, who arrested Mrs. Maher, said that she led them to places where quantities of burglary loot were found. She did not know, she said, that the goods were stolen. Mrs. Maher will be arraigned before Magistrate J. J. Peters in Wilmette today.

COURTNEY AGAIN ATTACKS STELLE FOR AID TO KELLY

Calls Him Disloyal to Gov. Horner.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

State's Attorney Courtney shied another brick last night at Acting Governor John Stelle for Stelle's radio speech on the coöperation between Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly in constructive achievement. Speaking in Prospect hall, 64th street and Ashland avenue, Courtney said:

"Stelle has no idea of the word of loyalty. He spoke of harmony for six years between Stelle, Horner, and Kelly. No one knows Gov. Horner more intimately than I do. I have sat in his home. The governor has told me he wanted to take a long vacation, but would not, because he feared the principles of government of Lieut. Gov. Stelle.

Promises Car Line Pensions.

"On the street car question I want to say that when mayor I shall work for pensions for street car employés. All it needs is a mayor whose hands are not tied."

Arthur F. Albert, chairman of the Courtney Non-Partisan committee, spoke over the radio on "Kelly Dunham Wrong." Albert is a former alderman and an old Deneen Republican. Over WMAQ he attacked Mayor Kelly and Robert J. Dunham, head of the Chicago park district, for passage of the act whereby the bonded debt of the 22 various park districts were refunded when consolidated a few years ago.

"By this method," said Albert, "81 million dollars of bonded debt were shifted to spread over the entire park district which coincides with Chicago's corporate limits.

"This Kelly Dunham wrong régime in the Chicago parks has laid the heaviest burdens on the home owners of the 19 smaller park districts which were gobbled up in the consolidation act. In the history of the 19 smaller park districts before consolidation the park tax never went above 15 cents per $100. Today it has reached 40 cents."

J. T. Igoe Gives Indorsement.

Courtney's candidacy was indorsed yesterday by James T. Igoe, chairman of ward organizations in Gov. Horner's campaign for renomination against the Kelly-Nash opposition. Igoe is a former congressman and was city clerk for three terms.

"I have contacted Horner leaders," said Igoe, "and find that 97 per cent of Gov. Horner's followers are with Courtney in this fight. Our leader, Gov. Horner, is now suffering from an illness which was brought about while fighting the machine brand of politics."

Ald. John E. Egan [13th], a Courtney supporter, issued a statement blasting Michael J. Flynn, committeeman of the 13th and county clerk, who has declared himself for Mayor Kelly.

"The Courtney movement," he said, "can congratulate itself on being relieved of the load of Flynn's support. As far as I can discover he owns no property in the ward, pays no personal property tax, and never has since he came in from Palos Park in 1934 to become Kelly's committeeman."

ALL BAILIFS PAID; HORAN-SONSTEBY CRISIS DEFERRED

Two hundred and fifty of the 302 deputy bailifs who serve Chicago's Municipal courts drew their two weeks' salaries yesterday, one day late. The remaining fifty-two received their pay on time, on order of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby.

Yesterday, when it was found that the 1938 budget still is in effect and that there was money for all, Bailif Albert J. Horan's 250 men got theirs, too.

But when the next two week working period ends the 1939 budget limiting the number of deputies to 265 will be in effect. Unless Horan certifies some of the Sonsteby bailifs and cuts his own force, there won't be enough money—unless Judge Sonsteby yields.

2 UNION LEADERS CALL COURTNEY'S RECORD ROUTINE

Two Chicago union leaders yesterday called State's Attorney Courtney, one of the Democratic candidates for the mayoral nomination, a routine politician. The statement was made by Ralph E. Fischer, president of Chicago Typographical union, Local No. 16, and Maurice McElligott, business representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, in a radio discussion. Both speakers are members of the executive committee of Labor's Nonpartisan League of Cook County.

"Courtney has been on the public pay rolls since 1912," said Fischer. "A breakdown of Mr. Courtney's income in 1927 shows he was receiving $1,750 as a state senator, $6,000 as the assistant attorney for the sanitary district, $1,500 as sergeant at arms of the city council, and $4,000 as attorney for the building and zoning committee of the council, a total annual income from public office of $13,250. A record such as this is far from that of a crusading reformer."

"I think you can take his record in all of its aspects—crime prevention, gang busting, auto thefts, tax collections, economy, and his treatment of organized labor—and you will find it as full of holes as a Swiss cheese," McElligott said.

Mrs. Sibyl Hathaway, ruler of the Island of Sark, and map showing location of her realm.

Mrs. Sibyl Hathaway, Dame de Sark, arrived in Chicago yesterday to lecture at a tea given by the English-Speaking Union at the Arts club. Mrs. Hathaway is the feudal chief, owner, landlord and queen of the Island of Sark, in the English channel, the only purely feudal state in the world.

The island, 3½ miles long and 1½ miles wide, has a 35 mile long coast line due to indented shores. The records of the island date back to A. D. 565. Under Queen Elizabeth the island was granted to Sir Helier de Carteret, 58th Seigneur of Saint-Ouen in Jersey on condition that only 40 families live there.

In 1732 the island was sold to Mrs. Hathaway's great great grandmother. Heir to the title "Seigneur of Sark, is Lionel Collings Beaumont, son of Mrs. Hathaway by her first marriage.

FIVE THOUSAND WOMEN TO AID GREEN AT POLLS

Five thousand women, working to elect Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for mayor, have volunteered to act as watchers at the city's polling places in the Feb. 28 primary. This was announced yesterday by Mrs. Mabel Krutckoff, chairman of the women's division of the Cook County Republican organization.

The women will augment 7,300 young men and women enlisted by the Young Republican organization to watch for irregularities, she said.

As an experiment, Mrs. Krutckoff said, 125 women were trained and acted as poll watchers in the senatorial election last fall.

"The results in the precincts where these women worked was startling," she said. "The Republican vote was far higher than in other precincts."

Tonight Mr. Green will be guest of honor at the Wabash College Alumni dinner in the Midland club. He was a student at the college for two years before the world war.

"—and for the people"

HIS life was devoted to the service of the people. In this same Lincolnian ideal of service the First State Pawners Society had its beginnings. To serve the people. To make money available, at just and reasonable rates, to those who must have money. To protect Chicago's citizens against the exploitation of usurious interest charges.

It is 40 years now since Harry Gordon Selfridge proposed, and the Merchants Club organized, the First State Pawners Society. Forty years since the Illinois legislature passed the Special State Pawners Act under which this Society (and it alone) is chartered—limiting to 1% a month the interest on any loan, whether it be for $1 or $5,000. Limiting the Society's stockholders, too, to 7% a year dividends.

In those 40 years of service the Society has made over 2,000,000 individual loans, totaling eighty-odd millions of dollars. On not one dollar of all those millions has the Society charged a penny over 1% a month interest. There are no fines, fees, commissions or any other extra charges whatsoever.

Today, as ever since its formation, the Society is directed and actively managed by a board of Chicago business men who serve without pay. Ever foremost in their minds is the purpose of the founders—that the Society shall always be operated as a public service to the people of Chicago.

JAPANESE SEIZE HAINAN ISLAND WITHOUT FIGHT

French, British Lifelines Are Threatened.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 (Saturday).—(AP)—Ten persons were killed today when Japanese planes bombed Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, in central China. Ten bombs landed in the business district, damaging many buildings, including that of the Young Men's Christian association.

Tokio, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A Japanese expeditionary force today seized the chief cities of China's Hainan Island, off the South China coast, 300 miles southwest of Hongkong and close to the empire lifelines of France and Britain.

[Hainan, commanding eastern approaches to French Indo-China, has been considered within France's sphere of influence and observers believed Japanese occupation might mean trouble with France. In Paris, however, it was authoritatively indicated that France would not act, assuming that the Japanese occupation would be temporary.]

Imperial headquarters announced that Hainan's capital, Kiungchow, and nearby Hoihow, chief port and largest city, at the northern tip of the island, had been taken without resistance or Japanese casualties. Japanese units were said to be encircling the island.

To Strengthen Blockade.

An admiralty spokesman said the expedition's aim was to strengthen the Japanese blockade of the Chinese coast and smoke out smugglers responsible for running arms to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Duration of the occupation "will depend entirely on military necessity," he said.

A large force of soldiers and bluejackets made the landing on Hainan's western coast while surprised Chinese resisted only with sporadic machine gun fire.

The action brought twenty-five Americans, two of them customs officials, and the rest Northern Presbyterian missionaries, into the war zone, but they could not be reached since the island's only radio station had been dismantled.

Five Americans in Big Cities.

Five Americans are listed by United States consulate records in Hongkong as residents of Kiungchow and Hoihow. Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Bercovitz of Berkeley, Cal., were listed as in Kiungchow, while in nearby Hoihow were the Rev. and Mrs. David S. Tapan, Pasadena, Cal., and Miss A. H. Skinner of Cleveland.

American children and women not essential to operation of hospitals were moved away from Hainan late in October.

CURTISS-WRIGHT OFFICIALS FREED IN PLANE DEAL

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Three Curtiss-Wright Aviation corporations and three individual defendants were acquitted by a Federal court jury tonight of conspiracy to sell and of the actual sale of four armed Condor bombing planes to the Bolivian government in violation of American neutrality.

The defendants were Curtiss-Wright Aeroplane and Motor Co., Inc., Curtiss-Wright airplane company, Curtiss-Wright Export corporation; J. S. Allard, president of the export company; Ralph S. Damon, former Curtiss-Wright executive, and Clarence W. Webster, South American agent for the export corporation.

On a companion charge by the government that the six conspired to sell, and did sell, the four planes, unarmed, to agents of Bolivia, and that they shipped armament parts to Bolivia, the jury disagreed.

Forty-six prison terms, one of life imprisonment, also were imposed in connection with murder and bombings.

NAZIS ANGERED AS BRITISH WOO SPANISH REBELS

Ridicule London's Part in Capture of Minorca.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The resentment in German official circles over Britain's attempt to make favorable terms with Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, was betrayed today in comment on the rebels' capture of the Island of Minorca, in the Balearics, this week.

Rebel troops occupied the island after the British cruiser Devonshire carried a rebel representative to Port Mahon for conferences with Minorca's loyalist officials.

Germans, who with the Italians have aided the rebels, scorned claims that Britain should receive credit because Minorca changed hands with little shedding of blood.

Blamed for Prolonging War.

The Deutsche Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz asserted: "When blood shedding could be avoided—a fact which is joyfully greeted in Germany—then that was more a side phenomenon than the true political reasons for England's intervention."

France and England were blamed for the prolongation of the Spanish civil war through failure to recognize belligerent rights for the combatants. The Diplomatische Korrespondenz acknowledged that "every error can be made good when it is not too late," and admitted it is not now desirable to dwell on past mistakes and the responsibility of those who made them, yet it concluded:

"It is not for those who made such mistakes now suddenly to assume the rôle of honest dealers with which they should have busied themselves long ago."

Army Kept in Public Eye.

Meanwhile, the eyes of the German public were being directed to the steady growth of the German forces ashore and afloat. Less was heard, however, of the air force, which Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, air minister, controls and perfects without disclosing any details.

Following the reception by Reichsfuehrer Hilter a few weeks ago of 3,600 young military, naval and air force officers, Der Fuehrer today received 600 commanding officers in the Kroll Opera house.

The forthcoming launching of the first 35,000 ton Nazi battleship in Hamburg next Tuesday was blazoned in the press, which asserted proudly that with this ceremony "Germany will be enrolled in the ranks of the great naval powers."

It was learned that the new vessel and its sister ships to be launched in the near future will be armed similarly to the ships of the old "Baden" class. Each will have eight 15 inch guns in four twin turrets—two fore and two aft. The twelve 6 inch guns of each warship, however, will not be in casemates, but on the upper deck. This, it was asserted, will increase the firing area.

Pointing to the increased speed of the battleships—said to be 50 per cent higher than during the world war—the Essener National Zeitung asserted that this marks a "new era in naval warfare."

NAZIS GIVE PARIS ASSURANCES IN ROWS OVER SPAIN

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—(AP)—France has been assured by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany that Nazi Germany is not disposed to mix in Mediterranean bickerings over the fate of Spain unless they draw Italy into war.

His assurances were given to the French ambassador, Robert Coulondre, Wednesday night. Coulondre left immediately for Paris to inform his government.

High Nazi circles said Germany regards the Mediterranean as Premier Mussolini's sphere of influence as far as the Rome-Berlin axis is concerned. They asserted Germany felt impelled to give France a definite interpretation of its view due to the French-German friendship treaty signed on Dec. 6.

NAMES SPECIAL ATTORNEY TO SIFT JUDGE'S CONDUCT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Attorney General Murphy tonight announced the appointment of John Cahill as his special assistant to take charge of the investigation of alleged irregularities in federal courts in the New York area.

Pending confirmation of his recent nomination for the post of United States attorney Cahill will act in place of Gregory F. Noonan, acting district attorney, who has been conducting the investigation.

Officials have said Noonan asked to be relieved of further duties in connection with the investigation. They said it appeared that years ago, without his knowledge, 3,000 shares of stock in the Alamac-Esplinade corporation had been issued in Noonan's name. This is one of the companies in which former Judge Martin T. Manton holds a large interest. Manton resigned after disclosure that he had received large loans from litigants in his court.

Officials explained that Noonan withdrew from further participation in the inquiry to keep it free from prejudice. It was said that when Noonan was 17 years old and a law clerk the firm which employed him bought the stock in his name. The certificates never were in his possession and have not been in his name for years.

U. S. ATTORNEYS MUDDLING RED CASE, IS CHARGE

Prosecution Weakened, Critics Contend.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Supreme court heard oral argument today in a case involving the status of alien communists under the deportation act of 1918. Its result may affect materially the deportation case against Harry Bridges, alien communist leader of the C. I. O., on the west coast, and the fate of the impeachment resolution against Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, now pending before the judiciary committee of the house of representatives.

Interest in the case has been heightened by the charge of Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, that both the justice and labor departments are seeking "to elicit a judgment from this court which will protect other aliens against whom deportation proceedings are pending."

Charges Aid for Bridges.

In nonlegal parlance, Mr. Dies charges that the Roosevelt administration is seeking to "throw" the pending case in order to protect Bridges.

The alien involved in the case argued today is Joseph George Strecker, Austrian born and a restaurant proprietor of Hot Springs, Ark. At his deportation hearing in October, 1933, he admitted having joined the communist party in November, 1932, and that he, personally, advocated the destruction of capitalism or the government of the United States, which he called "one and the same thing."

Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah at New Orleans, a nephew of the senator from Idaho, refused to release Strecker on a writ of habeas corpus, but the pro-New Deal Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, last summer, reversed the lower court on the ground that the Communist party had changed its program and that membership therein was not ground per se for the deportation of an alien.

Perkins Suspends Action.

Secretary Perkins thereupon suspended deportation proceedings against Bridges pending an appeal to the Supreme court and a final determination of the question whether membership in the communist party is sufficient ground for deportation.

Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson argued before the Supreme court today that Strecker is deportable on the dual ground that he personally advocated force and violence to overthrow the government and, after entering the United States and while still an alien, joined an organization that advocated the same.

The law excludes and provides for the deportation of aliens who believe in or advocate or belong to organizations that advocate "the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United States." It further provides for the deportation of any alien who at any time after entering the United States is found to have been at the time of entry, or to have become thereafter, a member of any proscribed organization.

Termed Defense of Strecker.

While maintaining before the court that Strecker is deportable, whether or not he was still a member of the communist party when the deportation warant was issued in 1934, Solicitor General Jackson nevertheless followed a line of argument presented in his brief which Representative Dies interpreted as a defense of Strecker.

Admitting that Strecker's own counsel had not made such a contention, Jackson presented for the court's consideration the question of an alien's constitutional rights under the first amendment to the constitution—freedom of speech and of assembly.

In raising this question, Jackson called the court's attention to its decision a few years ago in the case of Angelo Herndon, a Negro communist of Atlanta, Ga. The cases involved entirely different questions, since Herndon was not an alien, but native born, and the statute in question was not the deportation law but Georgia's criminal syndicalism act.

Herndon Case Cited.

"While respondent did not raise . . . the question of the constitutional right of freedom of speech and of assembly under the first amendment of the federal constitution," Jackson said, "that question may be deemed by the court to be pertinent with respect to this question of statutory construction. He cited the following language of the Supreme court in the Herndon case:

"The power of a state to abridge freedom of speech and of assembly is the exception rather than the rule, and the penalizing even of utterance of a defined character must find its jurisdiction in a reasonable apprehension of danger to organized government."

Jackson admitted that "in the present case, unlike the Herndon case, the question relates to the power of congress over resident aliens and the rights of such aliens under the constitution." But he cited various decisions of the Supreme court, as if he had been counsel for the defense, and added:

"It would appear to be settled, therefore, that with respect to aliens while resident here, the power of congress is subject to the limitations of the constitution and that an appropriate basis must be found for subordinating the rights of persons under the first amendment to the exercise of congressional control.

"That justification is ordinarily to be sought in the protection of the government against the danger of overthrow by force or violence. The Herndon case . . . suggests that the apprehended danger must have some immediacy and cannot be of an indefinite and remote character if the power of the government is to be validly exerted."

Citing these contentions in Jackson's brief, Representative Dies declared in his brief as a friend of the court: "From the foregoing questions which have been raised by government counsel outside of the record, and were not urged by Strecker's counsel, it appears that the solicitor general and his associates and Mr. Reilly, solicitor of the department of labor, are seeking a declaratory judgment in favor of aliens."

In his oral argument, however, Mr. Jackson did not follow the line of argument presented in his brief as to an alien's constitutional rights. He took the position that the constitution conferred no political rights upon aliens. Furthermore, he argued that the power of congress over aliens is not confined to the question of immediacy; that it has the right to protect the government against future violence.

Brief Outlines Position.

Having erected a straw man in his brief, he proceeded to knock it down in his oral argument. The issue, nevertheless, was before the court, and the court ordinarily is governed as to the position of counsel by the formal brief, there being no record of oral argument.

On the question of the law itself, rather than the constitutional power of congress, Mr. Jackson argued that there was ample evidence for the deportation of Strecker. He argued that the Circuit court erred in taking into consideration the pretended changes in the communist party's program since the adoption of its so-called Trojan horse policy in 1935, as Strecker was a member prior to that time.

Under the Trojan horse policy the communists conceal their ultimate objective of violent revolution, disguise themselves in the cloak of "democracy," and seek to bore into the innermost recesses of the "enemy"—bourgeois or capitalistic society.

SUBWAY LOCKS ITS BARN AFTER $1,500,000 THEFT

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Belatedly locking the barn, the board of transportation today disclosed that it has developed a gadget which will prevent the theft of nickels from subway turnstiles. Twenty-four employés or former employés are awaiting trial on charges of looting the subway. It was charged that more than $1,500,000 in nickels was stolen. Albert Kirshen, an engineer, invented the gadget, which makes it impossible to turn back the subway turnstile meters without detection.

VEIL OF SECRECY STRIPPED FROM ARMS PROGRAM

Senators to Tell Details of Secret Session.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The senate military affairs committee today agreed that members hereafter may talk freely about testimony in the committee's investigation of the sale of war planes to France in violation of army and navy regulations intended to safeguard military secrets.

A motion by Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.] to hold open hearings in the future was defeated in an 8 to 8 tie vote. The decision to keep the hearings closed hereafter was laid to a parliamentary error by Austin. This was due to the fact that he insisted on the precedence of his own motion over one by Senator Marvel M. Logan [D., Ky.] to continue secret hearings. The same tie vote on Logan's motion would have thrown open the hearings.

Delay Decision on Record.

The committee postponed until Monday the question of making public the official record of testimony already heard in the investigation of the airplane scandal. Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.] made a motion to publish the record, with the exception of testimony involving military secrets.

The vote was postponed to give all committee members opportunity to study the printed record to determine how much of it should be deleted to preserve military secrets.

Members of the committee tonight expressed the opinion that at last they had authentic transcripts of the testimony. The transcript had been sent to various witnesses to permit them to correct their remarks, and there were fears that the record would be falsified.

Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau requested permission to delete certain incidental remarks and no objection was offered. Senators said the remarks were inconsequential.

Seek to Guard Only War Secrets.

Senator Clark and others will insist Monday that nothing be deleted from the record except strictly secret military testimony, such as part of the testimony of Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staf.

If the senators are successful the record is expected to disclose that Secretary Morgenthau and Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring quarreled violently over the propriety of letting a French air mission try out, with a view to purchasing, a new Douglas bomber prepared for war department competition. The war department refused to permit the French to inspect the bomber, said to have been the finest in the world, before the United States army had had an opportunity to test it. However, William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France, and Secretary Morgenthau went over the heads of the war department to President Roosevelt, who ordered the special privileges for the French mission.

The plane crashed Jan. 23 in Los Angeles in a special demonstration for the air mission. The test pilot, an American, was killed and a representative of the French air ministry was injured.

After members of the military affairs committee succeed in making public the record of the investigation into the airplane scandal they expect to take the senate floor and let the public know exactly what President Roosevelt told them at his secret White House conference last week. Mr. Roosevelt denounced senators and newspapers as boobs and liars, saying that they misrepresented his lecture to the committee.

Senators still insist, however, that he took the position that this country must do everything possible to save the European democracies from aggression by the totalitarian powers. They insist, also, that he put America's first line of defense in France.

PRESIDENT HAS TOUCH OF GRIP; STAYS IN ROOM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt was confined to his bedroom and oval study on the second floor of the White House today with a touch of grip. His temperature hovered about 99.6 degrees today.

Colds hit two other members of the immediate White House family and also Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Miss Marguerite Le Hand, the President's personal secretary, was ordered to bed and White House Secretary Stephen T. Early was sent home to nurse a cold. Secretary Hull spent a short time at his desk this morning, but was forced to return to his hotel apartment around noon.

The President has been suffering with a cold for several days and has been carefully watched by Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician. Mr. Roosevelt canceled his semi-weekly press conference and escaped a barrage of questions on his war with the senate over foreign relations and judicial appointments. He also postponed his weekly meeting with the cabinet.

MARCH 2 HEARING SET ON SCHOOLS' ELECTRIC RATE

The Illinois Commerce commission yesterday set March 2 for hearing a complaint that the Board of Education is paying the Commonwealth Edison company excessive rates for electricity used in the public schools.

The complaint was made on Wednesday by Raymond F. Kraft, who obtained his information while making a study for a degree at Northwestern university. He charged that the school board has overpaid the Edison company $4,281,760 under a 30 year contract for electricity at 3½ cents per kilowatt hour. Howard P. Savage business manager of the school board, replied that the old contract rate is actually saving the board money. O. C. Taubeneck, executive secretary of the principal's club, is acting as Kraft's attorney.

William Roscoe, superintendent of a project doing street repairing in this city and also a Democratic county committeeman from Gloucester, was indicted with twelve others. The indictment charged they conspired to defraud the government by putting WPA workers on jobs for private persons.

George Dicks, superintendent of WPA projects in Atlantic county, and Thomas McGrath of Pleasantville, a project supervisor, were charged with extortion in two other indictments.

DEWEY NEAR END OF STATE'S CASE IN TRIAL OF HINES

Notifies Judge He Will Close Today.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The state today neared completion of its case against Tammany Leader James J. Hines. A final picture of the defendant fraternizing with the late notorious gangster, Dutch Schultz, while the latter was under federal indictment, was painted for the jury.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey notified Judge Charles C. Nott Jr. shortly before adjournment the state would rest tomorrow forenoon. The trial of Hines, charged with violating the state lottery laws, started Jan. 23. The defendant is accused of furnishing political protection for the Schultz policy racket.

It is a matter of considerable speculation whether the political boss will take the stand in his own defense and face cross-examination from the young racket smashing prosecutor.

Parade of Hotel Employés.

Hines sat motionless at the defense table while a parade of hotel employés from Bridgeport, Conn., to identify him through his silver hair, ruddy cheeks, and chunky frame as the man they saw with Schultz in hiding. The time was in August of 1935 when Schultz was under indictment for evasion of the federal income tax laws.

The last witness, one who had been unearthed since the first Hines trial last fall, was Robert Ashforth, night manager of the coffee shop in Bridgeport's Barnum hotel. He said he saw Hines, flanked by gangster friends, at a dinner party in his restaurant.

"Mr. Hines sat at the head of the table," related Ashforth. "Schultz was on his right and 'Lulu' Rosencrantz was on the other side. Two women were at the table."

Eddie Corbett, a prize fight veteran of 264 bouts and now a Bridgeport masseur, said he saw Hines in his undershirt in Dutch Schultz's apartment at the hotel. He had been called over to give the gang chief a massage. Corbett based his identification of Hines on the politician's physique.

"I admired his build," he told the jury.

Reads of Freeing Gangster.

Late in the day Dewey read to the jury the transcript of the proceedings before Magistrate Hulon Capshaw when "Lulu" Rosencrantz, Schultz's bodyguard, was freed at the alleged request of Hines.

"Lulu" had just picked up a bundle of policy slips when patrolmen riding in a police car gave chase. The Schultz gangster sped around several blocks, threw the policy slips out of the car and then surrendered.

Hines' alleged practice of transferring policemen who molested the Schultz policy racketeers was touched off earlier when John A. Lyons, second deputy police commissioner, took the stand to say he ignored an order from a superior officer to "get rid" of Detective Julius Salke six years ago.

Salke had been pushing the hoodlums around and they threatened to send him back "into harness" pounding a beat in uniform.

The order to "get rid of Salke" came from Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan, since retired, according to Lyons. He said he ignored it because he felt if Commissioner James S. Bolan was called before the federal grand jury and asked why Salke was transferred it might prove embarrassing.

RECORD $39,500 ILLINOIS DAMAGE VERDICT UPHELD

The highest award of damages ever made in Illinois for an accidental death was upheld yesterday by Judge W. W. Damron of Harrisburg, sitting in Superior court. The award, for $39,500, was voted by a jury before Judge Damron on Dec. 21. It was against the Milwaukee railroad and in behalf of Mrs. Dorothy Timmer, 22 years old, 4604 Deming place. Her husband, Henry, 27, a fireman for the railroad, was killed on Nov. 14, 1937, when the train on which he was working struck an automobile in Morton Grove.

Suit was brought under the federal employés' act, which permits the plaintif to ask $50,000 damages if an interstate carrier is involved in the accident. Illinois law limits damages to $10,000. The road asked that the verdict be reduced, but Attorney Samuel Cohen argued for Mrs. Timmer that because the verdict set a record was no reason for attacking it.

Wife Who Penned Farewell Note of Song Titles Dies

Mrs. Victoria Carlson, 27 years old, who left her home at 3034 Wilton street on Jan. 28 and was found unconscious from an overdose of sleeping tablets in a Milwaukee hospital room two days later, died there in the County Emergency hospital yesterday. Her husband, John Carlson, owner of a tavern at 3055 Sheffield avenue, asked police here to search for her a week after his wife disappeared. She left a note containing only the titles of popular songs, including, "What's the Reason I'm Not Pleasing You?" and "Thanks for the Memory."

War Department Approves Canal Street Bridge Plans

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt yesterday was notified that the United States war department has approved the city's plans for a bridge across the Chicago river at Canal street. A proposal to allocate part of the city's share of the motor fuel tax fund for financing the project is pending before the city council. A request for federal aid was denied by the Public Works administration several months ago.

SNOW REMOVAL PLEA IS REFUSED FINALLY BY WPA

National WPA officials in Washington yesterday notified City Clerk Peter J. Brady that the federal government cannot help Chicago rid itself of the snow remaining from last month's blizzard. It is against the rules of the WPA, they explained.

The city council at its last meeting asked for the employment of 20,000 WPA men on a snow removal project. It had been pointed out that many WPA workers couldn't work on their regular projects, such as sidewalk repair and street improvements, as long as the snow remained.

"The Works Progress administration encourages men to go into private employment," the letter to Mr. Brady stated. "And Chicago WPA authorities have been directed to release [from WPA] as many men as the city wants to hire for snow removal. It will be up to the city to pay their salaries."

City officials explained that any further money spent for snow removal will have to be taken out of the appropriation for garbage collection. There is no snow removal appropriation.

Postal Employe Gets Year for $100 Thefts from Mail

George C. Coffin, 39 years old, for fifteen years a mail handler in the main postoffice, yesterday was sentenced to serve a year and a day in a federal penitentiary by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward on a charge of rifling the mails. He admitted taking about $100 from packages over a year and a half.

BLAME CIGARET OR DERELICTS IN ELEVATOR BLAZE

A discarded cigaret or a small fire started by derelicts was blamed yesterday for a blaze that swept through an old, empty grain elevator near 77th street and Greenwood avenue Thursday night. The blaze delayed full operation on the Illinois Central railway electric suburban trains between 67th and 115th streets for three hours. The loss to the building, owned by the Nickel Plate railroad, was estimated at $60,000 by First Deputy Marshal Joseph Mackey. A 5-11 alarm was sounded, and Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan personally directed the fire-fighters.

OFFER CITY $30,000 FOR SIGHTSEEING TRADE AT AIRPORT

Bids made by three companies for exclusive rights to make sight seeing flights from Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue were opened yesterday by Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works. The Chicago aero commission recently recommended that the city assume supervision over competitive sight seeing flights in the interests of safety.

The high bidder was Pierce O'Carroll, head of the Monarch Air Service and the Airline Charter service representative at the field. He bid $30,004 for the exclusive rights. Second was the Blue Bird Air Service, with a bid of $16,000. The low bidder was Air Tours, Inc., with a bid of $12,000.

SHIP BRITAIN 4 MILLIONS IN WAR PLANES IN MONTH

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The state department announced today the issuance of licenses in January for the sale of $4,471,471 of airplanes to Great Britain. Four million dollars of this was for fighting planes.

The number of planes was not given but, on the basis of price, probably was not more than 100. The planes represent only a portion of British contracts for airplane manufacture in this country, which now call for 650 planes. The department also announced the shipment of planes and other war materials valued at $1,443,199 to Great Britain in January.

"TO MY VALENTINE—"

By CALEB

'WAY back as early in history as 1476, flourished among the young folk of England a pleasant practice that the centuries have left almost unchanged. That was the custom, on St. Valentine's day, of choosing a special friend, sweetheart, or lover for the ensuing year, and of sending the person thus chosen a gift commemorating the choice.

One is reminded of the antiquity of this sentiment, as he surveys the colorful array of 1939-version verses and designs that invite inspection midway of the Wabash side of our first floor. A subtlety, artistry and beauty, however, wholly absent from the yesteryears of our own youth, glorify the offerings of today. Out of all proportion to their negligible cost, the range of selection is so varied that one can convey to his recipient even the nuances of the tender passion. More than adequately have rhymesters, designers and printers done their part as unseen collaborators of the sender. . . .

That senders, this year, will number millions, is a tribute to something very fine and instinctive in the human heart . . . . an impulse which we hope the human race will never become too sophisticated to express. Is it not, in fact, significant that there should be one specific day like this set aside on the calendar, for telling friends, wives, parents and sweethearts that we still love them? A day with "no strings attached" save that? A day for prodding our better selves out of the careless lethargy of expecting others to take our affection for granted?

In his Assembly of Foules, Chaucer has suggested that on this exceptional day even the birds chose their mates. Shakespeare mentions it in the fourth act of Midsummer Night's Dream, and Charles Lamb has written delightfully of it in his Essays of Elia. And it was around so innocent an instrument as a valentine that Hardy gathered the tragedy-threads of his best-known novel, Far From the Madding Crowd. . . .

If, therefore, you've been thinking of February 14th as a day for sentimentalists—reconsider! It is a day, actually, for agreeable renewal of sentiment—without which we can no more exist spiritually than we can exist physically without breath. Send your friend, your fiancee, your life-partner, a valentine this year. The gesture may surprise—even startle—but the reaction will be one of the warmest pleasure. Amid a big world considerably out of sorts, these days, it's the little thoughfulness, the small remembrance, the trivial sincerity, that counts.

ASK $21,735,279 COUNTY BUDGET; LESS THAN 1938

Public Hearing Called for Feb. 20.

The 1939 tentative corporate [operating] budget for Cook county was placed in the hands of the county board yesterday by the finance committee. The proposed appropriations total $21,735,279. This is a reduction of $1,280,255 under amounts asked by department heads and $433,381 less than the 1938 budget of $22,168,660.

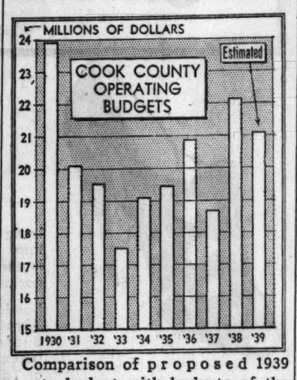
Lee J. Howard, county auditor, said a public hearing on the budget will be held Feb. 20. The board expects to adopt it by Feb. 24. The tentative estimates are subject to change until formally approved by the board. Under the law the board has until March 1 to adopt the budget.

Urge Six Department Increases.

Although last year's budget provided $811,000 in election expenses that will not recur this year, a saving of this figure in 1939 is offset by increased appropriations in many departments. These increases included:

	1938 budget.	1939 tentative budget.	Increase.
Cnty. hospital-nursing sch.	$4,147,427	$4,319,146	$171,719
Oak Forest infirmary . . .	1,258,362	1,439,848	181,486
Sheriff's office	882,279	962,640	80,361
Assess'r's office	907,901	1,045,024	137,123
Public service	1,578,874	1,648,785	69,911
Juvenile home	313,168	333,908	20,740

Decreases are noted in several departments. These include the board of appeals, where last year's expenditure of $181,168 was cut by $16,532. Most of the increases were made necessary, Howard said, because of added improvements in the departments. The increase in the assessor's office is due to the 1939 quadrennial real estate assessment to be made this year.



Comparison of proposed 1939 county budget with budgets of the preceding nine years.

Nursing Service Hike Denied.

The proposed budget does not provide for any increase in salaries or personnel of the Cook County Nursing school. Recently directors of the school, which supplies nursing service to the County hospital, had asked the finance committee for an additional $200,000 for 70 new employés and pay raises.

The county highway fund budget calling for the appropriation of $3,759,000, an increase of $172,000 over last year, also was presented to the board for adoption.

Commissioner Maurice F. Kavanagh, chairman of the finance committee, said there will be sufficient revenue to provide for the budget expenditures. Among the assets, he said, is an anticipated $6,500,000 in interest on delinquent taxes due the county.

C. S. DEWEY TELLS PROMISE OF AID FOR JEWISH PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Charles S. Dewey of Chicago tonight told a meeting of government officials and banking experts at the Brookings Institution that he has received assurance of active support from high officials in the capital for his plan of an international exchange bank to aid in the resettlement of Jewish refugees.

Dewey's plan calls for an immediate resumption by the European powers of some payments on their defaulted war debts to the American treasury. The funds would be loaned through a projected new international bank, to help establish minority refugees in new homes.

Dewey was an assistant secretary of the treasury during the Coolidge administration and later financial adviser to the government of Poland. Walter Lichtenstein, vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago, and William J. Kelly president of the Economic Society of Chicago were among those attending the meeting.

GUN OWNER HELD FOR DEATH TRUNK SHOOTING QUIZ

Daniel C. Power, a fur trapper, whose loaded pistol went off in a trunk at the Union station Thursday night and killed Hugh Currie, a baggageman, was held by Des Plaines street police yesterday. Power, who is from La Fayette in Stark county, will be taken to the inquest this morning.

Power had been summoned to the bedside of his sick mother, Mrs. Lillian Young of 2128 Bissell street. Arriving in Chicago, he did not wait for his trunk at the station, but hurried to his mother's home, he told police. The gun went off when the trunk fell to the ground as Currie handled it.

Power told police he bought the .22 caliber pistol two years ago to use in killing small animals caught in his traps. He said he usually kept it unloaded. Currie was 60 years old and lived at 3544 Ogden avenue.

A. F. OF L. URGES TWO MORE MEN ON LABOR BOARD

Miami, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—In a strategic move to change the personnel of the national labor relations board the American Federation of Labor executive council disclosed today it would ask congress to replace the present three man agency with a five member board.

President William Green said the request would go to congress as an amendment to the Wagner act. It will be tacked on to the series of amendments the A. F. of L. already has proposed for extensive revision of the board's powers.

Its enactment, Green said, would open the way for a complete reorganization of the agency whose administration of the labor act has brought charges from the A. F. of L. that it is biased in favor of the rival C. I. O. Green declared a five man board would speed up the handling of labor disputes.

WOMAN DRIVER WINS SUIT OVER DEATH OF BOY

A jury yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in favor of Mrs. Caroline Dillon, 30 years old, 1428 Amy avenue, Whiting, Ind., in a $10,000 damage suft growing out of the death of a little boy.

The boy, John Chlevenko Jr., 12, of 7715 Avalon avenue, was fatally injured by Mrs. Dillon's car on July 13, 1936. His parents sued her for $10,000. The case was tried before Judge Paul McWilliams of Litchfield, sitting in the Superior court. Shortly after the trial started Mrs. Chlevenko slapped Mrs. Dillon on the face and fainted.

Mrs. Chlevenko and Mrs. Dillon were in court when the verdict in the latter's favor was returned. Mrs. Chlevenko, expressing disappointment, remarked: "There were seven unmarried men serving on that jury and not one of them could know how I feel over the death of my son."

Star Asks Divorce

JOAN CRAWFORD.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Joan Crawford, film star, filed suit here today for a divorce from Franchot Tone, also of the movies. The complaint asserts the pair have signed a property settlement of which it asks court approval.

Charging mental cruelty, Miss Crawford asserts that for some time past Tone has treated her in an inhuman manner and caused her great mental suffering and distress. Although he knew before their marriage at Fort Lee, N. J., on Aug. 11, 1935, that her picture duties demanded that she spend long hours daily at the studio and required her to study her film parts during the evenings, Tone insisted on many occasions that she go out with him socially, the complaint recites.

The couple separated last July 20, the complaint says. Miss Crawford formerly was the wife of Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Tone had not been previously married.

BROADWAY PLAY IN FILM BANNED BY N. Y. CENSOR

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Warner Brothers' film version of "Yes, My Darling Daughter" has been banned by the New York state board of censors, the film company announced today. An appeal has been made to the state board of regents. The film is an adaptation of the Mark Reed play produced on Broadway in 1937. The application for an exhibition license was denied under a section of the education law banning films classed as obscene, indecent, immoral, inhuman, sacrilegious, or tending to corrupt morals or incite to crime.

NIGHT CLUB BOY GETS OUT WARANT FOR RUDY VALLEE

Miami, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Rudy Vallee, the orchestra leader and radio singer, was charged with assault and battery today in a warant sworn out by Dillard Rodney Bordon, 17 years old, a busboy at a night club where Vallee appeared last week.

Bordon, who obtained the warant from Justice of the Peace Thomas S. Ferguson, said Vallee struck him after the busboy touched the singer with a tray backstage last Saturday night.

Vallee, now in New York, denied he struck the boy and told friends here he merely gave Bordon a "verbal rebuke for carelessness" after the latter pushed several greasy trays against his back, leaving marks. Vallee said he pulled the trays from Bordon's hands.

The warant was held for Vallee's expected return here.

BRIDE'S BLOWS FAIL TO WIN HER MATE A DIVORCE

Joseph Bergl told Judge Oscar F. Nelson yesterday that he'd like a divorce from his bride, Claire, because she hit him with an ash tray Christmas eve, struck him with a lamp New Year's eve and punched him with her fists a week later.

The judge shook his head, however, and denied the divorce. The acts of cruelty didn't hurt Bergl very much, he ruled. And besides, the divorce was agreed upon—as Bergl admitted. "If every couple rushed into divorce courts every time they exchanged slaps and words on Christmas and New Year's eves we'd be doing nothing but hearing divorce cases," said the judge.

Bergl, a salesman living at the Croydon hotel, said he lived with his wife only two weeks. He charged, in addition to cruelty, that she drank continuously and stayed away from home all one night.

CHICAGO ENJOYS 25 HOURS WITH NO AUTO DEATH

In spite of rain, ice, and generally bad conditions for motorists and pedestrians, Chicago and Cook county had gone twenty-five hours at midnight without a trafic fatality. The last fatality occurred at 11 p. m. Thursday. Police said the cessation of automobile killings probably was due to more care by both drivers and pedestrians because of street conditions.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 110 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 89 were killed in Chicago, where 2,071 were injured in the same period.

MERCURY DROPS 45 DEGREES AND HEADS FOR ZERO

Hours ahead of schedule, a cold wave arrived yesterday, tumbling the temperature from 53 degrees at 11:30 p. m. Thursday to an official 8 degrees at noon. Forecaster H. A. Downs said he feared the mercury would fall to zero by this morning and warned that subzero readings might be expected in the suburbs. He predicted some moderation for today.

But Chicago's lucky. Chester, Mont., had an unofficial temperature yesterday of 54 below zero. At Aberdeen, S. D., it was 20 below. There were snow drifts twelve feet high at Mankato, Min.

PIUS XI.

One of his biographers, the Englishman Philip Hughes, has said of Pius XI. that it is certainly safe to say that his pontificate will stand out as among the most important of the last three hundred years.

"There is not," says Mr. Hughes, "about the action of Pius XI. that classic brilliance which distinguished Leo XIII., but as ruler of the universal church Leo alone of all the popes since Innocent XI. [1676-1689] is in the same class with him. The reign of Pius XI. has been filled with events and charged with papal initiative." And Mr. Hughes asserts that not "since the days when the monastic popes of the Hildebrandine reformation toured Europe to make their policies known and secure their execution has the ordinary Catholic of the rank and file been in such close, continuous contact with the mind of the reigning pope. Pius XI. has taken the whole church into his confidence. He has spoken to it month by month, thought aloud for its benefit, one may say, and through nearly sixteen years he has displayed an interest in all that touches the life of every one of his children that is new in its obvious warm-heartedness. When we consider the initiative, the courageous readiness to experiment, the immense activity, and vigorous personal action manifested in the whole life of the church and remember that all this is, in the main, a constructional activity we run little risk in suggesting that the verdict of history will place Pius XI. among the greatest of his predecessors."

In this opinion Mr. Hughes finds that the pontificate of Pius XI. will mark a "definite turning point in the development of Catholicism, and the main reason for the change will be his throwing open to the laity all that field of activity to which their vocation as Catholics entitles and, indeed, obliges them."

Whatever place is assigned Pius XI. in the perspective of history, his own contemporaries, both Catholic and non-Catholic, are conscious of a loss which does not wait upon any judgment of his accomplishments as a statesman or as the head of a religious order numbering 350 million of the human race. The human quality of Pius XI. has reached and appealed to his fellow men regardless of religious affiliation. It has been heartening amidst the violence, intolerance, and persecution which have cast so black a shadow over our time that so great an influence as that of the Roman pontiff should proceed from so benign a personality. The non-Catholic world has been impressed with the quality of the man, his kindliness, his warm response to the tribulations which afflict humanity, his grasp of the problems with which individuals and peoples and governments are struggling.

The pontificate of Pius XI. has passed through some of the most critical years of our civilization. It has had to deal with some of the most difficult and dangerous changes in the conditions and relations of men and nations. In all the nations in which the Catholic church has great memberships, except the United States, it has been gravely involved and imperiled. Few popes have had more momentous decisions to make than Pius XI. or more sorrows and cares to bear, and non-Catholics as well as Catholics have felt for him a respect and sympathy which transcend religious differences and were a tribute and response to his own humanity.

ANOTHER BLOOD PURGE.

New Zealand is a long way from America and perhaps for that reason we can view it more objectively than we can nations closer to us. New Zealand has a Socialist government. The trend of its policy was discussed with admirable clarity by Mr. Quentin Pope in a dispatch published on the editorial page for Jan. 29.

It was Mr. Pope's thesis, supported by a mass of supporting evidence, that Socialist New Zealand is pursuing the line laid down by Nazi Germany. Control of money and credit has already been instituted, along with management of imports and exports. Freedom of criticism is threatened, as illustrated by the proposal of the prime minister to dismiss the governor of the New Zealand reserve bank for expressing disapproval of the government's spending policies. Prime Minister Savage has expressed his belief in the Nazi system of conducting international trade, which he described as "the modern method." Similarly, New Zealand is no less determined than Germany to become self-sufficing, and in pursuit of this goal is giving encouragement to home manufactures even though it is obvious that in so restricted a market and without a varied list of raw materials costs must be disproportionately high. Labor is being regimented and the return on private capital is being held down to 4 per cent as a sort of administrative fee, much as in Nazi Germany.

From all of this it is apparent that New Zealand is well advanced on the totalitarian road. It is so far committed to this scheme that the stage of the blood purge may not be far removed, for economic and psychological forces have been released which may be expected to produce their usual results.

The economic program will bog down. The men in power will hesitate to retreat, for to do so would amount to a confession of incompetence. They will hesitate, also, to advance further on the road to autarchy for fear of further disruption of the economy. There will be growing discontent in the country. The extremists within the Socialist ranks will threaten to seize power or, at any rate, will be suspected amid so much unrest of making the attempt, and for practical purposes this will amount to the same thing. The answer will be blood purges or concentration camps, or both.

That is the prospect which confronts New Zealand and every other country which adopts the totalitarian theory. The régimes in Russia, Italy, and Germany have survived thus far only by grace of terror and repression. New Zealand is headed in the same direction, and the fact that it calls its ruling party Socialist rather than communist, Fascist, or Nazi can be discounted as of no real importance. It might call itself Democratic without changing the underlying facts and forces.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S FIGHT WITH CONGRESS.

Mr. Roosevelt's fight with congress may indicate a willful temper or a new plan of action. He may intend to break with his party which he failed to purge. He may be seeking the third term, not from the next Democratic national convention but from a coalition led by John L. Lewis, Mayor La Guardia, Harry Hopkins, Earl Browder, and other left wingers, radicals, collectivists, and communists.

In anticipation of a series of defeats in congress he may have decided upon an open break which will enable him to say that his enemies have captured the legislative branch and that he, as the popular champion, is through with it. Subsequent events will reveal the purpose. The surmise that he is provoking a quarrel as a curtain raiser for the new party of revolution may be soon verified.

Mr. Roosevelt is politician enough to know that the odds are against an executive who steps into the ring in the last half of his second term and starts a fight with congress. There is nothing out of precedent in that, but the executive has never won. Mr. Roosevelt, knowing it, is either too hot headed to care or he wants the battle in furtherance of his personal ambitions. He has not lost an opportunity since congress began its session to make enemies. He has tried by ridicule and abuse. He has tested the patience of senators by his nominations to office. He has waved the red flag of revolution in their faces. He has gone over their heads in appointment of men hostile to them.

His treatment of the members of the senate military affairs committee, to whom he confided the details of his foreign policy under pledge of secrecy, was resented. He forced his confidences on them, told them things they thought the country ought to know and later scolded them as gossip mongers. He is bound to have a fight.

Mr. Roosevelt has surrounded himself intimately with men from whom he expects to hear nothing but yes. He is long past the time of self-scrutiny and has become, month by month, less tolerant of opposition and less available for suggestion and advice. It is fortunate that he is in no way disposed to carry out his program by conciliation and by political trading. If he were using the celebrated White House charm he might be a great deal more dangerous than he can be with a club in each hand, instantly attacking the person who disagrees with him.

Congress as an institution has met chief executives on that ground many times. It knows the precise period in which he becomes vulnerable and begins to lose the compelling powers of his office. If Mr. Roosevelt had been able to keep a docile congress, one which would defer to his judgment and to its own self-interest, and sacrifice national welfare for political profit, the plight of the country would be infinitly more precarious than it will be if a determined legislative body is provoked by the White House attitude into declaring its independence and doing what it thinks best in spite of all the pressure brought to bear on it.

Mr. Roosevelt's return to the demand for an increased WPA appropriation is further evidence of his determination to have his will obeyed or force a break with his party.

The explanation of Mr. Roosevelt's new line of conduct is probably to be found in the third party, the third term, and four more years of the Roosevelt revolution.

AVIATION ALARUM.

The American public is well aware that the government wants huge appropriations for military aviation. But that is about all it knows. There has been no case made for enormous expenditures on aviation as an element of defense. The exaggerated claims for aerial bombing are not supported by available and reliable information. They have had the aid of sensational fiction and the advocacy of interested parties. Evidence from Spain and from China does not support publicity spread for the purpose of inflaming feeling in America and affecting our foreign policy.

There should be expert and thoroughly disinterested demonstration of the effectiveness of bombing. We should know what the army and navy know about foreign aviation. At the present time the military aviation excitement is largely in the racket stage. The American people will support a defense establishment based on actualities, but they will resent an attempt to jitter them into unnecessary sacrifice for political purposes which they do not approve and indeed which they have little knowledge of.

Editorial of the Day

PLUS WHITE AND BLUE.

[Washington Post.]

Even as a leopard cannot change his spots, so a communist does not cease being a Red by adding white and blue to his political habiliments. But the change of costume is none the less amusing.

Not many years ago all communists took the position that any expansion of America's defense forces reflected a capitalist conspiracy instigated by munitions makers or international bankers and definitly directed against the soviet union. Now no one is more anathema to the Reds than one who argues that the United States need not doubt its military, naval, and air establishment over night.

One such unfortunate individual is now castigated by the Daily Worker, a sprightly communist organ, as having "joined the Fascist chorus of assault on President Roosevelt's program of national defense against the Fascist war menace." No navy leaguer of former days, no big army man, is now so enthusiastic an advocate of defense—or so vehement a name caller of those who have their doubts of the President's program—as our professional Reds.

They who once regarded patriotism as a bourgeois aberration now shout their love of country from every rooftop. But is still remains obvious that the country they are most concerned about is not the United States of America, but the U. S. S. R.

LINCOLN'S UNOPENED TRUNK.

This is the Lincoln week-end, marking the 130th birthday of the man who captained this republic through its most dangerous storm. The emotional aspects of the anniversary are placed in the able hands of the column's poets, whose verses are worthy of the occasion. Each year brings its fresh contribution to Lincolniana, but any revision of the familiar story must wait until 1947, when a trunkful of documents now under seal in the library of congress will be opened for the use of historians.

Nicholas Murray Butler tells this story in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post. He found Robert Todd Lincoln, whose attitude toward family lore was generally peculiar, on the point of burning those papers because he believed that they dealt with matters which should not be published. Butler argued the Emancipator's son out of this attitude, and deposit in the library of congress until 1947, when Robert Todd knew that he would be dead, was agreed upon as a compromise. In eight more years, therefore, we will know something new about Lincoln.

In the meantime, here is an unpublished bit, which comes as a contribution from Ottawa, Ill.:

Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas came before the northern grand division of the state Supreme court in Ottawa, in June, 1851, as opposing attorneys in a law case. Lincoln lost. Then the three justices who made up the court gave both attorneys, as well as Stephen T. Logan, associated with Douglas in the case, a stiff scolding, in plain and unvarnished words, for their slipshod methods of putting the case before the court. Lincoln received the bulk of the censure, for the justices said that if all the records in the case had been presented they might have rendered a different decision. C. C. Tisler.

WHERE LINCOLN LIVED.

High above the streets with thronging cars,
Lincoln's house, dramatic, white, serene:
Enter, and eighty years now drop their bars;
Life in the fifties, formal, plain, is seen.

Parlors; whatnot, drapes, old chairs and chests,
Pier-glass that held young Mary Todd as bride;
Dining-room with china, glass, her best;
Portraits that reflect a family pride.

Rockers stand in the pleasant sitting-room
Where the family circle gathered each day,
Little dreaming their father's tragic doom—
Robert, Tad, and Willie, young and gay.

More impressive far than monument;
Grand memorial, this simple shrine.
Here we see great Lincoln at home, unbent,
Find him, as ever, modest, noble, fine.

Old Houses Breed Strange Tales.

That old house at Grand and Narragansett avenues [2-8-'39], about which melodramatic tales are being told, is no myth to me. My mother was born there; I have spent many happy days there.

Daniel and Henrietta Booth, my mother's parents, settled there in 1843, acquired a farm of 800 acres, and lived there until their deaths. My grandfather held various public offices, and was a member of the state legislature for years.

The red brick house, now demolished, was built in 1869 or 1870, to take the place of the original frame structure. When my grandfather Booth died in 1896, the homestead and several acres were left to the youngest son, Charles, who sold it to the Carey Brick company about twenty years ago.

It was a grand old home. Guiteau never lived there, nor was it a refuge for car barn bandits, anarchists, and other villainous creatures, according to the myth. After it left the Booth family it did harbor an undesirable lot of tenants, but none as bad as rumored. Grace Handley Childs.

FOR DARWIN'S BIRTHDAY.

(Abraham Lincoln and Charles Darwin were born on the same day of the same year.)

To knowledge there's no more moot contribution
Than Darwin's conception of man's evolution.
How could he have named as the forbears of man
These inglorious brutes of the simian clan?
At whatever remove, does man's origin trace
To this anthropoid ancestry, stupid and base?
In me, there is no single trait of the ape,
No sinister link beyond hope of escape;
One question alone I am bound to impose:
Why do I like to play with my toes?

A New Kind of Bund.

The Society for the Perpetuation of the Memory of Captain George Wellington Streeter thinks it more than passing strange that you omitted from your suggested "Chicago Scenes for Movies" [1-30-'39] mention of the last resting place of that famed figure of Chicago's lake front, Capt. George Wellington Streeter. He lies in an unmarked grave in Graceland cemetery, far from his beloved "Deestrict."

Only the wind that blows and the waves that mourn sing of his story, of the days when his "district of Lake Michigan" raised an army to resist a mass attack by 200 Chicago policemen, of midnight raids forestalled by "Ma" Streeter's judicious application of scalding water, of long days in court and jail, and all the rest of the Streeterville saga now become legend.

GOOD BLOOD FOR CHILDREN.

PHYSICIANS are coming to realize that deficiencies in the diet are responsible for many manifestations of anemia. In fact, there is now general agreement that some types of this malady are nutritional in origin. Every substance formed in the alimentary tract from foods may play a part in the development of the red cells. In fact, the coloring matter [hemoglobin] requires certain of these products, plus iron, for its formation.

The essential rôle of vitamins is clear although it was not recognized until recently that a lack of B is likely to result in an illness of rather severe grade. It is interesting to note also what happens when C is missing. Changes in the blood go hand in hand with other symptoms of scurvy, while bleeding from the gums contributes to the loss of hemoglobin. But this is not the primary effect. There is an actual reduction in special cell elements and, in consequence, the power of the circulation to carry out its job is markedly impaired. In other words, there is no more significant factor than that the system shall not only receive an adequate supply of minerals and vitamins but that they shall be absorbed as such. As we can well understand, little could be accomplished through feeding extra doses of iron unless all the other nutritional components were present. It would be far worse than bread without butter.

This leads to the inference that intestinal infections or upsets—inasmuch as they disturb assimilation—cannot fail to affect the circulating fluid. As we know full well, if there is too little hydrochuoric acid in the stomach, foodstuffs are improperly or inadequately burned. If there is an occasional diarrhea or more frequent stools than usual the body may be losing just those products which are demanded to keep the blood in good tone. Not only must we pay attention to digestion, therefore, but to what occurs after the edibles have been dissolved. Do they become a part of "us" as they should, or are they wasted because of some irritation within the intestinal tube?

While iron is absolutely necessary it is subjected to many influences. When a baby is born enough of this material is stored in the liver and the spleen to last for five or six months. This is provided for because mother's or cow's milk furnishes but a relatively small quantity. Premature infants, however, may not have their full quota and steps must be taken to augment the xisting total if these tiny bits of humanity are to survive.

How can iron be administered? In the first place, salts should be given in an easily oxidizable form and must not be combined with phosphorus because iron phosphate is thrown off with the excretions. In the presense of diarrhea or any intestinal infection there is no use trying to persuade the mucous lining of the bowel to take up the mineral. Recourse must then be had to the injection of some form, such as the gluconate or the colloidal hydroxide. Some time ago it was thought that copper should be added to each dose because it aided or assisted its retention. This has not been borne out by experience although the rate of assimilation is evidently speeded up.

We need not wonder then that those physicians who devote themselves to the care of infants and young children have problems equally as intricate as those which involve the parents. None of us can minimize the importance of a good start in life, and with blood that is below a normal standard we cannot expect babies to be active, alert, to grow, and to gain weight as they should.

VEGETABLES FOR BABIES.

F. L. writes: My 1½ year old baby has been fed on canned baby vegetables since the age of 4 months. Last week I changed to fresh vegetables and he developed diarrhea. Should he not be able to eat fresh vegetables at this age?

REPLY.

Diarrhea may result from a sudden change in food. We suggest that you make the transition gradually from strained to fresh vegetables. We have a leaflet on feeding children between the ages of 1 and 2 years, which you may secure by sending a stamped, addressed envelope.

TUMOR ON WRIST.

B. H. writes: What should be done about a small growth on the wrist the size of a pea?

REPLY.

Size, position, rate of growth, and the character of the tumor are factors which determine whether or not removal is advised. There are many harmless protuberances in this area.

DOES NO HARM.

B. P. writes: Every night I take a bath in a warm solution of Epsom salts. I have high blood pressure. Is this a harmful practice?

REPLY.

Taking warm baths does no harm in high blood pressure. The effect of the Epsom salts is to subtract water from the tissues.

INSURANCE POLICY.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have in my possession a "paid up" policy of an aunt. The beneficiary was her husband. This aunt passed away on Dec. 6, 1938, in the insane asylum.

1. Her husband died in August, 1934. Her next relative was her sister [my mother], who died in July, 1937. This leaves me her only relative. I also have her will, made out years ago, making me administrator of her estate.

Have written to this insurance company about this policy and received an answer requesting an affidavit of her death, also the policy and [2] a certified copy of the one who was appointed administrator. How should I go about getting these papers? E. A. J.

1. It seems probable that the policy is so worded that the insurance would be payable to the estate of the insured. This would mean that the company could insist on probate.

2. We would interpret this as insistence on probate. We advise you to employ an attorney for these proceedings and the attorney so employed will be in a better position to answer your other questions than we can. CHICAGO LAW REFERENCE.

ANDY AMONG THE HOBOS.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—There is one subject upon which I feel specially qualified to speak and that is the fortunes of Andy Gump.

I have followed this feature religiously for twenty odd years, never missing a day except that time I missed it to pay an election bet. Instead of following up many comic strips, I determined to concentrate on this one and see it through to the finish. The map of Europe has been remade and much else has happened on the front page of The Tribune, such as the rise and wane of the New Deal, and even the arrival of the Chicago subway, and the upcoming of Joe Louis, and yet, through it all, I have stuck faithfully to the daily perusal of the Gump strip. I'll take my hat off to any other person you can find who has made an equal record.

And now, out of this vast experience, I rise to call your attention to the fact, obvious to me, that this tramp episode of Andy's is so largely out of character that your public can't take it for long. It looks as if it had dug in for the winter. It begins to introduce the mill run of tramp characters, so much done in low grade comic strips, who have nothing much in their lives to qualify them to rank along with the great family epic of the Gumps.

While a few days of having Andy bum around with tramps may be all right for a change, as showing where his braggadocio might land him, too much of it is too much of it, and I don't mean maybe. Too much of it and even I quit reading the strip. It will undermine and dissipate the widespread and deep-rooted interest of many, which has made the Gump strip a very great asset in its field.

So I say, close up this tramp episode as soon as possible consistent with good comic strip sequence and get Andy "back to normalcy," or whatever it was that he had. Get him back among people we know, along with Uncle Bim, whom everybody loves, and let Andy strut his stuff among them as of yore. I assume, of course, that your staf have intended eventually to bring him back, but it begins to look as if they had lost the big vision of Andy in his element. Perhaps a prod or two from the editorial poker will not be amiss. Don't let us down, will you? W. W.

WHERE WILL THE MONEY COME FROM?

Oaklawn, Ill., Feb. 7.—Why are the widows of railroad men, who have served the railroads for twenty years or more, denied pension rights? Widows of the police and fire department receive pensions, and I see no reason why the widows of men who have served the railroads should be denied the right, inasmuch as all employés pay into a pension fund.

I know of cases where men served different roads for twenty-five to thirty years and passed away before retirement age, whose widows are in dire need of assistance. The closing of banks and stock market collapse have taken their toll among railroad workers, and I see no reason why these women should not receive assistance. D. J. Kelliher.

CLEARING THE STREETS.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Every time it snows three inches or more in the loop this town is a big laugh to me. Is there no one in the city hall clever enough to rig up a few oil heated trucks to melt the snow on the streets into the sewer? Constructive.

PREPOSTEROUS.

Westmont, Ill., Feb. 8.—Parrish's comparison of the New Deal's method of dealing with farmers to the soviet government's method is preposterous. Any grade school pupil knows that our government has always used farm land at various times for different purposes, the building of forts, gaming preserves, and, as in the present case, the building of dams to create electrical power. But—the government has always paid for the land it takes over, and paid well. I will wager this is not the case in Russia. Also, I might say, if the governments of Russia and America were as similar as your Mr. Parrish depicts, he would at least be in some concentration camp today for daring to depict such a scene. And I would not dare to write this letter of criticism. R. Kennedy.

THE CRAB ORCHARD OUTRAGE.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I am greatly stirred up over the government's attempted seizure of lands in southern Illinois. I think it is as dastardly as the inhuman treatment of the Jewish people in other nations.

Can't we start something and send letters and telegrams to our senators and the President to discontinue this plan? Who needs a lake down there? Let these people live and take care of themselves and their families. Your cartoon in this morning's paper was good. What can we do to help these farmers?

Maude Greeman.

AMERICAN KULAKS.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I want to congratulate you upon the excellent work of Cartoonist Parrish. His picture this morning, "It Is Happening Here!" rings the bell. Think of the United States government driving hundreds of families from their homes in southern Illinois, just as the soviets drove the kulaks from their farms in Russia. More power to Parrish's pen. John R. Fox.

SOME GOOD IN ALL THINGS.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—The writer, a professional instructor of correct speech, has discovered an interesting method of increasing students' interest in and perception of their subject.

At every lesson certain radio serials on dramatic shows are selected. Students are asked to listen carefully to these selections and note all the unintentional mispronunciations made by the script readers participating.

Many friends also are doing this as recreation in the evenings.

The errors are sometimes so frequent and humorous as to completely overshadow any narrative interest.

Others might also enjoy this pastime. Teacher.

TO END THE DEPRESSION.

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 7.—It looks as if the President thinks we are all boobs. If the billions and billions of dollars which the New Deal has spent and squandered to end the depression and buy votes in the last six years did not do the trick, this 150 million they took away from him won't save us. He's just a spoiled child. If you don't let him have his own way he pouts. What all the country today is too much Roosevelt. Just give him a battleship or two and send him on a fishing trip and give him instructions to stay away until he is sent for and I think the depression will soon be over. E. C. Burks.

FROM ALD. KADOW.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—To set at rest any fears which "Worried Mother" may have pertaining to lack of traffic police protection for youngsters at the intersection of North Western avenue, West Diversey avenue, and North Elston avenue, I wish to advise that an officer has been and is at present stationed at this location.

And, may I also advise it has never been my intention to remain secluded? The neighbors know me and the Chicago telephone directory has my name listed three times. Z. H. Kadow.

Alderman, 33d Ward.

WORTH LOOKING INTO.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—I just returned from a trip through Illinois that took me just about the entire length of the state.

With the exception of a few brick structures every farm house I saw was white and every barn red. I wonder what the reason for this uniform color scheme is. Is it possible that it has something to do with patriotism? You know, red barns, white houses, and blue farmers. Curious.

DEALS AND NEW DEALS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—I notice that immediately after Jimmie got half the insurance on the planes to be engaged in European flights England gave special permission for them to start service.

Jimmie gets a good fee. The Pan-American gets the start on the English air lines, and European service begins. Good deal all around. Misdeal.

THE BENDING OF THE TWIG.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Where did he learn to put England ahead of America? Groton and Harvard!

OBEYING ORDERS.

Wheaton, Ill., Feb. 6.—They talk of impeaching Mme. Perkins. Why pick on her? She simply obeyed orders from higher up. H. P. Rublom.

WPA FRAUD CASE JURY ACQUITS 14; DISAGREES ON 11

New Mexico Prosecutor Asks Quick Retrial.

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A government prosecutor announced this afternoon that he would seek an immediate retrial of eleven persons on whom a federal court jury failed to reach an agreement in New Mexico's WPA scandal. The verdict was returned earlier today.

The jury acquitted fourteen others in the mass trial of persons charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the United States by using the state's WPA for political purposes.

After deliberating fourteen hours the jury of small ranch owners and business men reported the acquittals to Federal Judge Colin Neblett and said it was hopelessly deadlocked on the remaining eleven.

Will Ask Early Date.

United States District Attorney Everett Grantham said he would ask the court to set an early date for the retrial of the eleven. Richard P. Shanahan, special assistant government prosecutor from Chicago, echoed Grantham's assertion that the eleven would be tried again on the charges.

Among those acquitted were three of the four relatives of United States Senator Dennis Chavez who were on trial. The three were the senator's sister, Mrs. Anita Tafoya, his nephew, Salamon Tafoya, and his cousin, Salamon Chavez.

The others acquitted were Mrs. J. A. Werner and Mariano Werner, wife and brother of the Albuquerque postmaster, and nine minor WPA supervisors.

Disagree on Son-in-law.

The jury was unable to agree on the guilt or innocence of the senator's son-in-law, Stanley W. P. Miller, who was ousted as an assistant United States district attorney following his indictment.

Government witnesses testified that WPA laborers earning $48 a month were forced to make contributions to the Chavez Democratic faction in its fight with former Gov. Clyde Tingley for political control of the state.

A federal grand jury indicted 72 persons last Oct. 20 in its investigation of charges that the New Mexico WPA was rife with graft and corruption. Twenty-two persons were discharged without being brought to trial and the remaining 25 are scheduled for trial later.

PASTOR PLANTS GOOD SEED; PAYS DEBT OF CHURCH

A year ago the Rev. Karl W. G. Hiller, pastor of the Corwith, Ia., Methodist church, had an idea. With the dividend from that idea the Rev. Hiller yesterday was preparing to pay off the remaining mortgage on the church property.

The Corwith pastor won a prize of a bag of seed corn. He decided to plant the corn and use the money made on the operation to finance his church work. He prevailed upon farmer members of his congregation to set aside one acre each of corn land, the yield of which was to be donated to the church.

The idea was taken up by the congregation of St. Mary's Catholic church in Corwith. Farmers of the two congregations planted 218 acres of corn for the benefit of the churches, the seed being provided by a Corwith seed dealer.

Chicago brokers reported yesterday that they had sold 3,000 bushels of corn for the Rev. Mr. Hiller's church. The grain brought an average of 49¾ cents a bushel, or a total of $1,481.25. This amount, it was learned, will be used to pay off the remaining mortgage on the church building.

HOPE HAMPTON'S HUSBAND FINED ON GUN CHARGE

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Jules Brulatour, 68 years old, wealthy husband of Hope Hampton, who shot himself Jan. 22, today was fined $500 for illegal possession of a gun. The mystery of how he was shot went unsolved.

With Attorney Max Steuer at his side and with prominent friends waiting to testify for him, the film financier listened with downcast eyes as Justice Frederick Hackenburg of Special Sessions court said he favored a jail sentence.

But Presiding Justice Alfred J. Hofmann and Justice George B. De Luca voted for the fine. Brulatour paid it and went to his home. In announcing the sentence Justice Hofmann said that the fine was in excess of the usual one for such a charge.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

Gertrude Stein Goes in for Art for Art

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

"Picasso," by Gertrude Stein. [Scribners, $3.] Published Monday.

In a slim little 50 page volume with a bright coral cover and lettering in blue Gertrude Stein tells the story of one of the most sensational modern painters of our day. It is, of course, peculiarly appropriate that Miss Stein, who stands for a new departure in writing, should discuss Picasso, who is an image breaker in art. She speaks from the knowledge of him gained in a friendship of many years.

Starting with an opinion of painting in the 19th century, she goes on to describe the youthful Picasso, who went to Paris from Spain in 1900. Something of his background is told, and of his early years in Barcelona. His career as an artist is divided into periods: the rose period, the blue period, the green period, the period of cubism, etc.

In explaining some of his most extraordinary paintings Miss Stein says: "The character, the vision of Picasso is like himself, it is Spanish and he does not see reality as all the world sees it, so that he alone among the painters did not have the problem of expressing the truths that all the world can see, but the truths that he alone can see, and that is not the world the world recognizes as the world."

She explains that he saw everything not with the eyes of the 19th century but with the eyes of the 20th, and that he is contemporary with the things he has painted. He wanted to achieve a completely fresh point of view. When he painted a face or a head he wanted to paint as if he were actually seeing it for the first time.

Miss Stein's writing in this little volume is comparatively easy to follow. There are not many "a rose is a rose is a rose" sentences. The pages sparkle with new ideas and glow with her tremendous enthusiasm for Picasso's work. There are 61 illustrations of Picasso paintings and drawings, many of them in color, including his famous portrait of Miss Stein done in 1906.

Australian Background

"Salute to Freedom," by Eric Lowe. [Reynal & Hitchcock, $2.50.] Published yesterday.

Comparatively few novels have been written with an Australian background, the locale of this out size book of 615 pages. The vastness of this great southern continent, the home of the author, dominates this narrative about Robin Stewart, his life, and his pursuit of contentment. Land measured by the tens of thousands of acres, sheep and cattle by the thousands, horses by the hundreds, and the great wealth of shrewd and courageous pioneers form an unusual background for the tale.

As a boy at the beginning of the century, before railroads had penetrated the vast grazing lands west of Sydney, Robin lived in a successful cattle "station" with his mother and father, Mary and Donald Stewart. Here his attachment to the land was foremost in his life, but his character, like his Uncle Brand's, had also a strong undercurrent of restlessness, expressed in an eternal search for an elusive goal, freedom, and in questioning the meaning of life, death, happiness, and other imponderables.

In his marriage to Myrna and in acquiring a great selection of land Robin thought he had attained happiness. His wife failed to share his love of the land, however, and could not ride with him over his huge domain.

The world war and its attending economic upheaval, the breaking up of the large estates, and the coming of the railroads and automobiles, together with the influx of the small landowner and his own marital unhappiness, brought an emotional crisis to Robin's life. In Nancy McBride he found temporary solace and peace. The other women in his life—his mother, Clare Schreiber, the wife of a tenant farmer, and Helen, a writer—all gave him a remarkable devotion which his restlessness did not justify.

The author presents a great variety of characters which, with his lavish use of dramatic situations, hold the reader enthralled.

Appealing First Novel

"Lucien," by Vivian Parsons. [Dodd Mead, $2.50.] Published Tuesday.

This story, the winner of the $1,000 Avery Hopwood novel competition at the University of Michigan, is a first book, but it is written with the maturity of a seasoned author. It is an appealing, poignant tale of the life of a French Canadian girl, Lucien Charbonneau, who was brought up on a farm near Trois Rivières. There is the same purity and beauty about her that endeared Maria Chapdelaine to thousands of readers everywhere.

In childhood she forms an attachment for blond young Pierre Le Droit which is to become the mainspring of her entire life. Forced by her father to marry a man she does not love, she remains true in her heart to Pierre. Her story is the story of a woman who endures all the blows of fate: bitterness, cruelty, loneliness, unhappiness, who is willing to suffer long and in silence, but who will not give up her dream, her memories of her first love.

"Lucien" is the skilfully drawn, vividly colored portrait of a woman this reader will long remember.

Doctor's Case Histories.

In "Body Menders" [Stokes, $2.75], James Harpole continues his intimate case histories in the same style as "Leaves from a Surgeon's Case Book."

Thrills and Chills Punctuate Group of Latest Mysteries

"Murder to Hounds," by Edward Acheson. [Harcourt Brace, $2.]

"The Importance of Being Murdered," by Carolyn Wells. [Lippincott, $2.]

"Murder to Hounds," is a mystery story as exciting as the hunt, unusual in its setting, and written with great competence. The apparent kidnaping of William Madden, a wealthy Virginia politician, from his estate brings to the fox hunt belt Middleton Daryl, a newspaper foreign correspondent, and his friend, Capt. Leigh Dowell-Blakeley, erstwhile British agent, who knows a thing or two about murders and practically everything else. Capt. Blakeley is a genius in each of his many fields, and you'll like his deft sleuthing style. The book also has romance and a first rate short course in slang.

Carolyn Wells, regarded in some parts as the mistress of mystery, is as ingenious as ever in her newest book and Detective Fleming Stone is the same dashing, debonaire deductor. The plot is undeniably clever, the action swift, and the setting the rarefied social atmosphere in which Fleming functions best. The conversation, unfortunately, is a bit stuffy in too many places, but judicious plotting successfully carries the load.

Gripping Pair of Chillers

"The Big Sleep," by Raymond Chandler. [Knopf, $2.] Published Monday.

"Murder for Christmas," by Agatha Christie. [Dodd Mead, $2.] Published Tuesday.

The first of these two new mysteries is a high powered, quick tempoed tale of crime in Hollywood. The private detective who solves the several snarls that make up the plot is a likable chap with a keen sense of the ironic. Because he feels sorry for the old millionaire who hires him he puts up with an awful lot from his two wild daughters, and even runs the risk of getting the law down on him.

Old Mr. Sternwood's son-in-law has disappeared, but it is not to search for him that Marlowe is engaged. It is to trace a polite blackmail note the wealthy man has received. In running it down the sleuth uncovers a strange, unhealthy racket, rescues Carmen Sternwood from a ghastly situation, uncovers one murder, and is present at a second. These are only a few of the tense moments in a book that zips ahead with the speed of a streamliner. Not a nice tale, "The Big Sleep," but a gripping one.

Agatha Christie mystery fans will seize on her latest Hercule Poirot book confident of finding good writing as well as plot interest. The action takes place in Gorston Hall, the home of the Lees, in rural England on Christmas eve. Gathered together are all the various members of the family, each of whom the reader suspects in turn, as well as the servants and two visitors—a relative from Spain and a young man from South Africa, one Stephen Farr.

The author says in a preface note to her brother-in-law: "You complained that my murders were getting too refined—anemic, in fact! You yerned for 'a good violent murder.' . . . So this is your special story—written for you." While never so gory, tense, nor marrow-chilling as Dashiell Hammett, Miss Christie still, in the manner that is all her own, creates a situation so complex and baffling that only the agile brain of the suave Poirot could hope to cope with it.

The dénouement leaves even the most hardened mystery fan gasping with astonishment, and M. Poirot adds another feather to his cap.

International Intrigue

"Cause for Alarm," by Eric Ambler. [Knopf, $2.]

None of the European dictators will find this story of spies and international intrigue relaxing reading. They will not be alone in this reaction, but for a different reason. "Cause for Alarm" is not for those who like to go to bed with a light detective yarn, to woo slumber, for it will keep them up past any person's bedtime—in a fine state of indignation and wrath. The dictators would not share this. The "Ovra"—as Mussolini's secret police are called—are pictured as interested only in the exertion of the sort of ruthless power applied in a pressure state. The plot concerns the manufacture of shell producing machinery, and the salesman leads anything but a merry life, until he escapes over the Jugo-Slav frontier. This is more of a serious novel than a detective yarn.

Nero Wolfe on the Trail

"Some Buried Cæsar," by Rex Stout. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.]

That portly, testy, and thoroughly engaging detective, Nero Wolfe, now considers the vagaries of prize live stock raising. That he doesn't come a cropper will be no news to his legion of followers. They may wonder that he has entered this—of all fields—but they will be glad to follow him through Guernsey markings, the nomenclature of champion bulls, and the amiable maze of a country fair. This reader would gladly follow him anywhere, in the knowledge that complete entertainment would attend the journey. Two murders seem hardly enough to test fully Nero's talents, but they provide as many thrills as any 300 pages could be expected to encompass.

Plenty of Suspense Here

"The Bigger They Come," by A. A. Fair. [Morrow, $2.]

Racy and filled with suspense, this is an excellent detective story in the Dashiell Hammett tradition. When Donald Lam, investigator, sets out to serve papers in a divorce suit he runs into a mass of intrigue and some pretty rough treatment. In the course of the plot he shows how through a loophole in the law a person might conceivably commit a murder, confess it, and yet go completely free.

Tale of Sailing Seven Seas in 32-Foot Ketch

BY AL CHASE.

"Seven Seas on a Shoestring," by Dwight Long. [Harpers, $3].

Out of the ever increasing list of small boat ocean voyagers come more and more attempts by the amateur salts to put their experiences into book form. The results are not always as exciting as the authors would have them. But occasionally a "natural" bobs up—an outstanding book of the sea—which tops its rivals. "Seven Seas on a Shoestring," by Dwight Long, Seattle amateur sailor, is in that class. It's one of the best of its kind in several seasons.

Young Skipper Long, just out of college, zigzagged 35,000 miles around the world in a thirty-two foot ketch, the Idle Hour. He started with only a few dollars and little actual navigation skill. But he dodged debts and wrecks throughout his exciting four year voyage.

The former he avoided by hard work at other jobs. He anchored the Idle Hour several times at various ports and earned enough cash from jobs on liners to finance his ketch to another landfall. If the author's steamship runs could be added to his sailing cruise, his four year total probably would run up to forty or more thousand miles.

He avoided what seemed to be almost certain death on south sea and Red sea reefs by an odd combination of sheer luck and skillful seamanship.

On the other hand he met many delightful people. With almost no exceptions he was welcomed with unusual friendliness in foreign ports. Altogether, he had four fascinating and exciting years.

"Seven Seas on a Shoestring" is exceptionally well illustrated with pictures taken by the young skipper. It also has attractive but not very effective end paper maps. Well written, exciting, informative and very thoroughly human, this lively log of a small boat world cruise can be put on the shelf with Capt. Slocum, Gerbault, Villiers, Pidgeon, Robinson, and other famous amateur sailors.

Five Polar Mysteries

"Unsolved Mysteries of the Arctic," by Vilhjalmur Stefansson. [Macmillan, $3.50.]

Vilhjalmur Stefansson has written an entertaining summary of five famous mysteries of the polar regions. "Unsolved Mysteries of the Arctic" range from the disappearance of the Greenland colony several centuries ago to the modern puzzle of the missing soviet flyers. Other far north bafflers which the author outlines at considerable length are the lost Franklin expedition, the strange fate of Thomas Simpson, and the unanswered question: How did Andrée die? The volume is a valuable addition to arctic literature. It is well mapped.

More Glencannon Stories

"The Gentleman with the Walrus Mustache," by Guy Gilpatrick. [Dodd-Mead, $2.]

"Muster Glencannon" is back. The famous Scots engineer of the S. S. Inchcliffe Castle appears again in a new volume of marine alcoholic adventures, "The Gentleman with the Walrus Mustache." The publishing of Guy Gilpatrick's Glencannon stories in book form always is an event of cheer for the reader who likes his sea adventure hilarious rather than horrific. The newest collection is up to the standard of the other four Glencannon books. There are ten uproarious adventures of the inimitable Colin Glencannon.

Cook Book Made Up of Recipes of Early Virginia Housewives

"The Williamsburg Art of Cookery" was compiled by Mrs. Helen Bullock from the original old cook books known to have been used by Virginia housewives. The recipes have been scaled down to meet the requirements of the modern family. Salmagundi, Oxford John, Veal Partridges, An Egg as Big as Twenty, and similar eighteenth century delicacies have been included.

The book itself is patterned after the first American cook book printed by William Parks in Williamsburg in 1742. It has an old-fashioned, thick brown leather cover, old type print, and yellowed pages. [Colonial Williamsburg, $2.60.]

FREE . . . TO NEW MEMBERS
Joseph in Egypt, by Thomas Mann
—or any of the other Book-Dividends listed in coupon

If you decide to join the Book-of-the-Month Club now, we will give you free, as a new member, a novel which has been acclaimed as "perhaps the greatest creative work of the twentieth century"—JOSEPH IN EGYPT, by Thomas Mann (two volumes, boxed, retail price $5.00). This was one of the recent book-dividends of the Club. Or, if you prefer, you may choose one of the other recent book-dividends listed in the coupon.

Why miss in 1939—as you did in 1938—so many new books you would deeply enjoy?

THE self-examination provided at the left will show the degree to which you may have allowed procrastination to keep you from reading new books which you want very much to read. Over 200,000 families—persons like yourself—have found a subscription to the Book-of-the-Month Club a really effectual means of solving this problem.

You are not obliged, as a member of the Club, to take the book-of-the-month its judges choose. Nor are you obliged to buy one book every month from the Club.

Publishers submit all their important books to us. These go through the most careful reading routine now in existence. At the end of this sifting process, our five judges choose one book as the book-of-the-month.

You receive a carefully written report about this book in advance of its publication. If you decide from this report that it is a book you really want, you let it come to you. If not, you merely sign and mail a slip, saying, "Don't want it."

You Still Browse In Bookstores

Scores of other recommendations are made to help you choose among all new books with discrimination.

If you want to buy one of these from the Club, you can get it by merely asking for it. Or you can use these reports (we find that most of our members do) to guide you in buying these miscellaneous recommended books from a favored bookseller.

In other words, instead of limiting your reading, this system widens it. You can browse among the books as always, but now do it intelligently; you know what to look for.

Once and for all this system really keeps you from missing the new books you want to read. You do actually buy and read those you want, instead of confessing sadly to friends, "I never got around to reading that!"

In addition, there is a great money-saving. Time and again our judges' choices are books you ultimately find yourself buying anyway, because they are so widely talked about. (Outstanding examples of these in 1938 were THE YEARLING, WITH MALICE TOWARD SOME, THE HORSE AND BUGGY DOCTOR, and a list of others too long to include here.) For every two books-of-the-month you buy you receive, free, one of our book-dividends.

Free Books You Get

These book-dividends represent a unique system of saving through quantity production. The resulting economy is extraordinary. For every $1 you spend for a book-of-the-month you actually receive over 75¢ back in the form of free books.

Some of the actual book-dividends distributed within recent months is the best indication of what can be done by this system: they included BARTLETT'S FAMILIAR QUOTATIONS (a special $6 edition); JOSEPH IN EGYPT (2 vols., $5); the Pulitzer Prize edition of ANDREW JACKSON, by Marquis James ($5); MADAME CURIE, by Eve Curie ($3.50); THE ARTS, by Van Loon ($3.95). These books were given to members—not sold, mind you!

What's Your Obligation

You pay no yearly sum to belong to the Book-of-the-Month Club. You pay nothing except for the books you buy.

Your only obligation as a member is to agree to buy four books-of-the-month a year from the Club. These may be either current or past selections.

BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB, Inc., 385 Madison Ave., N. Y. N 382

Please enroll me as a member. It is understood that I am to receive, free, the book checked below, that I am also to receive, without expense, your monthly magazine which reports about current books, and that for every two books-of-the-month I purchase from the Club, I am to receive the current book-dividend then being distributed. For my part, I agree to purchase at least four books-of-the-month a year from the Club.

"SO HE HAD VERMOUTH AT PRUDENCE'S, a 'storm-tossed' this concoction was called—combined Italian and French vermouth with a twist of lemon."

From "THE HAPPY ISLAND" by DAWN POWELL
Published by Farrar & Rinehart

● If you've read this crackling job of writing, you'll recall that Prudence Bly is a leading wit of cafe society. So it's no wonder her author has her serve vermouth. Because vermouth—straight and chilled—is a favorite of people who get around, particularly if they've lived abroad. Try it yourself—either straight Italian or a "mixed vermouth" as described above—and remember afternoons at a sidewalk cafe in Paris. Of course we mean Martini & Rossi Vermouth, the standard. Back Door Epistle.

The story of the polite department store delivery man who left a note under the door reading, "Your package is in the second drawer of the cupboard on the back porch," brings in another story. An Oak Park resident found a member of the family who had preceded her through the house looking puzzled over a note he had found pushed under the kitchen door.

"I don't know why I should," he said.

"Should what?" she asked.

He handed her the note which read, "Dress in broom closet."

Announcement of the coming of Yehudi Menuhin to play in concert Feb. 19 at the Civic Opera house brings to mind the story of his gardener at Los Gatos, Cal. The gardener was very slow in completing the seeding of the lawns and the violinist sent him a note of disapproval. He received no answer, so he sent a second and more vigorous note. When the gardener returned to finish the job Menuhin asked, "Why didn't you answer my notes?"

"I was hoping you would send me more," answered the gardener. "They pay me more than gardening."

He had shown the notes to some local townsfolk and had been given $10 in cash for the first and $20 for the second.

Cuff Notes.

Sentimental and entertaining valentine window at a North Michigan avenue florist's—long-stemmed red roses thrust into a huge silver lined envelope, and little nosegays and love songs scattered about the window. . . . The telephone number of the king of England is Whitehall 4832, if we can believe Dorothy Miller. No one in Chicago has that number. . . . The taxicabs at the railroad station in Glen Ellyn belong to the Glen Ellyn Black and White Taxicab company, but they are painted deep yellow. . . . And a cocktail lounge habitué reports that at the Chatterbox, on the far north side, everybody talks in whispers. . . . Wingy Mannone, one armed trumpeter at the Off-Beat club, was playing in the old Friar's Inn years ago and the late Bix Beiderbecke, famous trumpeter, used to drop in to "jam" with Wingy's band.

Libby Holman, wearing a red fox cape, a red gold velvet turban, and the ever-present dark glasses, dashing into the Ambassador accompanied by a secretary. . . . When Toscanini arrived in town with his orchestra Margarita de Vecchi came along, too. She's the buffer between the maestro and the outside world. When some one asked her who she was she answered, "I'm his nurse."

Author's Preface.

Beginning of Clare Booth's preface to Kiss the Boys Goodbye, now out in book form:

This play was meant to be a political allegory about Fascism in America. But everywhere it has been taken for a parody of Hollywood's search for Scarlett O'Hara. As such it has had a good measure of success with the public, far less with the critics, and none at all with myself, its author.

BY JUDITH CASS.

At a family dinner at home in Hubbard Woods last night Mr. and Mrs. Erskine P. Wilder announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Charles Newell Fuller, son of Mrs. G. Patterson Fuller of Evanston and of Lucius C. Fuller of Washington, D. C. The wedding is planned for June.

Miss Wilder, who attended the North Shore Country Day school, is one of the north shore's prettiest and most popular young women. She played the coveted rôle of a bride in a recent Northwestern university settlement fashion show.

Mr. Fuller, who is engaged in business in Chicago, attended St. George's school in Newport, R. I., and was graduated from Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., in 1935.

Zoo Completes Collection of Australian Finches

With the arrival yesterday of three birds with bright crimson ears and tails the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield has completed its collection of Australian finches. Director Edward H. Bean said that the zoo is the first to gather specimens of the eighteen known varieties of finches native to the southern continent. The new arrivals are quite rare and the zoo has been trying to obtain them since 1934.

Fill Boxes for Polo Game of Harvard-Yale

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

A record of every box sold can be chalked up to the credit of a combined Yale-Harvard committee that was in charge of a polo match between the two universities last night at the 124th Field Artillery armory. From his vantage point at the north end of the huge indoor arena Col. Charles C. Haffner Jr., commanding officer at the 124th and loyal Yale alumnus, received the salutes of the two teams and of the 124th and Fort Sheridan teams, which played a second match.

A victim of "flu," Mrs. Haffner was absent. Her place as hostess was taken by her aunt, Miss Naomi Donnelley. Thomas E. Donnelley and Kent S. Clow, president of the Chicago Yale club, and William H. King, president of the Harvard club, and their wives, were among Col. Haffner's guests.

The Harvard-Yale polo teams were dinner guests of Col. Haffner in the Officers' club. When they descended to change into their crimson and blue uniforms the players left behind a bevy of pretty young women who had been their dinner partners. Two of them, Miss Nancy Orr and Miss Sylvia Peter, were wearing Harvard's color, crimson, Miss Orr even wore a crimson carnation in her hair.

Miss Tita Johnson was wearing blue satin, a blue much darker than Yale's color, however. Miss Mary Hale and Miss Betty Mead wore neutral black. The Charles B. Goodspeeds, Gen. and Mrs. Karl Truesdell, and Mrs. and Mrs. James H. Douglas were other guests.

Mrs. Clow and her daughter, Miss Elise Clow, were wearing orchid corsages, gifts no doubt of the latter's fiancé, Burke Williamson. The engagement was announced on Wednesday. With Miss Clow and Mr. Williamson were the junior Fred W. Fairmans, Miss Harriet Welling, and Donald McClure.

"Let's see if I can catch one," cried Mrs. Walter C. Coleman as she leaned far out of her ringside box and reached for a lighted standard carried by one of the Red Devils during the spectacular maneuvers of that talented group. "Heigh-Yo, Silver," was the more universal cry that greeted the troupers.

The red coats of the Red Devils and of the officers in the jumping exhibition should have done much to make the Harvard players feel at home. A real Harvard color was in the hat worn by Miss Celia Coit. Miss Margaret Hutchins, Miss Betty Keith, and Miss Mary Gardner were hatless. Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson, in evening dress, displayed a neatly sculptured head of curls.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Ganging Up on Radio

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—If there was any doubt about the intention of the major companies to war on radio, the doubts have been dispelled within the last seven days. First, 20th Century-Fox yanked Tyrone Power from his regular Sunday night program. . . . That the 20th Century action was the first gun in a carefully plotted offensive has been proved by M.-G.-M.'s announcement that they will withdraw their "Good News" program from the radio lanes.

It now begins to look like a knock down and drag out fight because the movie producers are working in concert and these two developments will be followed by others equally significant.

The movie moguls now have come to the belated belief that movie stars on the radio constitute unfair competition to the theaters . . . the exhibitors, or theater owners, have been pointing that fact out for several years. But this is the first time the studios have done something about it.

To understand what is happening and what is about to happen, you must first understand that of the seven days of the week, Saturday and Sunday are the most important to the revenue of theaters all over the country, with Sunday being a mite more important than Saturday. Understanding the economics of the Sabbath, as it applies to the movie theaters, you can savvy the fierce resentment of theater owners who, on Sunday, have to compete with free radio shows offering this procession of movie players: Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen, Nelson Eddy, Dorothy Lamour, Tyrone Power, or Charles Boyer, Jack Benny, Andy Devine, Groucho and Chico Marx, Carole Lombard, Cary Grant, Ronald Colman and a guild show that offers names ranging from Bette Davis, Norma Shearer and Marlene Dietrich to Edward G. Robinson and Basil Rathbone.

For years the theater owners have argued that this setup doesn't make sense. "We rent your pictures," expostulated the theater owners, "and charge admission prices. Instead of obtaining good will with our rentals, we are subjected to unfair competition by the very stars we pay for; unfair because we make people pay to see and hear them, while radio gives them away simultaneously for nothing." To bewilder the theater owners more completely, two major companies not only permitted their stars to appear on programs but actually constructed radio programs of their own.

The truth of the matter, of course, is that the major companies have been almost as helpless as the theater owners. The bigger stars do as they please and studios don't insist on too many things, to save themselves headaches that would be as futile as painful. M.-G.-M., for instance, has so little control over its own players that the problem of getting them to appear on M.-G.-M.'s own program is studded with difficulties, and the studio has to pay through the nose for each appearance. If it were not for the fact that L. K. Sidney, who runs the program, is a diplomat worthy of the European chancelleries, there would be no program.

It has been this lack of a consistent attitude on the part of the movies toward radio that permitted radio to take things pretty much into its own hands. If the movies, at this late date, propose to give battle, they have made the perhaps fatal mistake of procrastinating while radio was building its own Maginot line, and the radio people can stay behind their bulwarks while the cinema shock troops wage an attack. The task of the attackers is going to be more painful than that of the defenders, who already have holed in.

Movie stars go on the radio to pick up large chunks of easy money. A fee of $5,000 for a program is nothing unusual, and $3,500 per program for a series of twenty-six programs mounts up to important dough. The movie stars, believe me, won't abandon that source of income without a terrific struggle. Undoubtedly 20th Century-Fox made an important salary adjustment with Tyrone Power to get him to cancel his air series. The others will demand studio salary adjustments, too, before they cancel out.

It seems imperative that the movie studios and the movie stars get together and adopt an attitude that at least is consistent all along the line. Movie performers who balk at making more than two pictures a year, on the ground that they don't want audiences to tire of them, should explain why fifty-two weeks of radio appearances don't accomplish the same damaging effect on popularity. By the same token, movie studios should explain why they construct their own radio programs if radio is harmful to theater attendance. Meantime, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" goes rolling forward to the greatest of all box office grosses, perhaps because the only place you can see it is within a theater.

WPA 'Mikado' Makes History; It's a Success

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The federal government is used to owning shoes and ships and sealing wax. It knows how to store them, how to get rid of them. Now, for the first time in its history—for the first time in the history of any sovereign state—the United States owns a successful musical show. And now some people want to buy it.

The show is the swing version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado." The Federal Theater project of the WPA put it into the Great Northern theater five months ago. The trucking, swinging colored folks who make up its cast had spent about twenty weeks rehersing. Its prime purpose was to give work.

The show was a hit; 170,000 persons have sat in the old theater hooting with laughter. They have told 170,000 more, and customers are waiting at the gates.

A number of producers are wanting to buy the show, lock, stock and barrel. There is Michael Todd in the east, Bernard Ulrich in Chicago, to mention two. But what is there to sell? Is the idea for a swing "Mikado" marketable, or is it just something that anybody can think up? Does the cast want to take its chances in a private enterprise with greatly increased pay, or does it prefer to stay in the $94 a month haven of the Federal Theater project?

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Smooth, shiny, red coated lips needn't be the exclusive property of the much touted "glamor girl." The most mousey creature can have them.

A lipstick base helps. The newest one to come to town, one that created something of a sensation in the east, is a base of creamy texture, extremely rich in the soothing oils that not only prevent but heal chapping.

In the stick this base has a faint brownish cast, but don't let this disturb you. On the lips this isn't apparent at all and doesn't affect the color of the lipstick used on top of it.

For very dry lips this base in stick form should be applied generously; then blot off the excess with tissues. After about two minutes, during which time you must be careful not to moisten the lips, apply your usual lipstick right over this undercoat. You'll be delighted with the satin smooth effect of your usual lipstick, with the heightened luster, and with the greatly improved clinging quality. Your mouth will remain perfectly made up for much longer than usual.

When this stick is used as a preparatory base for your usual lipstick make sure the lips are dry before you apply it. We hope all these pointers don't make its use seem complicated. It's all easy — and certainly well worth the extra minutes involved.

If your lips are very chapped use this as a treatment aid before you go to bed. Just slather it on and leave it overnight. You'll find it a most efficient little aid to healing.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Youth Desires Subsidy of His Marriage Plans

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Strange requests come to this corner of ours, but none stranger than one just received from a young man named Smith, we shall call him. In his approach, Smith assures us that his is not a love problem. "Our love is truly a great one," he tells of himself and fiancée. "We are engaged to be married, although no formal announcement has yet been made."

Smith proceeds to tell that the girl is laboring under the delusion that he has more money than he has. As the talk of a wedding is pursued by the pair, the girl expresses taste for the better things of life. This, Smith claims, probably is due to the impression which he has given of being in funds. In any event, what the girl would like to start out with would run up a couple of thousand dollars, according to Smith, who admits naively that he likes the nice things, too. He hasn't the thousands.

With the funds he now has marriage will be impossible, so Smith thinks that some one in the world would be willing to underwrite their home for them. If we know of no such willing victim, then he asks if he would send some money perhaps we know of a good racetrack bet on which he could clean up. Only by luck playing him a part right now can he hope to maintain his standing with the girl and her family. Finally, he confides, he is not a foolish boy in his 'teens but a man well past 25 years of age, "so that you can see I am in the sensible age."

We must interrupt our correspondent right here to inform him that he may be 25 but he definitly has not reached the age of reason.

While this is an unusual request and a futile one, as you may know, it typifies in exaggerated form ideas entertained by certain in-loves who get the ridiculous notion that the world owes them marriage on the de luxe plan. Too, it typifies a certain breed of man upon whom comes a day of reckoning because of his exaggerated tales of income. You can't get away with it, gentlemen, if such you may be called. How much simpler to come clean with the girl when you're telling the state of your finances.

A Stranger in the Dark

(Copyright: 1939: By Frank R. Adams.)

SYNOPSIS.

The hero, pursued by Detective Mike Clancy, is stopped in a Chicago railway depot by a young man, apparently dying, who gives him his wallet and baggage check to get him his medicine. He gets the sick man's bag, then, seeing the man being carried away on a stretcher, he uses the man's ticket, and is on his way to Clovis, N. M., as John Bowman—an innocent fugitive, having taken the blame for missing bank funds to save his father. Before reaching Clovis he confesses his identity to Sheriff Tom Johnson, who boards the train to welcome John Bowman, whose father, Pete Bowman, is dying and longs to see the son separated from him by divorce since babyhood. The sheriff persuades him to take on the rôle. John's sister, Mary, and her fiancé, Charles Ferdinand, manager of her father's ranch, meet him in Amarillo and fly him to the ranch in Charles' plane. Mrs. Lodge, wife of Pete's physician and guest, is with them. Our hero falls instantly in love with Mary and dislikes Charles, a handsome show-off, who is the pet of Pete's sister, Matilda, who had loved Charles' father. The hero meets paralyzed old Pete Bowman, kept a virtual prisoner by Matilda. Pete asks him to stay and help Mary, and gives him his guns. Charles is carrying on an affair with Mrs. Lodge and even Dr. Lodge knows about it. In the middle of the night Pete sends his nurse for "John" and has him open the safe and burn a paper. Next morning Charles and Mary are to be married. Detective Clancy appears after the wedding, just as word comes that old Pete has died. That night Mrs. Lodge commits suicide and Mary refuses to go to her new home with Charles. Clancy, sleeping with "John" is stabbed—evidently "John" was the intended victim. Charles offers to fly "John" and Clancy to Kansas after the funeral.

INSTALMENT XXX.

THE FUNERAL.

"Let 'em roll!" shouted Charles.

The band played "O Susanna" in slow tempo and the cortège started out.

It was only half a mile to the Basin. One slope faced west. In it a freshly dug grave was beside an older one marked with a broken wagon wheel.

Waiting for us there was a group of thirty or forty men on horseback. These were all tall, hard looking ranchers, mostly wearing patched overalls and mounted on lean, moth-eaten horses with prominent ribs. Sheriff Tom Johnson was among them.

Charles scowled as he saw them and reined up to let the procession pass. Our car stopped just abreast so I heard what he was saying.

"What are you doing here, Mosher?"

One of the tallest, leanest men I have ever seen answered him with a slow drawl. "We come over to see old Pete laid away. Any objections?"

"Not if you don't cause any trouble."

"We ain't totin' nary a gun in the outfit. Seein' you had your fences down we took the short cut."

"You know why the fences are down, don't you?"

"No—why?"

But Charles did not choose to answer the question. He rode on.

Tom Johnson dismounted as I got out of the car. So did Mosher.

Tom intercepted me. "I want yuh to meet Sherm Mosher, John. He's your nearest neighbor."

We shook hands. I liked the man. There was a quiet forcefulness about him underneath that lazy appearance that betokened the strength of a real personality.

"I'm glad to know you," I said.

"Same here." He appraised me shrewdly with his gentle weather-beaten eyes. "Kinda wanted to have a look at Pete's son."

I smiled at him. "Well—are you disappointed in me?"

"Yeah. You look like you might be all right. How're yuh goin' to run the place—like a cow ranch or a flea circus?"

I didn't answer him then except with a grin, but I someway got the idea that he wanted to be friendly.

The last rites were beginning.

The veteran Rough Riders took the tightly covered wagon box containing Pete Bowman's body from the running gear of the wagon itself and carried it on their shoulders to the open grave. A younger man took off one of the wagon wheels.

The band played "Auld Lang Syne" as the box was lowered into the grave in a slanting position facing west. The saddle that I had last seen in the old man's room was placed on top of the crude casket.

Then Charles spoke. He needed no Bible.

"The Lord is my Shepherd," he began and recited it more thrillingly than I have ever heard it before or since.

At the end, without accompaniment, he started to sing:

"Empty saddles in the old corral
Where do you ride tonight?"

One by one the others joined in.

Men with shovels started to throw in the earth. The bugler of the band blew taps and at the end there was a tremendous fusillade. Every armed man there fired at least one shot.

Then some one yelled "Yip! Yip!" and the crowd finished it, "Yippee!"—the cowboy yell. Someway it was not incongruous—merely a fitting farewell.

When the grave was nearly filled one of the oldest men there advanced with an ax and while some one held the wheel of the wagon he broke the rim with one blow.

It was placed on the grave with the jagged end uppermost and the balance of the earth was packed in around it.

Pete Bowman lay where he wanted to lie—facing the setting sun.

After the funeral was over I singled out Sheriff Tom Johnson who was about to return with the Mosher outfit.

"Detective Clancy wants to see you over at the ranchhouse before you leave, Tom."

"O, is that where he is? I wondered why I didn't see him."

"You'll find him in my room—that's the one John Bowman used as a k[illegible] when you were foreman here. He's been hurt and can't come out."

"Hurt? How come?"

"He'll explain it to you." I couldn't take long enough to do it myself. The family automobile was waiting for me.

"O. K.," said Tom, "I'll drop by in a few minutes."

We drove back silently to the house. In the main hall a distinguished looking, paunchy gentleman, with well trimmed white whiskers, was waiting for us. He was introduced to me as ex-Judge Robinson, senior member of Robinson, Warren & Morehouse, the Amarillo firm of attorneys which handled the legal business of the ranch.

"I'm sorry I couldn't get here in time for the obsequies," he apologized, "but it's quite a drive and I had to go to the office first."

Charles came in just then brushing a little dust from his clothes with his hat.

"Shall we proceed to the reading of the will?" the judge inquired.

"Not here," Aunt Matilda replied. "Servants about. Come to my room."

Aunt Matilda's quarters were a model of cluttered neatness.

There were chairs enough for all of us, in fact the room was littered with seats of various kinds, all pretty uncomfortable. This was especially true of a horsehair sofa which I drew. It was almost impossible to keep from slipping off from it.

"A great many years ago," the judge began, "I drew up a will for our late client, Peter Bowman."

He was interrupted by a throaty, metallic voice, saying "Hello, sheriff, glad to see you."

The judge looked up inquiringly from the briefcase from which he was extracting a document.

Another voice, equally metallic, replied, "Howdy, Detective Clancy."

"It's the radio," Aunt Matilda explained. "I must have forgot to turn it off."

Charles got to his feet. "I'll attend to it."

"But I especially wanted to hear this program," the old woman protested. "I get most of my pleasure in life from the radio."

Once more I realized the colossal stupidity of the woman. Without a chance in the world of convincing anybody with a lie like that she still clung to it. More and more I realized that her method of getting her way was sheer persistence not cleverness.

Needless to say I was startled at hearing the voices of Clancy and Sheriff Tom Johnson. For some reason it had not occurred to me to think of looking for a dictograph in my own room. But, of course, it was the obvious place to put one.

will make their home at 70 East Walton place.

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Page, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Richard John Lee of Hinsdale, to Frank Howley Eustis Jr., son of Mrs. Frank H. Eustis of Hinsdale, will take place at 8:30 o'clock tonight. The ceremony will be performed in the Grace Episcopal church in Hinsdale by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, with the Rev. Mr. Lee assisting.

Plan Winter Sports for Long Week-End.

The lucky girls who are attending the Dartmouth winter carnival or Junior week at Cornell university are not the only ones who will spend the week-end skiing. A number of young people will go to the Snow Chase club headquarters in La Crosse, Wis., for a long week-end—taking advantage of the legal holiday on Monday. Skiing enthusiasts of the Girls Latin school are having their annual house-party at Long Lake lodge in Phelps, Wis.

The James L. Garards and their young daughter, the Robert M. Goldings and their children, and the Drury Davises of Evanston are others who will enjoy 26 inches of snow at Phelps.

"The hills are in perfect shape, the slopes are fine, and the ski tow works" is the latest news from La Crosse, where the Snow Chase club is arranging slalom and downhill races for today, tomorrow, and Monday. The Lawrence Denmans, the Chester Goltras, and Robert Napier boarded the Zephyr yesterday afternoon for La Crosse.

Joining them today at the Linker hotel, headquarters of the Snow Chasers, will be Miss Peggy Sargent, Miss Phoebe Massey and her houseguest, Miss Mary Winslow of New York; Loren J. Massey, and Lee Jackson.

Chicago Girls at College Parties.

The annual winter carnival of the Dartmouth Outing club, in progress yesterday and today, is one of the gayest of college celebrations. Junior week at Cornell, a three day period between terms, started Thursday night with an ice carnival on Beebe lake, and reached a climax last night with a prom at huge Drill hall. Tea dances and a repeat performance of "Tovarich" by the Dramatic club in addition to numerous outdoor skiing and skating events will conclude the festivities today.

Miss Adele Taylor, Miss Lucy Jane Keeler, Miss Dorothy Warner, and Miss Elizabeth Buchen of Winnetka; Miss Katherine Vail of Highland Park and Miss Patricia Austin of Glencoe are some of those at Cornell for the parties. Miss Austin's parents, the Edwin C. Austins, are acting as chaperones at the Sigma Phi fraternity house, where their daughter, a Vassar student, is the guest of Richard Kern of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

Forgans Leave for Vermont Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan left yesterday for their farm in Vermont, where they hope to find winter sports weather. Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Perry will meet them in Pittsfield, Mass., and motor up with them. Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Farwell will join the Forgans next Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Drake are leaving this week-end for Peckett's at Sugar Hill, N. H., to ski. They will be away for a month.

Mrs. John Prosser and Mrs. Burford Porter are returning this week-end from a holiday at Sun Valley. Miss Claire Beneke and Miss Harriet Higginson, and the former's cousin, Mrs. Alfred Uihlein of Rochester, Minn., are leaving next Thursday for Idaho.

Three intercollegiate squash racquet stars, Malcolm Muir Jr. of Yale, Stanley W. Pearson of Princeton, and Kin de Souza Canavarro of Harvard, are among the out of town contestants in the 1939 United States Squash Racquets association championships to be played here today, tomorrow, and Monday. The Chicago Athletic association will hold open house during the national team play on its courts this afternoon.

A dinner-dance at the Casino tonight, a luncheon at the C. A. A., and a cocktail party at the home of the C. Wallace Johnsons in East Schiller street tomorrow are some of the parties planned for the visitors. Mr. Johnson is chairman of the tournament.

S. K. Ratcliffe, correspondent in the orient for the London Spectator, will address a luncheon meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations today at the Palmer House.

ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Fred Elfring Sr. of Bensenville has announced the engagement of her daughter, Elnora Adelheit Elfring, to Edwin Quade of Sherburn, Minn.

Styled for Latest Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' PRINCESS SLIP.

If there's anything women like in a princess slip, it's width for comfort in the skirt. In past seasons slips had to be styled on just as slender proportions as were the sleek skirts. Thankfully, this year dress skirts are flowing widely and flatteringly, so we can have our lingerie styled similarly. The model today is a feminine one every woman will love. It is sufficiently tailored, however, to appeal to those of our sex who like the simplest things in the line of clothes.

The neckline is cut in a modified and not too extreme heart shape. It may be edged with wide or narrow lace, or be left perfectly plain, simply bound with self-material. The straps are narrow and dainty, but placed on the garment in such a way that they cannot possibly keep slipping down over the shoulders. The bustline of the slip is styled to support the figure and enhance its curves. The waistline is snug and high, just as is that of the newest frocks. And the skirt, as mentioned before, has plenty of flare. It may be edged with lace to match that used on the neckline, if you like. The bodice may have a monogram, made with pattern No. E-11012, available for 10 cents extra.

Lingerie silks of all kinds are appropriate. Cottons are important this season, too. You may make this slip in either pastel or dark shades, and if you have a suit or dark dress you want to accent, just make the slip of a gay color or a print, in washable taffeta or crêpe, perhaps.

Style No. 3357 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be certain to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Sailor Blouse for Little Girl Is Hand Knitted

BY JEAN MACDONALD.

A hand knitted sailor blouse for the 4 year old is one which meets with instant favor. It is a simple knitting job, and it may be made in a monotone or in contrasting colors. The sweater is knitted in ribbing and the stockinette stitch and requires little time to make because a 4 year old girl is rather tiny.

For instructions for knitting the middy blouse for the 4 year old, No. X-196, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needle work Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Dress Budget Suggested for Daughter of 14

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Here is a letter, different as well as interesting, which will appeal, I am sure, to many mothers with daughters fortunate enough to be on not too close a budget:

"I have a daughter, 14. She is a sweet child and one you can reason with most of the time.

"Until last year she was quite content with her clothing; in fact, it didn't matter much what she wore. Suddenly she became clothes conscious, but she does not seem to know exactly what she wants and nothing seems to please long. If I advise it is a case of 'they do not do it that way today.'

"She has a closet full of clothes, but just lets them hang there. I suppose you will say that is nonsense and a mother should be able to make her child wear them; but I feel it gets to a point where constant repetition turns out to be downright nagging. I can say that most of the trouble is caused by a girl friend of hers who is jealous.

"An incident happened last month which set me to thinking. I was ill and could not leave the house. My little girl was invited to a football game by some friends and asked me if she could have a new dress for the occasion. I allowed her to go downtown by herself and select a dress. She did and showed fine taste. The price she paid was just half of what I generally pay for her, yet she was so pleased with it and wonder! is still wearing it.

"Here is my plan. I would like to put her on a budget. I do not think she will be so ready to buy unless she is sure she is going to wear it.

"The reason I think this is because she has had an allowance for spending money since she was 6 years old as she was too generous with mine. We started her with 50 cents a week and this year increased it to $1. She has always put aside a certain amount each week and with it buys all her birthday and Christmas presents for the family.

"Do you think she is too young to assume this new responsibility? How much do you think I should give her? I would not want to give her too much and yet I would not want the amount to be insufficient so that it would not work out. Below is a list I have made to give you an idea of her needs. She is really set for a year on big clothes items right now, so she could put that much more aside.

The citrus fruit family has numerous members. Many of the cousins are hybrids. You're familiar with oranges, lemons, limes, tangerines, and grapefruit, but do you know these other relatives—loquat, Citrange, citrangequat, limequat, citrangedin, tangelo, orangequat, shadduc? All but the last are hybrids.

Then, of course, there is the citron, used for candying and preserving, which must be mentioned in the list of citrus fruits. It isn't the same as the citron melon, which grows on a vine, although the flavor is much the same. Citron is purebred, not a hybrid.

A new percolator for bachelor or bachelorette [or for two, if you like only one cup] is the cutest thing you ever saw. It has a handle like a saucepan and, without cover and basket, might double for a saucepan on occasion. It makes two cups of fine coffee in a hurry. Department stores carry it.

Speaking of undersize utensils, it's a good idea to keep on hand a small child-size aluminum pan of some kind for melting chocolate and butter without waste and the bother of cleaning a larger pan.

Dried soy beans are a rich source of calcium, phosphorus, and iron, valuable adjuncts to the diet. They must be soaked overnight, then drained and simmered until tender in fresh water. They may be prepared by any recipe for navy beans and are very good with tomatoes and onion.

Add vanilla, or other flavoring, and spices to the butter and sugar mixture when you bake a cake. The fat absorbs flavors beautifully and does a good job of distributing them throughout the cake.

Another suet pudding which came in since the last batch of contributions is worth mention. The sender's grandmother was head housekeeper for one of Queen Victoria's ladies-in-waiting. Her mother, nearly 80 now, has made this pudding for years.

Salt and Pepper Suet Pudding
1 cup lamb or beef suet, ground fine
2 or 3 eggs, well beaten
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 cups all-purpose flour
Milk to make a fairly stiff dough [about 1 cup]

Mix ingredients and fill a greased mold less than half full. Steam in a covered kettle for 2 to 2½ hours. Have water boiling constantly. The pudding may be boiled in a cloth bag. Wet the cloth, wring dry, and flour it before putting in the pudding. Allow room for it to swell.

The Housewife

If you've never tried broiling bacon the new way you will be amazed to see how quickly and easily it can be done. The new broiler for this purpose is gently rounded and has a cover. You lay the bacon strips over this arched metal and the cover, fitting over them, keeps them from curling and twisting, and cooks them evenly to a nice, crisp brown. The broiler can be placed right over the gas flame.

The grease drains down into a drip pan and is easily poured off when the work is finished. You won't get burned with explosive grease, either, for the cover keeps anything from spattering. This broiler is a real treasure for your kitchen.

Dufy Presents a Gay Show of Water Colors

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

A diversified group of exhibitions is filling Chicago galleries. For a gay and piquant exhibit try the water colors by Raoul Dufy which have been hung at the Quest gallery, 810 North Michigan avenue.

These are bright, amusing, impractical and thoroughly enjoyable. The hint of the orient in one or two of them in no way detracts from their charm. From Venice to a dream farm Dufy lets his imagination drift and we willingly follow.

Far different are the modern paintings of Stuart Davis at the Katharine Kuh gallery, 540 North Michigan avenue. Here we are in the realm of practical uglification and a concentrated effort at the bizarre that leads to fantastic results, not entirely pleasurable.

Mr. Davis paints with a heavy hand in crude colors. His exaggeration of form is uncomfortable and the absence of a third dimension to his pictures leaves one at a loss. Surely something more than the manufacture of paper dolls is even a modern's idea of creative art today.

Five new sculptures by John Storrs, original lithographs in color by Toulouse-Lautrec, and original drawings for stage and ballet costumes by John Pratt compose the new exhibit in the Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building.

The sculpture is of all types, one can make his choice between academic and modern; the lithographs are large, gay, and robust; the drawings are a bit formal, a bit dull, but not entirely. It is a "between shows" exhibit.

The Anderson galleries, 530 South Michigan avenue, have opened an exhibit of distinguished English paintings. The exhibit is handsome and arresting. Portraits, landscapes, and interiors are included.

Time Dulls the Beauty of Blonde Tresses

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"In France, both beer and women are called blonde and brunette," Gertrude Gordon Sachs tells us in her smart little "My Lady's Handbook" [National Library Press].

"It's a popular fiction that gentlemen prefer blondes, but husbands pick just as many brunettes. In Scandinavia, the home of the blonde, sleek Spanish beauty is highly prized. In Mediterranean countries, as elsewhere, preference is a matter of individual choice, but many a fiery Latin speaks scornfully of blondes as 'cat eyes' or 'English fish.' This reaction may be a consoling attitude for the lack of light-haired ladies in such places. Cannibals look upon fair women as exotic delicacies for the banquet table. Otherwise, the odds are fairly even. Men about town may prefer blondes, but England's ex-king chose a brunette and good Queen Bess, much courted, was a redhead."

After which little dissertation on tastes in hair coloring we proceed to remind blondes that theirs is the toughest of all hair shades to uphold. Their hair must be shampooed oftener, for a soiled blonde head is the least appetizing. They have to take special pains in shampoo rinses so that not a particle of soap remains to dim the silver light. They have to be pretty well resigned to the fact that when they get into the late twenties and early thirties that lovely, bright, silvery gleam of childhood begins to darken; that later on they fade quickly if nature is left to take care of itself.

That term, "faded blonde," isn't without its startled warning to young blondes, who should recognize that they have a blessed attribute in their pale, glimmering hair, an asset to be hoarded with infinite care.

We get discouraged telling the blonde princess, when she sees the fading light o'ershadowing her locks that there's not much to be done about it now but a bleach to restore or imitate the first radiance. We don't like to see them take up bleaching because it is a common blonde frailty to lose a sense of proportion on bleaches. They plunge too heavily, often issuing forth startling interpretations of their former fine delicate blondness.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Selina Du Mont, daughter of Mrs. Adolphe Joseph Du Mont of Evanston, to David Lyons Jr., son of Mrs. David Lyons of 3627 Pine Grove avenue, will take place at 11 o'clock this morning in the chapel of the Marywood school in Evanston. A wedding breakfast will follow at the Drake hotel.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"How about cashing aces against a slam contract?" This question is asked, and succinctly answered, by Frank Perkins, bridge author, writing in the January issue of the Bridge World magazine. He continues:

"Most of us have had headaches and abuse from these situations, for it seems to be a case of 'be damned if you do and be damned if you don't.' If you fail to lead an ace and let declarer make his slam because it is 'taken to bed,' partner always has something to say about any moron knowing enough to make an ace before it can be ruffed. But if you lead the ace and set up winners for declarer, partner is just as bad. There is no satisfying some people!

"Here is a case in which the ace should not have been cashed. Don't ask us to O. K. the bidding, however.

North dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

	NORTH ♠ A K 4 ♥ K 10 2 ♦ J 7 5 4 ♣ A 10 2
WEST ♠ 10 8 6 5 ♥ 9 8 4 ♦ A 9 3 ♣ Q 7 3		EAST ♠ 9 7 3 2 ♥ 5 ♦ Q 10 2 ♣ K 9 8 6 4
	SOUTH ♠ Q J ♥ A Q J 7 6 3 ♦ K 8 6 ♣ J 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

"West made the mistake of leading his ace of diamonds. He then shifted to the three of clubs, but it was too late, for declarer was able to make his contract by a clever 'gadget' in playing.

"Dummy won the second trick with the ace of clubs, and declarer had to plan on getting rid of a losing diamond and a losing club. The ten and ace of trumps followed, and South then cashed his king of diamonds. The three spades allowed South to discard his last diamond, and dummy then led a diamond and South ruffed with his queen of trumps. The fall of East's queen of diamonds set up dummy's jack, so declarer merely led a trump to dummy's king and cashed the diamond for the needed club discard.

"West's judgment in cashing the ace of diamonds was bad. There seemed no special danger of losing it, and there was great danger of setting up diamond tricks for declarer. It usually is better to save an ace against a slam bid, and try to kill off one of declarer's prospective winners, unless the bidding makes it likely that declarer will be able to obtain immediate discards."

There is little that need be added to Mr. Perkins' analysis. West should have thought better of every other lead than of the diamond ace. Indeed, it will be noted, a spade, heart, or club opening would have left declarer out on a limb from which he could not have rescued himself. A low diamond opening was, of course, unthinkable, but would have been no more fatal than was West's actual selection.

THORNTON LEE YIELDS; ONLY 2 SOX UNSIGNED

It's Still All Quiet on the North Side.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

J. Louis Comiskey, president-owner of the White Sox yesterday noted a slight lowering of the holdout fever which was forced on him by the failure of three of his boys to return their contracts, duly signed. Uncle Lou issued a bulletin that he was feeling better, the improvement coming on when he opened an envelope from which popped a document bearing the name of Thornton Lee, summer time southpaw pitcher and winter time proprietor of a nest of up to the minute tourist cabins near Phoenix, Ariz.

Lee's acceptance was delayed by a belief his thirteen victories of last season waranted a little more money than offered by his employer. He filed his complaint with the boss and, presumably, the matter was adjusted by splitting the difference.

The two other Comiskey employés still on the outside of the fence are Shortstop Luke Appling and Outfielder Rip Radcliff, both of whom have had previous experience in holdout rôles. So far as is known, neither case is serious.

Cubs Plot War on Holdouts.

P. K. Wrigley, president of the Cubs, went into a huddle with other club officials yesterday to figure ways and means of breaking the ranks of the one dozen nonsigners.

Eleven of these fellows returned their papers, each accompanied by a complaint. Each case was taken up separately and a few of the balkers may be given a boost over the original offer, but the majority will receive a "So Sorry" note and the same contract from the boss.

The athletes whose unsigned contracts bounced back so quickly that Owner Wrigley was forced to marvel at the speed of the U. S. mail, are Clay Bryant, Larry French, Newel Kimball, Gene Lillard, Jack Russell, Bill Baker, Phil Cavarretta, Stanley Hack, Glen Russell, Augie Galan, and Carl Reynolds. Hank Leiber hasn't signed and nothing has been heard from him despite his claim he wrote a letter on the subject of salary.

Bill Brandt's 1939 Green Book went into circulation yesterday and the ex-scribe who now publicizes the National league [except on world series data] produced a batch of figures and data in keeping with baseball's centennial year.

Of Bill Baker, incidentally one of the dozen unsigned, Editor Bill says he's not only a good catcher but sure fire as a bill collector in the winter. Baker performs in the latter capacity in behalf of his dad's business at Woodleaf, N. C. Bill hit .307 for Indianapolis last season.

James Gleeson is given several extra lines of space in the Green Book, probably because he is considered a possible regular for 1939. "Gee Gee," a name he picked up while at Rockhurst college, Kansas City, was purchased from the Yankee's Newark farm and in a six year career hasn't had even a close up view of the second division. He played on four pennant winners and two second placers.

Editor Bill has discovered that Glen [Rip] Russell, purchased from Los Angeles as a first base possibility, is a member of the El Centro, Cal., police force. Russell was the best hit maker in the Coast league last season, his total of blows being 216 against 154 by Smead Jolley, whose average topped the circuit. The 23 year old policeman-athlete hit twenty-one homers and drove in 144 runs and it is needless to mention that the optimistic Cub officials regard these as impressive figures.

Lillard Returns as Hurler.

Gene Lillard was in the 1936 edition of the Green Book as an infielder but has returned in the guise of a pitcher, which is one of the Cubs' needs. After the 1936 season he began to experiment on his pitching ability in a winter league in California and was so successful that he took up the work regularly with San Francisco the next season, winning 14 and losing 10. His last season's record at Los Angeles, whence the Cubs acquired him, was 16 and 10.

OWNERS CURB EXHIBITIONS IN PRO FOOTBALL

Restrict Games After Start of Season.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Owners in the National Football league, meeting in the Congress hotel, yesterday acted to curb the prevalence of exhibition games, indirectly imposed a censorship on professional football broadcasts, and moved to increase the players' share of the championship playoff receipts.

Adopting eleven of the eighteen proposals submitted by the resolutions committee, the owners decreed that all radio contracts entered into by National league teams shall have a clause that will give the president, Joseph F. Carr, the right to approve the broadcaster. Owners declined to say whether the resolution was directed at any particular announcer or whether there had been a complaint against certain narrators.

Exhibition Game Rules.

The matter of exhibition games led to the adoption of two rules. It was decided to limit all teams to two exhibition games after their season has opened. A team's season is considered to have been opened with its first regularly scheduled league game, regardless of the date.

National league teams in the future also may meet in pre-season exhibition games provided they are not scheduled to oppose each other in the regular season. Previously they were prevented from meeting each other under any circumstances except in regular season contests.

The owners took cognizance of the officiating problem by adopting a rule that no one shall be allowed in the officials' dressing room. The president will continue to appoint officials for each game. Other provisions regarding officials will be presented at this morning's session, when the rules committee also will make its recommendations.

Prescribe Action in Case of Tie.

Definite action was prescribed for the first time in case the championship playoff game ends in a tie. When no decision is reached in the playoff, the contending teams will be called co-champions and a coin will be tossed to decide which team will represent the league in THE TRIBUNE'S All-Star game against the College All-Americans.

To increase the players' share in the receipts of championship playoff games it was decided they should receive 60 per cent of the gate after expenses have been deducted. This increases the players' portion by 10 per cent.

The league is not interested in expansion or the formation of rival organizations, the owners decided.

Voting unanimously, they went on record as opposed to increasing the membership of the league and ignored reports of the formation of a new league with teams in two National league cities. No formal applications for franchises were received, President Carr announced, but the league is aware that Cincinnati, St. Louis, Buffalo, and several New

Yale Overpowers Harvard in Indoor Polo Match, 12-7

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Yale and Harvard gave a demonstration of eastern intercollegiate polo last night in the 124th Field Artillery armory. After dominating the game for the first three chukkers Old Eli coasted in to a 12 to 7 victory despite a determined Crimson rally in the last period.

A crowd of 6,000 filled the armory for the attraction.

Collister Johnson's ability to maneuver his pony into the right place at the right time accounted for much of Yale's effectiveness in the first half. During these two chukkers Johnson made six of his team's seven points. Some of his scoring shots were set up by his teammates, Alan Corey and Mott Woolley, but several of them were due to some accurate unassisted mallet work. He was replaced by Ken Schiffer in the second half.

Harvard Rallies at Finish.

Woolley made one of the longest scoring shots ever seen in the armory during the third period. It was a tremendous poke—two-thirds of the length of the field—made while riding at a speedy pace.

After trailing, 4 to 1, at the end of the first chukker, 7 to 3 at the end of the half, and 11 to 3 after three chukkers, Harvard appeared to advantage only in the last period, when two goals by Bennet Forbes and one each by the Dillingham brothers, Ben and Gaylord, took a little of the one-sided aspect from the game. Then Ken Schiffer took command of the ball and carried it down the field to score for Yale. That ended Harvard's threat and the game ended a few seconds later.

Artillery Team Easy Winner.

In the opening game the 124th Field Artillery, defending champion of the Metropolitan league, defeated Fort Sheridan, 18 to 9. This was the fifth straight victory for the artillery men, who are the only unbeaten members of the league.

Fort Sheridan was outclassed at every stage, making only six goals. Its other three points were acquired by handicap. Bill Fergus led the Artillery scoring with nine goals, one of them on a penalty shot.

In tonight's Metropolitan league games the Detroit Falcons will meet the Chicago Ramblers, both battling for second place in the senior division. The Rangers and Ranchers will play a junior division game.

Indiana Renews Title Drive at Iowa; N. U. Plays Chicago

Six Big Ten basketball teams, two of them handicapped by the illness of regulars, will engage in conference competition tonight. Two second division quintets, Northwestern and Chicago, will meet in the Maroon fieldhouse. Indiana will seek to stretch its conference lead at Iowa and Illinois, which could take over the top position if Indiana slips, will face Purdue in Lafayette.

Northwestern, with two victories in five contests, will try to overcome the handicap of the loss of Ad Vance, starting guard, and Bob Shepard, forward, in the Midway game. Vance and Shepard have influenza. Chicago, with its lineup intact, will seek its second victory in seven games. Joe Stampf and Bob Cassels will start at forwards, Dick Lounsbury at center, and probably the Murphy twins, Bill and Chet, at guards.

Stampf Leads Scorers.

Stampf is the Maroons' leading scorer with forty-two points in six conference games. Lounsbury, the early season star of the team, will try to shake off the scoring slump that has dogged him in his last four games. In those games he scored only twelve points, nine less than in the opening two contests.

Illinois, which has won five of seven games, will start a patched lineup against the Boilermakers. Capt. Tom Nisbet is ineligible, Bill Hapac may play only a few minutes because of a recent attack of the flu, and Pick Dehner's activity may be curtailed because he has had tonsilitis. Dehner, however, may start. The rest of the team probably will be Wardley and Drish at forwards and Handlon and Sachs, guards. Should Dehner be withheld, either Drish or Bob O'Neill, who regained his eligibility yesterday, will start in his place. Drish's place at forward would be taken over either by Joe Frank or Hal Shapiro.

Purdue Lineup Intact.

Purdue, with a record of two victories in four games, including a 39 to 31 triumph over Wisconsin Monday, will have its starting team available. Capt. Gene Anderson will be at center, Igney and Fisher at forward, and Dickinson and Beretta at guards.

The game has been a sellout for more than three weeks.

Indiana, which lost its opening game to Ohio State and since has scored four victories, including a 46 to 34 triumph over the Buckeyes last Monday, is expected to have little trouble at Iowa, which has won only two of seven games.

Bob Dro and Paul Armstrong will be at forwards for Indiana; Bill Menke at center; and Capt. Ernest Andres and Marvin Huffman at guards. After the game in Iowa City the Hoosiers will come back to Chicago to face the Maroons Monday night.

Michigan Is Busy.

Michigan, which has been idle for two weeks because of examinations, will face Michigan State in a return game in East Lansing tonight, and will be host to Illinois Monday. The Wolverines won all but one of their pre-conference games, but have captured only two of six in the Big Ten.

Marquette will line up against Western State Teachers in Kalamazoo, Mich., tonight, and it expects to run into trouble. The Hilltoppers whipped Western, 45 to 32, earlier.

LOUIS TREATED IN HOSPITAL FOR NASAL CONDITION

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis was in a Detroit hospital tonight being treated for a nasal congestion, but attendants said his condition was not serious.

Dr. C. C. Ames, attending physician, said the congestion was slight and that Louis had been hospitalized "as a preventive measure" in view of numerous cases of influenza in this area.

Dr. Ames said it was likely Louis would be released Sunday or Monday.

Jean Bauer Wins Women's Golf Title at Palm Beach

Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., won the annual women's golf tournament today, defeating Mrs. William Hockenjos of Lake Hopatcong, N. J., 3 and 2, in the 18 hole finals match.

GOLDEN GLOVES WINNERS ON WEST SIDE MARK TIME

Await Tests in Tourney of Champions.

The west side's Golden Gloves champions are taking the last breathing spell they'll get for a long time to come. After winning their titles in Thursday night's final bouts in the Madison Athletic club, they rested up yesterday, but they'll be back in their various training quarters Monday to start pointing for the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium on Feb. 27, Feb. 28, and March 1.

Al Noto and Joe Dupont, alternates on last year's intercity Golden Gloves squad, indicated that they are better than ever this season. Noto was forced to weather a terrific storm of punches before stopping Jimmy Sarenello in the west side flyweight final and Dupont showed considerable power in scoring a first round technical knockout over his 126 pound opponent.

Joe Manjarrez Graduates.

Joe Manjarrez, novice featherweight champion last year, is now perfectly at home in the open division. He encountered no trouble at all in hammering out a technical knockout in the lightweight title bout.

In addition to the above named fighers—all of whom are from the C. Y .O.—the west side open division team will consist of Fisher Lewis, Madison A. C., 112 pounds; Isiah Wells, C. Y. O., 147 pounds; Rocco Volento, Madison A. C., 160 pounds; Samuel Riley, Stanford park, 175 pounds, and T. J. Tate, Savoy A. C., heavyweight.

In the Tournament of Champions these boys will match their skill against more than 400 fighters who will gather from approximately 25 states. This field will include the winners of tournaments in 47 centers where newspapers are coöperating with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., in the sponsorship of Golden Gloves.

Action in Seven Centers.

There was action in seven of these out of town centers last night. The Indianapolis Times and the Kansas City Star picked their champions. The Davenport Times and the Peoria Journal-Transcript held their semi-finals. The Evansville Courier-Journal and the Grand Rapids Press put on third round bouts. Preliminaries were held by the Detroit Free Press, which always sends a powerful team into the Stadium.

Chicago's sectional tournaments will be resumed next week. The south side, which already has held three nights of fighting in White City, will conclude its eliminations with bouts on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. The northwest side will pick its champions in a tournament in Marigold Gardens Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The north side event will be held the following week in Loyola university gymnasium.

Chicago's Golden Gloves field was completed last night when the last entrants were weighed and examined in Trafton's gymnasium. These boys will be assigned to the north and northwest side events.

Bobby Wright, a sixth grade pupil at the King school, burst into tears when told he couldn't compete because he was only 13 years old.

Tony McGill, who was born in Westport, County Mayo, Ireland, 29 years ago, passed the test and will compete as a light heavyweight in the north sectional tournament. McGill, a coal salesman, also is entered in the state handball tournament in the Midwest Athletic club this month.

Robert Schweikle, 21 year old featherweight of 2832 West Flournoy street, just finished sparring with a chum in the Sears Roebuck Y. M. C. A. before reporting.

John M. Hickey of 5656 Ingleside avenue, who is studying for the priesthood at Quigley preparatory seminary, explained his tardiness by saying he had to take care of his baby sister while his mother did some shopping.

WINNER'S EYE CUT IN SECOND; 18,988 WATCH

Verdict of Officials Unanimous.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Billy Conn tonight dispelled any doubts of his ability to go the championship distance of fifteen rounds or that he is superior to Fred Apostoli, Pacific coast middleweight, who is recognized in New York state as world champion.

While a capacity crowd of 18,988 in Madison Square Garden looked on wild eyed and yelled hoarse encouragement, the lanky Pittsburgh Irishman fought his way to a second decision over Apostoli. It was Conn's second fifteen round try.

Crowd Pays $49,424.

The gathering paid gross receipts of $49,424 to see the battle, a return engagement after a contest on Jan. 6, when Conn first gained real attention in winning a ten round decision over Apostoli. Not many disagreed with tonight's verdict. The decision was unanimous. The two judges, Joe Lynch, old time bantamweight champion, and George Lecron, voted for Conn. Each gave Conn nine rounds and Apostoli six. Referee Frank Fullam, himself a middleweight of ability a few years back, gave Conn eight rounds and Apostoli seven.

Conn started slowly, but after the midway mark he went to town until the twelfth round ended, after which he wilted and just managed to squeeze through. He showed boxing talent, ability to pace himself, and a reckless disregard of his foe's blows. If he were a puncher Conn would have knocked out Apostoli.

Low Blows Cost Conn Two Rounds.

Conn would have won by a greater margin except for low blows which cost him the eleventh and thirteenth rounds. Apostoli lost the seventh on a foul.

Apostoli, despite his previous setback, was favorite at odds of 2 to 3. After dropping a lukewarm first round he tore after Conn with the second. It was here that Apostoli butted Conn, cutting his face under the right eye. Apostoli can attribute his beating to his resemblance to Charley White of Chicago, who missed lifting the world lightweight title from Benny Leonard simply because he could not think and fight. Apostoli starts to do something, hesitates, and is lost.

Fred opened with a smashing body fire that had many thinking Conn could not possibly survive fifteen rounds, but it was here Conn showed his true mettle by outboxing, at times outfighting, and generally outmaneuvering his rival.

Billy Takes Fred's Punches.

Conn slipped twice in the sixth and weathered the hammering punches of Apostoli in the fifth, sixth, and seventh rounds. He outboxed and outfought Apostoli through the next four rounds, but lost the eleventh on a foul.

In the twelfth, despite a blow which cut open his left eye, Conn thrilled the crowd with a daring offensive which continued in the thirteenth, which he lost by hitting his opponent low.

Apostoli crowded his foe through the fourteenth and fifteenth. He bent Conn double under body blows and rattled his jaw with savage thrusts. Conn backed to the ropes, fighting only in spasms, but Apostoli was too tired to put over a winning wallop.

BROWN KNOCKED OUT BY MUSTO IN SIXTH ROUND

It's Blue Island Puncher's 24th Victory.

Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight, knocked out Clarence Brown in the sixth round of a scheduled eight round fight in White City last night. A series of blows to the chin and body floored Brown for the count after he had held his stocky opponent on even terms in the first, third, and fifth rounds. Musto won the second and fourth. Referee Tommy Gilmore completed the count after 1 minute 42 seconds of the sixth round had elapsed. It was Musto's twenty-fourth triumph in twenty-six appearances. He weighed 203 pounds and Brown 189.

Gene Spencer, South Chicago junior lightweight, stopped Ray Harris of South Bend in the fourth round of the semi-final set for five rounds. Spencer was down for an eight count in the second and a six in the fourth. Other results:

Jimmy Santori and Cocky O'Brien, drew [4].
George Nyberg beat John Carter [4].
Perk Daniels stopped Selman Martin [3].
Orlando Trotter beat Marion Mosley [4].

Jack Whittinghill, who will represent Bloomington, Ill., in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium starting Feb. 27, defeated Tom McGee, south side welterweight, in the five round windup of last night's amateur fight show in the Madison Athletic club. Pete Altizer of the 124th Field Artillery won a five round decision over Clyde Hamlin, Bloomington featherweight. Other results:

Vince Pellengrini stopped Douglas Jones [3].
Fisher Lewis beat Eddie Colquitt [3].
Alvin Bevil stopped Charles Washington [3].
Joe Robinson beat Floyd Abrams [3].
James Robinson knocked out Russ Whittinghill [1].

Milt Aron and Johnny Barbara, Chicago welterweights, have been signed to meet in one of three bouts of ten rounds heading the boxing show in the Coliseum on Feb. 23, Matchmaker James C. Mullen said yesterday.

Because he expects to appear on the Coliseum card, Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., lightweight, has refused an offer to meet Bill Hodges of Detroit in Milwaukee Feb. 28. Marquart also received a bid for a contest with Armstrong in Milwaukee next month, but the latter may be unable to accept due to his scheduled twenty round engagement against Bobby Pacho in Havana March 5.

Thomson's 64 Leads in Golf at San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Jimmy Thomson broke the competitive course record with a seven under par 64 that left the field three strokes behind today in the opening round of the $5,000 Texas open tournament. Thomson had six birdies, an eagle, ten pars and one bogie for his 34—30—64.

Clayton Heafner of Greensboro, N. C., playing in his first tournament, broke par by four strokes for a 67 that left him tied for second with Byron Nelson.

Walper Finishes Fast.

Heafner, who gave up a job in a Charlotte, N. C., candy factory to join the winter tour, had a strange assortment of pars, birdies, eagles and penalty shots for his 34—33—67. Nelson, recent winner of the Phoenix open came in with a 34—33—67.

The day's most spectacular finish was that of Leo Walper, Washington, D. C., who chipped in eagle twos from the rough on both 16th and 17th holes and dropped in a long putt for a three at the 18th for a 69. Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Boston was bracketed at 68 with E. J. Harrison, Oak Park, Ill.

Seven were tied at 69, including Walper, Horace Lacey of Little Rock; John Barnum, Edinburg, Tex., amateur; John Bulla of Chicago; Sammy Byrd of Philadelphia; Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., and Horton Smith of Chicago. The 70 bracket held Frank Walsh of Rumson, N. J.; Ervin Comstock, Sioux Falls, S. D., and Lawson Little of San Francisco.

Guldahl Is Far Back.

Seven strokes behind Thomson were Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn.; Abe Espinosa of Chicago; Rod Munday of White Plains, N. Y.; Mike Murra, Wichita, Kas.; Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo., and Lloyd Mangrum of San Francisco.

Far back were Ralph Guldahl, national open champion, and Denny Shute, former P. G. A. champion, with 72; Harry Cooper, Jim Demaret, Ed Dudley and Paul Runyan with 73, and Dick Metz and John Revolta, 74.

REFEREE COLLINS ROBBED, BEATEN; POLICE SEEK TWO

Police yesterday sought two strong-arm bandits who strangled Phil Collins, well known boxing referee, into unconsciousness Thursday night and robbed him of $301 in jewelry and cash. Collins had officiated at the Golden Gloves competition at the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street, and was walking to his home at 4948 Gladys avenue when he was seized. The attack occurred on Lavergne avenue, near Jackson boulevard.

Penn State Freshman Sets World 50 Yard Record—5.1

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Norwood [Barney] Ewell, Penn State Negro freshman sprinter, set a new world's record of 5.1 seconds for the 50 yard dash tonight in winning the finals of the event in the second annual indoor Penn A. C. track carnival. The former record of 5.2 seconds was set in 1916 by J. G. Loomis of St. Louis, Mo. Ewell nosed out Johnny Maher, Villanova college, before a crowd of 7,500.

Bill Wilson, former Princeton runner representing the New York Athletic club, who won the event last year, finished third, and George Kroupa of Pennsylvania was fourth. Ben Johnson, former intercollegiate champion, was fifth.

Stella Walsh, Cleveland's great woman athlete, won the handicap 220 yard dash for women in 26.3 to break the former meet record of 26.6 seconds. Starting from scratch, Miss Walsh defeated Hilda Plepis of Philadelphia, who had a nine yard handicap.

Glenn Cunningham reserved his kick for the final lap to defeat Chuck Fenske, former Wisconsin star, by three yards in the Pennac mile, in the time of 4 minutes 15.6 seconds. Don Lash, former Indiana star, was third, and Frank Donohue of the Passon A. A., Philadelphia, fourth.

B. RIDEOUT SETS RECORD

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Rideout twins from North Texas State Teachers' college chased each other to the fastest flat floor mile ever run in New York tonight as John Borican, the indoor season's most promising discovery, finished third.

Blaine Rideout, taking over the pace setting duties after the first two laps, held the lead to the finish to hit the tape fifteen yards in front of Brother Wayne in 4 minutes 14.7 seconds. Borican was another thirty-five yards back and breathing heavily.

Beats Cunningham's Time.

Blaine's time was five-tenths of a second faster than Glenn Cunningham's winning performance a year ago. His victory was somewhat of a surprise, since Wayne had been rated the better of brothers at this distance.

Tommy Deckard of Bloomington, Ind., giving away handicaps up to 130 yards, won the two mile invitation run in 9 minutes 14.6 seconds. He beat George De George, junior national steeplechase champion from the New York A. C., by three yards.

Goldberg Wins 1,000 Yards.

De George was given a forty yard handicap. Robert Conkling of Manhattan college, given sixty yards, beat his teammate, Joe Moclair, for third place, while Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. and Johnny Wall of the San Francisco Olympic club, the other scratch men, placed fifth and sixth.

Sanford Goldberg of the Millrose A. A. won the 1,000 yard handicap in 2:17.2, beating some thirty-odd men who started with as much as fifty-five yards on him.

Give $125,000 to Help Maintain Supply of Ducks

BY BOB BECKER.

Although hundreds of thousands of fishermen are looking ahead to spring and the fun of using their tackle again, many thousands of duck hunters are thinking only about the sum of $125,000 that will be spent in the Canadian provinces this summer to help the ducks increase their numbers.

Ducks Unlimited, the only American organization that has had the vision and the courage to go into Canada and establish breeding areas for waterfowl, will direct the expenditure of this money and T. C. Main, engineer who is in charge of all field activities for Ducks Unlimited in Canada, again will head the staf that will be in the marshes to improve nesting conditions for the birds.

The money to be spent this season, all of it contributed by American sportsmen, will make it possible to restore vast areas of marsh at low cost, fence good potential breeding grounds against cattle, and coöperate fully with Canadian provinces that are working with Ducks Unlimited to increase the duck supply in America.

All of this means more ducks for the American sportsman and better hunting in years to come.

Chicago duck hunters will have their first chance to hear what has been done in Canada to help grow more birds from Mr. Main himself. He will be in Chicago next Tuesday to address an open meeting for waterfowl shooters. The meeting will be held in the Sherman hotel Tuesday noon. Every duck hunter is invited, according to an announcement made yesterday by L. H. Barkhausen, newly elected head of Ducks Unlimited of the United States.

GLENBARD FIVE TRIUMPHS OVER RIVERSIDE, 54-45

Strengthens Lead in West Suburban League.

The Glenbard heavyweight basketball team defeated Riverside, 54 to 45, last night in Glen Ellyn to strengthen its lead in the West Suburban league. Olson contributed 18 points to the Glenbard total to take scoring honors.

Morton's heavies almost lost their lead in the Suburban league as Evanston put on a late rally that failed by two points, the Cicero quintet winning, 29 to 27, to hold first place against the challenge of Oak Park. The victory was Morton's eighth against two losses, while Oak Park added its seventh triumph with a 48 to 30 victory over New Trier. Oak Park also has lost two league games.

Long Streak Ended.

In the Catholic league, Mount Carmel, after fifteen years, finally beat the De La Salle seniors on the De La Salle floor. The score was 43 to 21 and the victory enabled Mount Carmel to go into a tie with St. Mel and Leo for first place in the south section. Leo beat St. Patrick, 36 to 30, while St. Mel was idle.

St. Philip went into second place in the north section's senior division with a 30 to 29 victory over Weber. St. George and Weber remained in a tie for the junior lead, the former beating Loyola, 27 to 22, and Weber winning from St. Philip, 34 to 25.

One season record was established and two were equaled in the City league yesterday.

A Day of Records.

The Lane Tech juniors, in beating Senn, 40 to 17, scored 18 free throws to break the mark of 15 held by several teams. The Austin seniors tied the high game score of 63 made by Lane against Von Steuben as they routed Medill, 63 to 21, and the Amundsen seniors tied the one game field goal mark of 28 in their 57 to 21 triumph over Waller.

Jersey cities are eager to join the major organization.

Strong Is Reinstated.

The eligibility committee, reporting with the resolution committee in yesterday's session, recommended the reinstatement of Ken Strong, former New York university star, who was one of the New York Giants' outstanding players for several years until he jumped a contract to join the New York Yankees of the American association three years ago.

Butch Morse, veteran Detroit end, will not be allowed to play in the league in the future, President Carr intimated. He automatically becomes ineligible, Carr said, if the president's investigation reveals that he participated in the San Francisco All-Star game on Jan. 29. Carr has not investigated the matter, but it is known that Morse was one of the professional All-Stars' outstanding players in that game.

The Giants and the Philadelphia Eagles consummated the first trade of the meeting yesterday. Hugh Wolfe, former Texas half back, goes to the Eagles in exchange for Irving Hall, former Brown university full back, whom the Eagles obtained in the draft.

The La Salle Hotel Cavaliers, Chicago's representative in the Missouri Valley A. A. U. Basketball league, will attempt to jump back into the victory column in the second half race tonight in the Coliseum. The Cavaliers will play Tulsa in the feature of a triple-header. Chicago holds two decisions over the Oklahoma five this season.

The collegiate portion of the program will be provided by St. Ambrose, undefeated leader of the Iowa conference, and Monmouth college, contender for the Midwest conference title. Three Chicagoans are on the St. Ambrose squad. They are Tony Sacco, Jack Hughes, and Art Moore.

The opening game, at 7:15 o'clock, matches the Swift & Co. quintet and Alpha Phi Alpha, colored team. Leading players in the Alpha Phi Alpha lineup are Bernie Jefferson, former Northwestern football star, and Ozzie Simmons, who starred in football at the University of Iowa.

Since last week's loss to the Phillips 66 of Bartlesville, Okla., Player-Coach Ray Meyer has been working the Cavaliers overtime in an attempt to regain winning form. Tulsa has added three players since its last Chicago trip.

BIKE RACE TIME AGAIN; STADIUM, CYCLISTS READY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Stadium, which already this week has been the site of a political meeting, a basketball game, and a hocky match, yesterday became the scene of a number of strange goings on which continued far into the night.

Carpenters hammered and sawed throughout the day and commissary agents streamed into the big west side building with large hampers of sundry foodstuffs. A number of parties were caught in the act of shellacking tires onto bicycle wheels. Gradually the suspicion that a six day bicycle race was in prospect dawned on the watchers.

This hunch soon was verified by the antics of a small gent who appeared to have made a premature personal start of the race, judging by the manner in which he circled the Stadium premises. He was Harry Mendel of the Jersey Mendels, who is to bike racing what Mike Jacobs is to boxing. Mendel captured all the sprints yesterday with little competition except in the rush for the grub baskets, where he was hard pressed by several of the twenty-four artists who will start in this extravaganza at 9 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Wins His Own Race.

By nightfall Mr. Mendel had won his own race, both on points and mileage. The track was duly set up. All of those accredited viands to be consumed during the week were safely cached in the Stadium larder. Every tire was shellacked to every wheel, in accordance with the rule that this must be done at least twenty-four hours before the race. And Ferdinando Grillo, Mr. Mendel's problem child from Milan, Italy, was off of Ellis Island and en route to Chicago.

Doubtless Harry will not scold Ferd when he does arrive, but the young man has been the cause of considerable worry. Upon his arrival from Buenos Aires, where he had ridden in a race, Signor Grillo was detained by the immigration authorities, and held there until Mendel arranged a $300 bond for his release yesterday morning.

What They Like.

Maestro Mendel took time out to issue a few statistics on the menus of the riders for the week. The two German stars, Gus Kilian and Heinie Vopel, who will be riding apart for the first time in Chicago, favor meat as the major portion of the diet. The Brothers Peden lean toward an egg and milk program, while the Americans, Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley, are all for vegetables, with accent on the spinach. Lamb chops, because of their quick digestibility, rate over other meats, ten pounds to one.

HALL WINS OVER REISELT IN A 54 INNING MATCH

It took fifty-four innings for Allen Hall of Chicago to defeat Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia last night in the second of two games in the world's championship three cushion billiard tourney. The match was played in the Pioneer Arcade. Hall had a high run of 13, tying the tournament record established by Reiselt on Thursday in his match with Jay Bozeman. Reiselt won the afternoon game, 50 to 24, in thirty-one innings.

Johnny Layton of New York will come to Chicago Monday for two games with Hall in the Pioneer Arcade. On Tuesday he will meet Jay Bozeman in two games at Bensinger's 131 South Wabash Recreation.

CHAMACO WINS TWO.

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Joe Chamaco of New Mexico ran his standing to 16 victories against two losses tonight in the round robin tournament for the three cushion billiard championship of the world when he scored a pair of victories over Art Thurnblad of Kenosha. Chamaco won the first match 50 to 46 and the second 50 to 35.

LAYTON, DENTON SPLIT.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Johny Layton, Sedalia, Mo., and Tiff Denton, Kansas City, broke even in two national billiard tournament matches today, Denton taking tonight's match, 50 to 40, after losing this afternoon, 47 to 50.

N. Y. U. LEVELS AT NOTRE DAME VICTORY STREAK

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Notre Dame university's basketball team, which has won its last eight games, will be the favorite tomorrow night against New York university in the feature game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. But unless Notre Dame plays the kind of game it did in its 55-33 victory over Minnesota recently it may well experience an unexpected setback.

N. Y. U. does not have an impressive record and lacks the well rounded form of the South Bend team. But it has in Bob Lewis and Ken Aauerbach, two dangerous marksmen who can cause any team a lot of trouble. Both are high scorers who are as capable on defense as on offense. It is unreasonable to expect the Violets to do what no N. Y. U. team in the last five years has done, defeat Notre Dame. Better N. Y. U. quintets than the current performers have failed.

Coach Howard Cann has brought about marked improvement in N. Y. U. since the season started. In every game it seems to have moved up another notch.

INDIANA RELIEF SCANDAL TO GO TO GRAND JURY

Seek Action Based on Probe by Governor.

The Lake county relief scandal will be placed before the grand jury at Crown Point.

County Prosecutor Felix A. Kaul announced he will submit to the jury a voluminous report prepared by Gov. Townsend's commission on unemployment relief. This report attacks relief administration in the three principal townships—Hobart, North [Hammond], and Calumet [Gary]. Exorbitant relief costs for last December are charged.

Kaul said he would lay the commission's report before the grand jury. He said that this did not mean he was conducting an investigation into the relief administration, but indicated there is nothing to prevent the grand jury from conducting an investigation on its own initiative.

The prosecutor said he would go to Indianapolis immediately to confer with members of the governor's commission. One of his purposes, he said, will be to get additional copies of their report.

Charge Costs Too High.

Accusations that relief costs are unnecessarily high in Lake county were made recently by the Lake county council. This body demanded that Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, New Deal Democrat, take action. The governor's commission conducted an investigation for a month.

In its report the governor's commission charged that 60 per cent of the reliefers in Hobart township and 43 per cent of the reliefers in North and Calumet townships should not have been receiving relief. It charged that favored merchants had been permitted to overcharge, that relief administration in the three townships has been inefficient, and that nineteen physicians have done an average relief business of $10,000 annually.

DR. EBERHART, PIONEER X-RAY AUTHORITY, DIES

Funeral services for Dr. Noble Murray Eberhart, a pioneer in the use of the X-ray and author on medical subjects, will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 2700 East 75th street. Dr. Eberhart, who was 69 years old, died Thursday night in his home at 7427 South Shore drive. His widow, Florence, said death was caused by an X-ray burn suffered 35 years ago in experimental work. Dr. Eberhart began work with the X-ray in 1898, three years after its discovery.

He was born in Benton Harbor, Mich., and educated at the University of Illinois and University of Chicago. For a number of years he was head of the department of physiologic therapeutics at Loyola university and the department of electrotherapy at the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery. He was active in the Illinois and Chicago Medical societies and a former member of the American Medical Editors' association.

Dr. Eberhart wrote numerous books on the use of electricity in medicine and was nationally known as a lecturer on this subject. He was credited with being one of the first to use high frequency electricity for relief of pain.

DR. E. L. GRAVES DIES; DENTIST A CIVIL WAR VET

Dr. E. L. Graves, one of the last of Chicago's civil war veterans, died yesterday in a nursing home at 2733 South Michigan avenue. Dr. Graves, a practicing dentist until a few months ago, would have been 94 years old had he lived until Monday.

A native of Fulton, Wis., he served with the celebrated Eagle regiment, the 8th Wisconsin volunteers. His death leaves Commander Charles O. Brown of 831 South Grove avenue, Oak Park, the only survivor of the U. S. Grant post of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Dr. Graves is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ada Blaine, and a son, Walter D. The funeral will be held in the chapel at 1820 South Michigan avenue at 2 o'clock Tuesday.

F. PFOTENHAUER'S WIFE DIES; HIGH IN CHURCH REALM

The death of Mrs. Helene Pfotenhauer was mourned yesterday in church circles. Mrs. Pfotenhauer, wife of the Rev. Frederick Pfotenhauer, died Thursday in her home at 449 West 61st place. Her husband was president of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod from 1911 to 1935.

Mrs. Pfotenhauer was 80 years old. She leaves her husband, three sons and five daughters: the Rev. Martin Pfotenhauer, pastor of Holy Cross Lutheran church; the Rev. Carl Pfotenhauer, the Rev. Fred Pfotenhauer, Mrs. Gertrude Friederich, Mrs. Martha Hertwig, Miss Helen Pfotenhauer, Mrs. Dorothy Bartling, and Mrs. Esther Kurth.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Monday in Holy Cross church.

Wass formerly was assistant superintendent of the police shops, in which horse drawn patrol wagons and wooden call boxes were constructed. For twenty years he was in charge of the shop in which police telephone equipment was kept. Recently he has been an operator in the 6th division headquarters. A reception for Policeman Wass will be held at 3810 Broadway on the day of his retirement by the Chicago Patrolmen's club.

4 LOS ANGELES TERRORISTS LOSE PROBATION PLEAS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Alfred Lushing, former city water and power commissioner, and three other convicted cleaning and dyeing terrorists were denied probation today by Superior Judge Charles W. Fricke.

Denial of the probation pleas virtually assures a San Quentin sentence for the four unless a new trial is granted them. No Los Angeles county jail terms are provided under the statute of which they were convicted.

Facing a possible maximum sentence of six to thirty years with Lushing are Samuel Blumenberg, a C. I. O. organizer, and Robert Cowan and Ben Keller, cleaners. Lushing and his co-defendants were convicted of a terrorism campaign against independent cleaners and dyers who refused to raise prices fixed by an association managed by Lushing.

WAGE RULINGS MAKE ANDREWS THE REAL LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Elmer F. Andrews is becoming the law under the fair labor standards act of 1938 through his interpretations and rulings as administrator.

Elmer F. Andrews.

A menacing and costly procedure is seen in the continued practice of making his interpretations the law, at least until affirmed or reversed by the courts. The legislation commonly referred to as the wage and hour law is regarded faulty in its vague definitions of which employés and industries are subject to its provisions.

The law provides for a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour and a maximum of forty-four hours a week for employés of concerns in interstate commerce, and by 1945 the standards will be a minimum of 40 cents an hour and forty hours a week. However, exemptions are allowed in the act and confusion has arisen over determining specific exemptions.

No Authority for Actions.

Andrews admits that he has no authority for issuing his interpretations of the law upon which his rulings are based. But he asserts that certain interpretations are necessary to clarify the act he is administering. An interpretative bulletin issued from the office of Calvert Magruder, general counsel of the wage and hour administration, says:

"The statute does not confer upon the administrator any general power to issue rulings including industries within the coverage of the act, or excluding them. Under the act, employments are included or excluded by the terms of the statute itself as interpreted by the courts, and not by the force of any administration action.

"Interpretations announced by the administrator, except in certain specific instances where the statute directs the administrator to make various regulations, definitions, and classifications, serve, therefore, to indicate merely the construction of the law which will guide the administrator in the performance of his administrative duties, unless and until he is directed otherwise by authoritative ruling of the courts."

No Recovery Possible.

This in effect makes Andrews' interpretations and rulings the law until countermanded by the courts. Persons aggrieved by a wage order, accusing employers or employés, may get a review of the order in a federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

But if the administrator rules that a certain employer is subject to the act and the court later reverses the ruling there is no means of recovery for the employer. During the period that the ruling was enforced his business may have been endangered by insistence upon conditions not suitable to the particular business. This is the principal criticism coming from employers.

There have been no conclusive court tests to date so the administrator's rulings continually grow stronger as law. Employers have generally followed the interpretations and rulings without contest.

Some Appeals Are Denied

When the telegraph and pecan shelling companies asked for exemption from the act, denial of their appeal was affirmed. Only two suits have been brought by the administrator against employers for violation to date—one filed today in New York City against the Trueworth Manufacturing company of Jesup, Ga., shirt makers, and the other filed Jan. 27 against the Central Weaving and Spinning company of Fayetteville, N. C. Both suits ask for injunctions for restraint of alleged violations. In the Trueworth case the government charged wages as low as 8 cents an hour were paid.

Several suits by employés are pending in the district courts. These ask compensation at the rate of time and a half for overtime, as provided in the act. None of them has come to trial.

One recent ruling by Administrator Andrews is not likely to be appealed. He decided that cutting ice and packing it away in sawdust is a seasonal occupation.

Europe Builds Big War Chest of Gold in U. S.

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Another big shift of gold here from Europe out of the ordinary course of foreign exchange transactions aroused curiosity in Wall street today as to the possibility that it might represent a "preparedness" building of reserve buying power for purchase of materials and foodstuffs in this country in the event of war.

It was learned in authoritative quarters that a record total of more than $600,000,000 of the metal had been placed under "earmark" in the United States for foreign account, presumably for foreign central banks.

More than half of this, it was said, entered "earmark" in the last year, when the capital flow to New York was greatly augmented immediately before and after the Munich pact last September.

More Foreign Gold Arrives.

Ocean liners this week brought in more than $60,000,000 additional gold, much of it consigned directly to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, apparently destined for "earmark" or for the United States dollar stabilization fund.

"Earmarked" gold is metal held out of the treasury's recorded supply and subject to the will of the owner. It is metal held as a sort of courtesy by the federal authorities for foreign central banks.

The increase in "earmarked" gold—the chief international medium of exchange and "cash" in its ultimate form—aroused interest in view of the "cash and carry" principle involved for purchase of war materials here by foreign countries under existing laws. By holding gold here, it was pointed out, foreign countries would avoid the risk of shipments across the ocean during hostilities.

Ban On Loans Is Incentive.

The incentive to have gold on reserve here, moreover, has increased in view of the ban on lending to countries in default on debts owing this country and the breakdown of the international credit machinery since 1930.

Foreign exchange circles cited recent reports printed in London that The Netherlands bank gradually had been transferring part of its gold abroad as a reserve for purchase of foodstuffs in case of emergency.

Exchange men speculated on whether England and other countries were doing likewise to provide a "cash" backlog for war materials and foodstuffs. Partly as result of European purchases of airplanes and other war materials, the United States in the last fourteen months accumulated a large surplus of merchandise exports over imports and Europe has had to settle the difference largely in gold.

Most of Gold From London.

The major part of the gold arriving here lately has come from London. Exchange men have referred to it as "special" shipments because the activity in foreign exchange did not seem to warant so large an inflow of metal.

Some suggested British authorities might have been shifting to New York some of the metal released from the Bank of England's reserves recently for support of the pound sterling, which officially went direct to the English stabilization fund.

METROPOLITAN LIFE WILL FORBID AGENTS TO FORGE PROXIES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company assured the federal monopoly committee today that in future elections of its directors company agents will not sign the names of policy holders to ballots.

John Lord O'Brian, counsel, said the company was satisfied that "the great body" of its agents had not engaged in the practice, but that so far as it had been done it was "utterly reprehensible."

In the last two days more than a dozen agents had testified that it was common practice in a number of Metropolitan district offices for agents to sign the names of policy holders to ballots in the company's biennial election of directors.

After hearing O'Brian's statement the committee adjourned until Monday to take up another phase of its inquiry into insurance practices.

ASSOCIATED GAS DROPS FIGHT ON ATLAS PROPOSAL

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The billion dollar Associated Gas & Electric company indicated today it would not oppose in hearings scheduled to start next Tuesday before the Securities and Exchange commission the latest plan of the Atlas corporation, a $75,000,000 investment company, for reorganization of the Utilities Power & Light corporation.

The decision apparently ended a long fight between the investment company and Associated Gas for a commanding voice in shaping the reorganization plan for approval of the SEC and the federal court at Chicago, in which a bankruptcy proceedings are pending.

Associated Gas is a large holder of Utilities Power class A and B and common stock. Atlas has a dominant position through ownership of the major part of Utilities Power debentures.

WILL OPPOSE PLAN.

A common stockholders' protective committee of the Utilities Power and Light corporation intends to file an objection to the plan of the Atlas corporation for reorganization of the utility. Attorney Willard L. King said yesterday the objection will be filed in the United States District court before the time limit set by Federal Judge William H. Holly expires today.

Plan Broader I.C.C. Control of Accounting

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Chairman Wheeler [D., Mont.] disclosed today that the senate railroad finance committee is preparing legislation to broaden the powers of the interstate commerce commission over railroad accounting.

In one of a series of reports to the senate the committee cited activities of Price, Waterhouse & Co., New York accounting firm, in a 1934 audit of the bankrupt Missouri Pacific railroad as showing need for such legislation. The committee said in its report that the accountants had certified to the railroad stockholders a financial report that "departed from even minimum standards of correctness, accuracy, and truth."

Explains Accountant's Position.

George L. May, senior partner of the accounting firm, asserted in a statement at New York that the committee had proceeded on a "fundamental misconception."

The committee report said that the accounting firm had certified to the stockholders a trustee's report which listed as a special deposit $3,200,000 which had actually been spent and was not in possession of the company.

May said that in its certification the firm took specific exception to the correctness of the balance sheet and noted that the $3,200,000 was subject to litigation in connection with Missouri Pacific's so-called terminal shares contracts. The auditing firm, he contended, had no power to change the balance sheet, but only to express its opinion as to its correctness. It did this, May asserted, "in language which no fair-minded person could misunderstand."

Denies Fake Certification.

"Senator Wheeler says this certification is false," May declared. "This we flatly deny."

The committee acknowledged in its report that the accounting firm had called attention to litigation in connection with the $3,200,000, but contended this was an "apparently irrelevant note not attached by any symbol to the entry."

"There was no mention that the auditors had found only an empty bank account in place of a special deposit supposed to contain more than $3,000,000," the committee said. "There was no mention that all of this deposit had been scattered, that not one nickel of this fictitious deposit was in the bank."

The committee said that under the same date as the report to the stockholders the accountants supplied the trustees and a "few privileged insiders" a report giving all details of the "special deposit."

Questionable, Says Committee.

"The fact that the false report was the one that went to thousands of investors, while the true report was clcistered in a lower court in St. Louis and distributed only to a privileged few . . . makes the circumstances especially questionable," the committee reported.

Discovery of the absence of the money, the committee said, was made by the accounting firm. The subsequent report to stockholders, the committee added, became the basis for "erroneous data" in a number of financial and reference manuals.

In a statement accompanying the report Wheeler said the incident showed need for general supervision of public accounting practices as well as safeguards within the railroad field. He said the personnel of the bureau of accounts of the I. C. C. should be increased and that the I. C. C. should be given the same access to books of railroad subsidiaries and holding companies, banks, brokerage and investment banking firms, and accounting firms that it now has to the books of the railroads themselves.

Insull Utility Receiver Urges Immediate Dividend

Fresh impetus toward payment of a 4 per cent liquidating dividend to debenture holders of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., was given yesterday in a report filed in federal court by Harry A. Bigelow, trustee and receiver for the defunct company. The report said payment need not await determination of the exact amount of attorneys' and other fees having a prior claim on available funds. The new report, together with one submitted earlier in the week by Special Master Garfield Charles, was taken under advisement by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

COAL MEN START DRIVE TO AMEND CONTROL LAW

Operators Assert It Is Costly Failure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—Leading bituminous coal operators tonight announced a concerted drive for amendment of the bituminous coal act of 1937. They asserted that it had failed in its purposes.

J. D. A. Morrow, member of operators' group.

The operators announced the formation of a "committee for amendment of the coal act," with John A. Howe, vice president of the Traux-Traer Coal company of Chicago, as chairman. The committee immediately issued a statement condemning operations of the act under the national bituminous coal commission, and proposed amendments.

Then the commission issued a public statement defending its acts and the law. The statement was made in a letter from Commissioner C. E. Smith to J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, a member of the operators' committee. The other members of the commission concurred with Smith's statement, he said.

Statement of Operators.

The statement issued by the coal operators said in part:

"The primary objective of the coal act creating the national bituminous coal commission was to effectuate a stabilization of prices and at a price level that would permit the industry to recover and prosper. Nearly two years have now elapsed. The objective sought has not been attained despite the fullest coöperation of the industry and huge expenditures of time and money. On the contrary, the conditions within the industry have gone from bad to worse and are approaching a desperately serious crisis.

"Our experiences in the price fixing efforts to date lead us to conclude that it does not lie within the capacity of the present federal commission or any commission to evolve and maintain a price system that will be equitable to all concerned and be workable and afford profitable operation for the entire industry.

Seek Prompt Action.

"We are convinced that prompt action should be taken to modify the coal act in important particulars so as to permit a different approach to the goal of stabilization of the industry through a large measure of cooperative self-determination. If affirmative action by congress to revise the existing law is to be obtained at the present session the need is obvious for presenting the matter to congress and the country without further delay.

"Specifically we urge elimination of the provision that precludes any contract for the sale of coal for longer than 30 days ahead. This restriction stands as a barrier to stabilized operations at the mines.

"We urge elimination of the one cent tonnage tax which constitutes an extra three or four million dollar annual tax levy upon our industry.

Would Drop Code Plan.

"We believe that the present code plan which the act sets up ought to be eliminated and in its stead the voluntary sales agency provision of the law should be so amplified to permit wide and effective utilization of sales agencies under appropriate federal supervision calculated to afford ample protection against monopolistic practices and to safeguard both the mine owners, the miner workers, and the consumers."

Commissioner Smith wrote Morrow that he understood he was one of the leaders in a movement to amend the act and that he felt impelled to write him.

"There always has been a small group of producers who are basically opposed to the elimination of the unfair practices in the industry, and a good many of these have profited by these practices," the commissioner wrote. "It cannot be said that the present demoralization of coal prices can be generally attributed to the act. The total production of bituminous coal in 1938 was the lowest for any post-war year, with the exception of 1932 and 1933. The drop in coal production was associated with the sharp recession in general business, especially in the heavy industries.

Causes Price Decline.

"For years the capacity to produce coal has far exceeded demand. In such a buyers' market coal prices have always dropped and often quite precipitously.

"You declare that the commission has gotten exactly nowhere to date. This is a slightly inaccurate statement, to put it mildly."

Smith then said that all district boards, with the exception of those in districts 9 to 12, are now coördinating prices, rules, and regulations, and that the price establishing procedure will be completed without delay. He also said that the commission welcomes the establishment and functioning of sales agencies.

There are thirty-five prominent coal operators on the committee for amendment of the act. Another Chicagoan is on the committee. He is Hubert Howard, president of the Binkley Coal company of Chicago. The committee established headquarters here.

Mexico Makes New Oil Barter with Germany

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mexico was reported authoritatively today to have made a new barter deal with Germany. It involves the exchange of approximately $2,500,000 worth of oil from expropriated wells for machinery and equipment.

It was reported at the same time that Mexico had decided to make an additional barter agreement with Germany for machinery to go into a new 8,000,000 peso [$1,600,000] government owned newsprint factory. Negotiations for a $3,000,000 barter deal with Italy were said to have fallen through because Mexico wanted textiles and rayons in return for her oil. Informed sources said Italy balked on swapping rayon, on the ground she had a good cash market for the product.

One Deal Not Settled.

These sources said that the Mexican government had "signed and sealed" both deals with Germany but that the Germans had not finally accepted the one for the newsprint machinery.

Under the completed arrangement for obtaining the machinery and equipment, it was said Mexico would send to Germany 100,000 tons of gas oil. The deal still pending calls for the sale of 300,000 tons of crude oil to Germany.

Carlos Rekowski, an agent for Otto Behr & Co., has been here several weeks negotiating the deals on behalf of his firm.

This latest barter arrangement with Germany was independent of a deal Mexico completed with Germany early in December for the sale of approximately $17,000,000 worth of oil in 1939 in exchange for machinery.

Crude Oil Outlet Limited.

It was said the sale of gas oil to Germany and sales to other customers, along with domestic demands, virtually absorbed the entire output of this product. On the other hand, it was pointed out that Mexico still was far from finding an outlet for all her crude oil.

Discussions were proceeding meanwhile for settlement of the question of indemnities arising from the government's expropriation of the foreign oil industry last March 18. It appeared Mexico was striving for a quick settlement with the United States firms affected because the United States silver purchase act expires in June.

Mexicans believe that, if the United States congress is in a recalcitrant mood when renewal of the act comes up, it may act unfavorably, thereby drying up one of Mexico's strongest economic streams.

KRAFT-PHENIX WILL OPEN NEW BUILDING TODAY

One of Chicago's largest industrial developments in recent years, the new international headquarters building of the Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation, will be formally opened today.

The eight and ten story building, said to represent an investment in land and building of two million dollars, fronts east on Peshtigo court, extending from Grand avenue to Illinois street. It contains ten acres of floor space used for both offices and manufacturing.

Work on the new structure was started two years ago and completed in June, 1938. Since then machinery and equipment have been installed and are complete so far as major manufacturing operations are concerned. Other installations will follow as new production units are added.

The company was founded in 1904 by James L. Kraft, president, on a total capital of $60. Today the company is said to be the world's largest cheese company.

GERMANY'S BANK EASES TERMS TO AID EXPORTERS

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—One of the first actions of the Reichsbank under the presidency of Walther Funk has been to ease matters for German exporters and to help them carry out the precepts Chancellor Adolf Hitler preached last week. Henceforth bills of exchange and checks drawn in foreign currencies will be discounted at the rate obtaining in the country on whose currency they were drawn, irrespective of the rate existing in the country in which they are payable.

Thus a German merchant may now discount three months bills drawn in pounds sterling and payable in Turkey at the British rate of 2 per cent instead of at the Turkish rate of 4 per cent as hitherto. Special bank charges on foreign bills of exchange have been abolished.

Banks are urged to ensure that neither questions of financing nor of covering foreign exchange risks are allowed to interfere with the export business.

REPORT DECLINE IN DEPARTMENT STORES' SALES

Department store sales in the nation for the week ended Feb. 4 sank 6 per cent below the volume of the corresponding week in 1938, the federal reserve board revealed yesterday. In the preceding week the decline had been only 1 per cent.

The board also reported that 551 stores in 257 cities had submitted preliminary estimates for sales in January. The compiled figures indicated that total department store sales last month slipped 2 per cent from those in January, 1938. Stores in the Chicago district reported a decrease of only 1 per cent.

In the week ended Feb. 4 retail volume in the seventh district [Chicago area] fell 8.6 per cent from that in the same week in 1938. Chicago department stores had the largest loss, 18.6 per cent.

DUTCH CURRENCY DIPS; FLIGHT OF CAPITAL HINTED

Holland's currency developed weakness yesterday on foreign exchange transactions. Brokers expressed the belief that the weakness was the result of new withdrawals of foreign capital from Holland.

The final quotation on the guilder was 53.81 cents, or 0.09 cent below the preceding day. Other foreign currencies eased in relation to the dollar, the British pound losing ¼ cent and the French franc 0.00125 cent.

Foreign gold totaling $21,500,000 arrived in New York yesterday, bringing receipts in the last two days to $43,500,000. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the engagement of an additional $3,526,000 of gold in England for later shipment to the United States.

AM. TELEPHONE NET INCOME DIPS SHARPLY IN 1938

Western Union Has Loss for Year.

Net income of the American Telephone and Telegraph company amounted to $152,428,028 in 1938, compared with $179,834,816 in the preceding year, the big utility system reported yesterday.

Results from 1938 operations also were reported by the Western Union Telegraph company and the New England Telephone and Telegraph company. The latter concern is a principal subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph.

It was pointed out in the statement of American Telephone and Telegraph that the earnings figures were for the parent corporation only, and did not include earnings not passed on to the parent company in dividends. Such dividends, it was explained, form a major part of the system's income.

December Income Lower.

December net income of the parent corporation totaled $39,857,122, it was said. In the corresponding month of 1937 net income was $46,504,825. Net operating income for 1938 was $11,178,007, compared with $18,284,065 in the preceding year. For December net operating income was $1,349,069, against $1,108,127 in December, 1937.

Western Union Telegraph reported a net loss of $1,637,879 for 1938 in a preliminary statement. In 1937 the company had net earnings of $3,325,769. Gross revenues last year were $93,241,467 and total expenses were $90,738,969. The deficit for the year resulted from a $4,140,377 interest charge on the funded debt, which more than offset the operating profit.

New England Telephone Report.

Net earnings of New England Telephone and Telegraph totaled $6,948,780 in 1938, against $7,838,738 in the preceding year. December net income was $641,467, compared with $553,700 in the like month of 1937.

Cushman's Sons, Inc., New York bakery company, announced that operations in the year ended Dec. 31, 1938, resulted in net profit of $355,910, and compared with a net loss of $204,527 in the preceding year. For the three months ended Dec. 31 net income was $69,627, against $7,625 in the similar months of 1937.

LOAN FROM RFC IS NEGOTIATED BY PEA CANNERS

Negotiations with the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a loan of $7,500,000 to American pea canners have been successful, L. S. Beale, executive secretary of the Canned Pea Marketing coöperative, announced yesterday. The loan will be used to pay growers and to assist in orderly marketing of the abnormal 1938 pea crop, Beale said.

A separate organization, the Canned Foods Finance corporation, has been set up by the coöperative to service the loan and act as intermediary between the RFC and the individual borrowing canners, according to Beale.

"Under the provisions of the loan warehouse receipts on surplus stocks of canned peas will be accepted as security," Beale explained.

Peoples Gas Will Refund Notes by Making Bank Loan

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday authorized the Peoples Gas Light and Coke corporation to borrow $2,500,000 from Chicago banks. The money, together with other funds, will be used to repay $3,000,000 of the company's outstanding promissory notes.

Markets and Banks to Close Monday

Leading security and commodity exchanges and banks in the United States will be closed next Monday, Feb. 13, in observance of Lincoln's birthday anniversary. Foreign markets, the New Orleans cotton exchange, and live stock markets will remain open.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Stocks closed irregularly lower today on a turnover of around 444,638 shares. Modest support near the close pared early losses in many instances, and a sprinkling of leading issues even edged into the plus column. Final changes were mostly fractional. The late runup was ascribed to generally favorable business news, including better than expected earnings reports of leading corporations, improved retail trade, higher January shipments for the United States Steel corporation, and better automobile output. Interest was slack, nevertheless, with the ticket tape idle at intervals. Approach of the two day holiday was considered the reason.

Steels were among the leaders in the late upturn. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Republic converted early fractional losses into similar gains.

Motors behaved in similar fashion, both Chrysler and General Motors working fractionally higher.

Aviation issues were uniformly higher. Gains running to 1¾ points were made by Bendix, Curtiss-Wright common and "A," Boeing, Consolidated Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, and Glenn Martin.

Power and light shares hardened after early weakness. Many key stocks came back to Thursday's final quotations or pushed fractionally higher.

Carrier shares closed mixed in a narrow range. Interest in the group was small.

In the rubbers United States Rubber and Goodyear netted minor fractions. Oils were mostly fractionally lower. Leading coppers were mixed.

Volume honors for the day went to Commercial Solvents, which closed at 12½, up ¼ point.

New York Bonds.

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Bonds were dull and weak today. Only the treasury and utility groups gained.

Treasury 2½s of '45 ended 6-32 point higher, but the buying was too small in other advancing issues to indicate a real trend. This was true of the utilities, although Columbia Gas & Electric 5s of May 1939, were purchased so actively they advanced ⅜ to close at 101.

Foreign government issues were decidedly mixed. Latin American bonds generally advanced, European issues declining. Argentine 4s of '72 were bought briskly, advancing ⅝ to close at 78. Cuban 5½s of '45 rose 2⅛ to 70½.

The turnover was the smallest for a full session since Jan. 30, totaling $4,869,500 face value compared with $5,152,300 Thursday.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks edged upward yesterday in light trading. Only 21,000 shares were sold. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks closed at 10.99, compared with 10.95 Thursday.

Volume leaders were mostly higher. Middle West gained ¼ to 7½, and Commonwealth Edison advanced ⅛ to 27⅞. Marshall Field closed at 13⅞, up ¼. Central and South West Utilities rose ⅛ to 1⅝, and Chicago Yellow Cab closed an equal fraction higher at 8⅞.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were firm yesterday in dull trading, dealers reported. Shares of the Chicago Title and Trust company and the First National bank advanced $1. Stock of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company declined 50 cents.

BROKERS DEMAND FEE VIEWS OF UNDERWRITERS

Insurance Commission Fight Intensified.

The fight between insurance brokers and members of the Chicago Board of Underwriters over commissions on fire insurance written in Chicago and Cook county was intensified yesterday. Members of the board of underwriters are supervising agents for insurance companies. Many in this group have no direct contact with the public. Brokers are producers of business who contact the public.

W. J. Robbins, chairman of the acquisition cost committee of the Insurance Brokers' Association of Illinois, Inc., directed a letter to members of the underwriters' board demanding that they state their views on a proposed plan for establishing fire insurance commissions.

Means 5 Per Cent Cut.

Under the present system insurance brokers have been getting 15 per cent commissions for writing ordinary insurance risks, 20 per cent for intermediate risks, and 25 per cent for preferred risks. Under a proposal suggested by a committee of the underwriters' board working in collaboration with Ernest Palmer, state insurance superintendent, brokers would get 15 per cent for the ordinary risks and 20 per cent for preferred.

There is little business in intermediate risks and it is said that the proposed schedule would mean for all practical purposes a 5 per cent commission reduction for the brokers.

Three Classes of Members.

There are three classes of members of the underwriters' board. Class 1 consists of the downtown agents who contribute substantial sums for the maintenance of the board and its activities. Class 2 includes agents and others in the outlying districts. Class 3 brokers are those who may sell business for a number of companies. Many in this class are members of the insurance brokers' association.

Robbins' letter follows:

"As you probably know, all Class 2 and Class 3 members of the Chicago Board of Underwriters are opposed to the plan. [The plan proposed by the underwriters' committee.] In order that all the brokers may know how your particular office stands, will you please advise us in writing as to your opinion of the plan and also how you contemplate voting when the question comes up before the board.

Guide for Brokers.

"Your answer will be given to the brokers in order that they may know the extent of the friendliness of your office and can be governed in the future by your reply.

"In the absence of a reply we shall take it for granted that you are opposed to the best interests of the brokers and will vote for this plan."

Palmer sometime ago asked all insurance agents to submit information regarding the cost of acquiring insurance business. He has indicated that the acquisition costs have placed an undue burden on buyers of fire insurance. It was to meet Palmer's criticism that the committee of the underwriters' board suggested a new schedule of commissions. This plan aroused the ire of the brokers who believe that they are carrying the burden in commission reductions.

ATLAS BREWING REORGANIZATION PLAN APPROVED

H. M. Birsner Will Be President 5 Years.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday approved the "Birsner plan" for reorganization of the Atlas Brewing company. The Chicago concern has been in the process of reorganization under the bankruptcy laws since September 1, 1937, when a creditors' petition was filed.

Harry M. Birsner.

The plan was developed by Harry M. Birsner, Atlas brewmaster. Birsner was named trustee of the corporation shortly after the reorganization petition was filed. Under the approved plan he will become president and general manager for the next five years.

Assets Total $1,371,000.

The reorganizaion petition listed assets of $1,371,000. Liabilities were placed at $635,000, exclusive of 300,000 shares of $3 par value common stock. Claims against the company totaled $450,000 and, in addition, a $238,000 bond issue was in default.

The reorganization plan provides for payment in full to all bondholders and also to unsecured creditors whose claims are less than $500. Unsecured creditors with claims of more than $500 will receive five year 5 per cent debentures and voting trust certificates on the basis of one share of stock for each $15 of such claims.

Provides Voting Trust.

A voting trust of three members will be set up, and certificates for the entire outstanding common stock will be transferred to this trust. No dividends will be paid until all the new debentures and interest payments are paid.

The voting trustees, elected by holders of the trust certificates, are Benjamin S. Mesirow, representing bondholders; Robert Storkan, representing common stockholders, and Walter W. Hiss, representing unsecured creditors. These three, with Birsner and Elias Maier, an attorney representing the creditors, will constitute the new board of directors.

Birsner said yesterday that the reorganizaiton was accomplished without the aid of outside capital.

ADMIT GIANNINI PAYMENT AS SEC PROBE EVIDENCE

Stormy Dispute Causes Hearing Adjournment.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The securities commission ruled today after a stormy dispute that payments A. P. Giannini received from Bancitaly corporation in 1927, 1928, and 1929 were relevant to its present inquiry into the $200,000,000 Transamerica corporation.

O. John Rogge, SEC counsel, asserted he would show that Giannini had received more than 5 per cent of Bancitaly's "true profits" in those years, but before he could go further into the matter, the hearing was adjourned until Monday.

When Rogge first brought up Bancitaly's payments to Giannini, Henry Fitts, examiner, ruled that testimony regarding them had no place in the present hearing. Rogge then appealed to the full commission.

Transamerica's Predecessor.

Bancitaly was the predecessor corporation to Transamerica, headed by Giannini, which the commission has accused of making false and misleading statements in its registration statement. The present hearing is on the question whether trading in Transamerica's stock should be suspended on registered exchanges.

Verbal sparks started flying at today's session when James A. Bacigalupi, former president of Transamerica and the first witness, refused to answer questions about a conversation he had with Giannini eight years ago.

"I don't know my rights," he said, "but my personal differences with A. P. Giannini were all fought out eight years ago, and I don't know why I should be asked to rehash them."

Rogge Becomes Angry.

Fitts told Rogge he did not believe the conversation in question was relevant. Rogge, his voice mounting, replied, "This witness felt dividends were too high and it was on this point that he disagreed with Giannini."

Fitts commented that whatever Giannini said at that time "had no relation to his compensation in 1936 and 1937." [Giannini's compensation in 1936 and 1937 is one of the issues in the hearing.]

The SEC attorney leaned forward and said with exasperation, "I'm merely trying to bring out that Giannini's tendency was to pay excess dividends in order to keep his stockholders satisfied."

Stanley broke in sharply:

"We object to Mr. Rogge making public statements here that he's never going to prove."

At this, Rogge roared, "I am too going to prove it—this very afternoon—Giannini was entitled to $1,163,000 and not $5,212,000."

Rogge then stormed from the room to ask the full commission to rule on the question of relevancy.

U. S. STEEL CORP SHIPMENTS BEST SINCE LATE 1937

January Business Rises to 789,305 Tons.

Shipments of finished steel products by the United States Steel corporation subsidiaries in January were the largest for any month since October, 1937, the corporation reported yesterday. The total was 789,305 tons, an increase of 95,101 tons over December.

The October, 1937, total was 792,310 tons. January, 1938, shipments totaled 518,322 tons. In January, 1937, they were 1,149,918 tons and in January, 1936, the total was 721,414 tons.

It was indicated that the corporation's subsidiaries had a sharp increase in the last few days of January. The rate of shipments was about 52.1 per cent of capacity, although the average for the first four weeks of the month was 47 per cent.

Cause of Late Increase.

One explanation for the increase was that the corporation was completing all its shipments against contracts for steel products entered when prices were at low levels during the "price war" last year. Much automobile business was reported to have been put on the steel company books during that period.

The American Iron and Steel Institute reported yesterday that steel producers at the end of 1938 held stocks of ingots and semi-finished steel products 11 per cent larger than were held at the end of 1937.

Steel Scrap Holdings Fall.

Inventories of purchased steel scrap were reported to have fallen 35 per cent under those held at the end of 1937. However, pig iron stocks increased 13 per cent. Supplies of iron ore on the docks or at the blast furnaces were 17 per cent in excess of those so held at the end of 1937.

It was said that the increase in stocks of ingots and semi-finished steel was partly due to the replenishment of mill stocks that had been allowed to run down during a large part of the year when business was decreasing.

December Air Travel Far Above Volume Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The nation's air transport lines carried 89,921 revenue passengers in December, an increase of 55.45 per cent over December, 1937, the civil aeronautics authority reported today. December business, however, was far below November, 1938, when the air lines carried 103,507 revenue passengers.

A NEW SAFEGUARD.

Investors' Guide: A broker told me that the new debentures put out last month by the North American company have some special safety feature that protects holders. Is there anything to this, or is it just used as a selling point? I don't know enough about corporate financing to check up myself, so thought I'd ask your department.—B. T.

Answer: Your broker is right—the new North American debentures do contain a protective provision that has been used very little in debenture financing.

The provision is that the North American company cannot pledge any of its assets as collateral against other loans unless it pledges assets for the debentures on a proportionate basis.

This protection does not, of course, mean that North American debenture holders are assured of interest payments for the ten to twenty year lives of the debentures. The debentures are at present simply a direct obligation of the company and are not secured by any specific assets.

The protection does mean, however, that North American cannot, for example, pledge its choicest assets as collateral for bank loans, and leave the debenture holders looking for payment to a company whose prime resources have been taken over by banks to satisfy loans. Holders of debentures of some big utility empires of the heyday found themselves in just this predicament.

WHY THE DIFFERENCE?

Investors' Guide: Will you please explain to me why the bonds of Cuba sell at such varying prices, when all of them are direct obligations of the Cuban government? For example, the 5 per cent bonds due in 1944 are selling at par, but the 4½s of 1977 are selling for less than 60 cents on the dollar? I don't get it.—B. K. M.

Answer: The chief explanation for the difference in price of the Cuban bonds you mention is in the security behind the issues. The 5s of 1944 are secured by the assignment of 15 per cent of Cuba's customs receipts. These customs receipts have recently averaged nearly $30,000,000 a year, and the 15 per cent total is more than three times present interest and sinking fund requirements.

The lower priced bonds, the 4½s of 1977, are secured by a lien on certain internal taxes levied by the Cuban government, and also by a lien on the budget surplus, if any, after all government expenses and debt service. There has been no budget surplus in recent years and the internal tax sources are considered less dependable than the definite pledge of customs receipts, which have been stable recently.

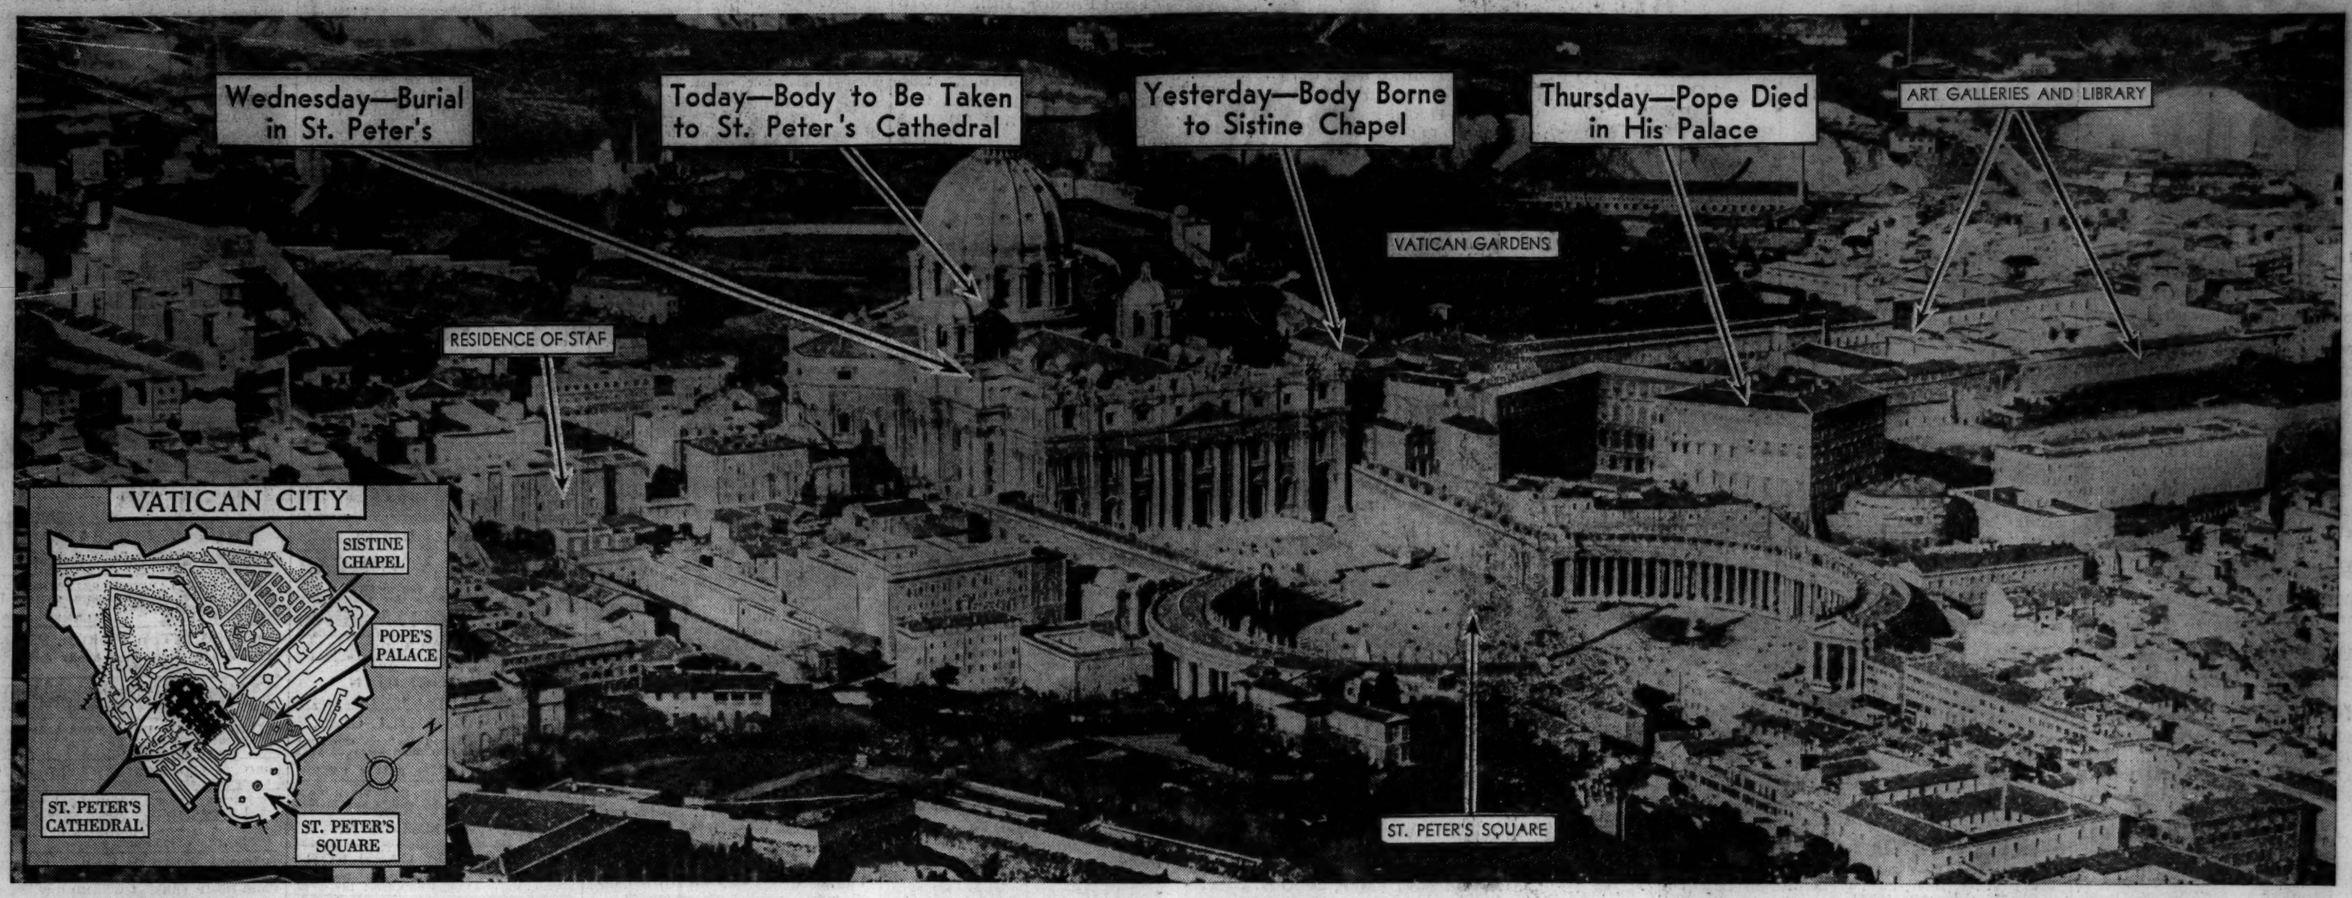
Pope's Remains Lie in State in Sistine Chapel—Church to Pay Last Respects in a Week of Ceremony



Most interesting places in Vatican City, seat of the head of the Roman Catholic church, and principal events of the ceremonial period following the death of Pope Pius XI. are shown in this panorama. The pontiff's death occurred early Friday morning (Thursday night, Chicago time, as indicated on the picture). The date of the opening of the election of a successor has not been set. Inset is a map of the tiny state over which the church monarchs rule.

The body of Pope Pius XI. on his deathbed in his private apartments yesterday. This morning the body will be taken to St. Peter's cathedral where public may pay homage. This picture was telephoned to London and radioed to New York.

The Vatican's Sistine chapel as it will appear when ready for cardinals to ballot on new pope. Frescoes in this room were done by Michelangelo. The body of Pope Pius XI. rested in state under the frescoes of the chapel yesterday.
